CAPTURED NEAR WHERE 4 DIED IN BLAZING CAR

Boys and Girls Slain by Shots and Clubs.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Two unkempt brothers, itinerant moonshiners, were being cross-questioned late tonight as suspects in the torch murders of two boys and two girls, whose bodies were found burned beyond recognition in their automobile after they had been beaten and shot to death on a lonely lovers' lane three miles south of the village of Willis.

The suspects, Lawrence Keene, 28 years old, and Paul, 29 years old, were arrested in the covered wagon in which they lived, a mile from the spot where Harvey Santure, a farmer, found the blazing car, with the four charred bodies inside it, at daybreak this morning. The victims are:

Vivian Gold, 15, Cleveland.

Anna May Harrison, 16, Cleveland.

Harry Lore, 16, Ypsilanti, a cousin of Miss Gold.

Proof of Terrific Fight.

Completion of an autopsy tonight at the pathological laboratory of the University of Michigan disclosed evidence of the desperate struggle that must have taken place between the four young people and their slayers.

Young Lore was shot twice with a .38 caliber weapon, one bullet passing through the jaw to the heart and the other through the chest to the spine. Each of the others gave evidence of having been clubbed to death. Analyses of the stomachs showed no traces of alcohol.

Followed By Another Car.

With this evidence before them the police were confident in their theory that the young people had been followed by assailants who attacked or attempted to attack the girls after stopping or coming upon their automobile. Because of the condition of the bodies Coroner Edwin C. Ganshorn was unable to determine whether the girls had been violated.

Tire marks in the gravel road indicated that the Wheatley car had been followed by another, both driving north, and that the pursuing car had passed the Wheatley machine, stopped suddenly in the sand, and turned around, thus blocking the other car.

In the ditch alongside the car, investigators found a girl's blood stained slipper. This and the other blood stains in the ditch established definitely, in the view of authorities, that the killings occurred outside the car and that the bodies were thrown into the seats, soaked with oil or gasoline, and then set afire.

Two Counties Join in Hunt.

Willis, the scene of the tragedy, is on the line between Washtenaw and Wayne counties. It is about 20 miles southeast of Ann Arbor and about 25 miles southwest of Detroit.

After the discovery of the bodies, the authorities of both counties joined in one of the most intensive manhunts ever staged in this section.

A posse came upon the Keene brothers as they were washing clothes in a tub, twelve hours after the crime. Both were staggering drunk. A can of mash was found above a smoldering fire.

Two shotguns and a quantity of softnosed .38 caliber revolver bullets similar to those found in the body of Lore by Dr. John Bruger, university pathologist, were found in the Keene wagon.

Found Cleaning a Club.

The younger was stripping bark from a club. The bark was taken to the pathological laboratory of the University of Michigan where autopsies were being performed on the bodies, to learn if it might disclose under the microscope any evidence that might connect the brothers with the crime. Samples of stains on the brothers' clothes and other articles in their wagon also were taken for chemical comparison with the blood found in the automobile.

The brothers were brought to the Washtenaw county jail here and tossed into cells to sleep off their liquor. A crowd gathered for a glimpse of the pair, waiting two hours until the brothers were shaken from their sleep, hurried into an automobile and driven to the scene of the crime.

The lonely scene, with the charred automobile dominating it, was lit by a dozen automobile headlights, and the brothers, unshaven and in dirty overalls, were set in the glare.

Questions were hurled at them by

KIDNAPED GARY GAMER RETURNS; NO RANSOM PAID

William [Cully] Flanigan, reputed head of the Gary handbook syndicate, who was kidnaped last Friday by three men as he was walking near his hotel, returned unharmed at 3:30 a. m. today.

Flanigan, for whom ransom ranging from $100,000 to $10,000 was demanded by his abductors, denied that one cent had been paid for his release. The Gary police, on learning of Flanigan's safe return, went immediately to the Hotel Gary, Flanigan's residence, and began questioning him about his experiences. Flanigan was released by his abductors at 16th and Roosevelt streets and caught a ride from there to the hotel.

J. Glenn Harris, attorney representing Mrs. Flanigan, had made several trips into the country in an effort to negotiate with the kidnapers, but reports yesterday were that difficulty was being experienced in raising the amount demanded for the gambler's release. Harris intimated that ransom might be paid even after Flanigan's return.

Flanigan is reported to have made a fortune out of the Gary handbooks. He recently combined the warring factions of the city into one syndicate, which was operated from headquarters near his home.

CLINGS ALL NIGHT TO A CUSHION IN STORM ON RIVER

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Unable to swim, Thomas O'Donnell, a Washington restaurateur, drifted safely ashore today after a night spent on an inflated cushion in the Potomac river while airplanes, submarines, and motor boats searched for him.

O'Donnell, with James F. Edwards, real estate broker, and a mechanic, was about four miles off Piney Point, Md., at the mouth of the river when their motor boat sprang a leak.

Leaving O'Donnell, the other two men attempted to swim ashore for aid, but Edwards, weighing 250 pounds, became exhausted. With the aid of his companion he finally landed. Both were badly fatigued and stung by sea nettles.

Farm hands spread the alarm O'Donnell was adrift in a sinking boat. Small craft put out into the river, and the naval proving ground sent out two planes, two submarines, and a revenue cutter.

While high winds churned the water O'Donnell clung to his cushion. Drifting into Chesapeake bay he could see the rescue craft in the distance. Just after daybreak changing currents carried him ashore. He crawled to a country store and telephoned word of his safety.

Chances Are That Ina Will Be Mad Today

Chief of Detectives John Norton went into action late on Monday when he received an anonymous letter. He called in an assistant, Lieut. Philip Carroll, and read him the epistle, as follows:

"If you want to prevent a murder, act quick. I need the help of your department. This murder can be averted if the police are on the job. The victim is to be taken for a ride through the influence of Ina Underwood, 3858 West End avenue. Strike that house between midnight and 1 a. m. and it will stop one crime and solve some others. Ask about the killings around Superior, Wis."

The detective chief suggested that the lieutenant strike and solve.

Decides to "Strike."

"We shall strike," replied Lieut. Carroll solemnly.

A few minutes passed, during which big automobiles loaded with big detectives were rushed through west side streets with sirens straining. The house at 3858 West End avenue was surrounded. Mrs. Ina Underwood, a comely divorcée, 28 years old, was arrested. So was Roland Kreyling, 30 years old, living at the same address with his bride of three weeks.

The prisoners were taken to the detective bureau. There, all through the night, they were questioned about murders, rides, burglaries, robberies, bootlegging, and Superior, Wis. Their ignorance of all these matters was convincing. At last Chief Norton questioned Mrs. Underwood about the note. As soon as it was read to her she laughed.

Key Rests in Winnetka.

"Go up to 554 Center avenue, Winnetka, and get Charles Fresnel," she said. "He has been worrying me for a long time to marry him."

So Bergts. Edward Waller and Edward Tyrrell moved on Winnetka yesterday and brought in Mr. Fresnel, who is 34 years old and a chauffeur, but of late has quit chauffeuring to perfect his new automatic carburetor, which he claims is a revolutionary invention. Still more recently he quit his mechanical inventions to seek a way to get back his watch.

"I have known Ina Underwood," he stated, "since she used to deal them off the arm in a Winnetka café. We were going to get married a few years ago, but I had to go to California before she could get a divorce. When I got back I gave her my watch to prove I loved her. But I haven't seen her or my watch since, so I tried to get even."

As he was being taken to a cell Mrs. Underwood started to leave, but Chief Norton stopped her.

"You are going to stay here for another night, too," he announced, "not because you did anything but because I want you to be real mad tomorrow morning when you testify about this inventor in court."

It was so done.

$60,000,000 in Pool to Help Closed Banks

Formation of a $60,000,000 pool of the frozen assets of closed state banks was announced last night by State Auditor Oscar Nelson. The pool will be made up almost entirely of real estate bonds and mortgages, both defaulted and undefaulted.

The purpose of the pool, Mr. Nelson announced, is to attempt to stabilize the Chicago real estate market and to combat the activities of unscrupulous lawyers and racketeer bond traders who, he declared, have been beating down the price of realty bonds, thereby impeding the orderly liquidation of closed banks.

Receivers Hold Meeting.

Steps for organization of the pool were taken at a meeting in the Palmer house of the receivers of the 62 state banks now being liquidated in Cook county. A motion for formation of the pool was presented by John A. Carroll, president of three south side banks and receiver for a fourth. It was adopted unanimously.

The state auditor announced that within the next few days he would name a committee of five or seven experts as managers of the pool, whose policy will be to either liquidate the bonds in orderly fashion or hold them for a better market, as conditions warrant.

It is possible, he added, that the pooled assets will be converted into a trust fund, on which certificates will be issued and sold to the public, the proceeds to be distributed pro rata to the depositors of the closed banks.

Dividends Seen Provided.

"If this plan can be worked out, we will not only have found the buyers who have been beating down the price of real estate bonds, but will also be able to provide dividends for bank depositors who need cash urgently," said Mr. Nelson.

Introduced by Mr. Nelson as the keynote speaker of the meeting, Mr. Carroll spared no epithets in his denunciation of lawyers and bond buyers who, he said, were snatching up sound real estate bonds at a fraction of their true worth.

"When a bond issue becomes defaulted, these people take every advantage to pluck it," he declared. "The building in question is considered legitimate prey. Everybody from the janitor to the rental agent takes a crack at it."

Cites Instance of Graft.

The banker recalled an instance in which the receiver of a building in default sent the bond holders a bill of $106 for the installation of a piece of plumbing equipment. One of the bond holders, he said, was a plumbing manufacturer, who declared he was marketing an identical piece of equipment for $5.

"The result of this illegitimate preying is that real estate bonds are being traded at a fraction of their worth," said Mr. Carroll. "Bondholders are being advised to default deliberately on interest payments, force a receivership, and then buy back the bonds at half their cost."

Having considered the bond situation, the receivers and their attorneys turned their guns on lawyers who, they charged, have been organizing pseudo-depositors' committees, thereby breeding distrust and discontent.

Savage Assails Lawyers.

Joseph Savage, school trustee and attorney for the receiver of the Citizens Trust and Savings bank, led the attack on the lawyers.

"I claim that these lawyers are guilty of the crime of accepting money under false pretences," said Mr. Savage. "They go about among depositors of closed banks, picking up $5 and $10 fees on the representation that they can protect the depositors' funds. We find them work-

HAVANA CUT OFF FROM REST OF ISLE BY REBELS

Planes Bomb Hills; Casualties Heavy.

BULLETIN.

HAVANA, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Gen. Francisco Peraza, reputed leader of the insurgent forces in Pinar del Rio province, was reported to have been killed along with many of his troops in serious fighting with government troops near Los Palacios tonight. The number of casualties was not immediately determined.

BY DEAN SANBORN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Aug. 11.—With all Cuba in the grip of a state of war, President Machado's troops tonight were rushing to various sections of the island in an intensive drive to put down the rapidly spreading revolutionary movement.

Havana itself is strangely quiet tonight. People have been warned to remain indoors. Bursting bombs and the crackling of rifle fire are heard in the distance as troops, loyal to the government, are either pursuing or attempting to rout hiding revolutionaries, who have rallied to the call of former President Mario G. Menocal to rise against President Machado.

Tonight's hush over Havana was frequently punctured by the rat-a-tat-tat of machine guns, indicating that rebel forces had again clashed with Cuban soldiers.

Rebels Cut Communications.

The revolutionary forces this afternoon severed communications with the capital, destroying telegraph and telephone lines from Vueltas, in Santa Clara province, to Havana as well as in other sections of the island, thus isolating the district of Havana and hindering Gen. Alberto Herrera, commander-in-chief of the army, from effectively dispatching detachments against the rebels.

Gen. Herrera tonight announced that the center of the revolution is now in Santa Clara province, where frequent encounters took place this afternoon and tonight. At a late hour tonight couriers reported that an unknown number of rebels had been slain by the army in Vueltas, already the scene of several skirmishes and where rebels earlier in the day had set fire to public buildings, including army headquarters, the city hall, and postoffice.

Before communications were cut forces under the command of Col. Emiliano Amiel had located and opened fire on a large body of rebels near the city of Santa Clara. Six rebels were reported to have been killed in the fighting. Another report said 300 revolutionaries had invaded the city of Santa Clara, killing 30 soldiers and taking 25 prisoners before retiring before army reinforcements.

Flee into Wooded Hills.

Another detachment of soldiers clashed with a group of sixty revolutionaries near Ranchuelpa, Santa Clara province, this afternoon. After several of the rebels fell dead the rest fled to the woods with the soldiery close on their heels. Troops also met another revolutionary group at Las Ovas in Pinar del Rio province. The rebels took flight into the mountains and army planes have been ordered to bomb the hills at daybreak.

Two squadrons of army planes, assisted by infantry from San Cristobal, Pinar del Rio, attacked several hundred rebels hiding in the range of mountains, known as Lomas del Toro, at dawn today. The troops searched the hills for the enemy while aviators dropped several tons of high explosives from the air. Casualties among the rebels are believed to have been heavy.

Revolt "Army" Swelling.

The revolutionary "army" is reported to be swelling in numbers. From the city of Pinar del Rio it was learned that former Congressman Manuel Herryman, a close political ally of former President Menocal, evaded government troops and has joined the revolutionists, taking a number of followers with him. A large group of rebels also took up arms against the government at Guia de Melena, Havana province. They are under the command of former Gov. Celistino Baiman.

All Cuba was put under martial law at 1 o'clock this morning after President Machado had received reports of night fighting between the opposing forces. Twenty rebels were reported Need "Semi-Durables"? Now's a Good Time to Shop for Them!

The economists have a word for it. When they want to talk about suits and overcoats and shoes and hats, instead of calling these articles by their right names they refer to them as the "semi-durables." How durable is a semi-durable? That's what a lot of people have been trying to find out the past two years. All at once in the fall of 1929 the demand for suits and overcoats and shoes and hats fell off. The inevitable happened. Lack of demand caused a gradual decline in prices. In recent months the clothing dollar has acquired the influence that $2.49 had at the peak in 1919. And compared with a year ago, clothing prices today are lower by 12 per cent.

Meanwhile, something has been happening. The stores which advertised suits, haberdashery, and shoes during July report that they did a surprising volume of business. Leading clothing manufacturers in Chicago now have more employes at work than at this time a year ago. Orders for shoes at wholesale during May this year were 16.6 per cent larger than in the same month of last year. The consumption of wool during the past three months was 31.6 larger than in the same period last year. Silk consumption by mills is up 14.9 per cent.

Such increased activity is not likely to result in lower clothing prices to the consumer. Now, therefore, is a good time to buy, while clothing can be purchased at such attractive levels.

to have been killed in pitched battles close to Havana and in the provinces of Pinar del Rio, Matanzas, and Santa Clara last night alone. Fifteen rebels were reported killed in earlier clashes yesterday.

First reports of a revolutionary outbreak in Santa Clara province reached the presidential palace shortly after 11 o'clock last night, revealing an uprising at Vueltas. Twelve rebels were killed in the fighting on the outskirts of the city and five loyal soldiers were wounded.

Four Slain in Clash.

At the same hour army forces encountered a large group of rebels close to the city of San Nicolas, near Guines, in Havana province, about 30 miles from the capital. The rebels fled into hiding places in the forest after four were killed and six taken prisoner by troops under Col. Jose Valera, mayor of San Nicolas.

Four rebels were killed and six captured by forces under Capt. Jorge shortly after midnight as revolutionists attempted an assault in the outskirts of Guanabacoa, across the Havana harbor. The rebels fled with the soldiers at their heels and were finally surrounded at a farm known as the "Algeria," between Guanabacoa and San Miquel del Padron, where a second clash took place at 2 a. m. The list of casualties in this encounter is not available.

Three insurgent groups are reported massed in Santa Clara province. Army forces have been mobilized in all sections of the province. The revolutionists are under the command of Col. Carlos Mendieta, who left Havana last night in disguise.

Menocal Tricks Army.

Rebel forces entered the town of La Esperanza, Pinar del Rio, this morning, and were immediately forced to retreat several miles to the south by pursuing troops. Latest dispatches indicate that the rebels and loyal troops would meet in battle tonight.

Latest official reports indicated that former President Menocal and his staff of rebel leaders are aboard Menocal's yacht Deamuki, "somewhere off" of the north coast of Oriente, possibly on their way to Chaparea. The reports add that Menocal was never aboard the yacht Coral, which was captured by loyal forces on Sunday off Santa Luca, Pinar del Rio.

It was reported that Menocal's presence off Oriente is a strategical move to mislead the government into rushing the bulk of its army to Pinar del Rio (farthest western section of the island), while he and his staff gain time by sailing in the opposite direction for Oriente (farthest eastern province of the island), where Menocal has a strong following, thus enabling him to make a safe landing and organize a rebellion there.

Bomb Street Car; Four Hurt.

Four persons were seriously injured when a bomb was exploded inside a street car operated by strikebreakers as the car passed close to the National university campus here late last night. Police investigators stated the bomb was thrown from a passing taxicab, whose occupants fled.

Two large dynamite bombs were confiscated by police early today when an attempt to blow up the electric power plant at Rincon del Melones, Havana province, was averted by the army.

According to reports, military aviators are suspected of leaning strongly towards the revolutionary movement. Several squadrons of planes were sent to bomb rebel vessels today, but it is said that the flyers merely dropped their projectiles into the sea, purposely missing their marks.

MRS. ROOSEVELT ESCAPES DEATH IN SINKING PLANE

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Aug. 11.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr., wife of the governor of Porto Rico, and five government officials narrowly escaped death last night when a Pan-American airways plane, chartered for a special trip by George W. Crouse of Syracuse, N. Y., hit an obstruction while landing in Ponce harbor and sank within a few minutes. All the passengers were saved.

The plane on landing hit what is believed to have been a submerged rock. The hull was ripped open. The pilot tried to take the air again, but the ship filled rapidly with water and disabled the engine. The overhead hatchway in the cabin was opened and Mrs. Roosevelt put on the overhead deck. The other passengers followed. Boats took them off the plane.

Mortgage Debt Holiday O. K.'d by Cuban House

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

HAVANA, Aug. 11.—A two-year mortgage moratorium for all Cuban debtors was approved yesterday by the house of representatives whereby no foreclosure proceedings can be instituted, nor continued. The legislation, it is thought, will pass the upper house without discussion and become a law.

LINDBERGHS AT NOME; BATTLE FOG FOR HOURS

Next Hop to Japan Will Be Over Bering Sea.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 11.—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived here at 4:25 p. m. [Chicago daylight saving time] today from Shismaref bay, where they had taken shelter at 5 a. m. after encountering blinding fog and clouds on their 400 mile flight from Point Barrow.

Their plane circled over the Nome water front several times and then headed for Safety bay, 21 miles east of Nome, where it was safely tied up.

Fog Forces Lindys Down.

The Lindberghs left Point Barrow at 11:53 o'clock last night after a stay of three days and two nights because of bad weather. Fogs had lifted when they took off at Point Barrow and the flyers expected to make Nome in one hop.

An hour after they had been in the air, Nome wireless stations heard Mrs. Lindbergh report that "All's O. K.," and the gasoline supply ship Northland reported having seen the plane fly overhead at 1:04 a. m.

Mrs. Lindbergh radioed a request for bonfires and flares to assist them in landing here and all preparations for their arrival had been completed when word was received that they had landed at Shismaref bay, 100 miles away.

Hop Over Sea Ahead.

A large crowd of Nome residents, who had arisen in the cold hours of the early morning to greet the Lindberghs, were disappointed and returned home when Col. Lindbergh radioed ahead that he would not leave Shismaref bay until the fog blanket lifted.

The heavy fog which the Lindberghs encountered early this morning was the second to trouble them on their Alaska trip. The first was while flying from Aklavik on Saturday. They ran into the fog bank just east of Point Barrow, but Col. Lindbergh flew his plane around it and found clear weather for landing on the first stop in Alaska.

The next leg of the flight to Japan will be from Nome to Karaginsk, eastern Siberia, a distance of 1,000 miles across the Bering sea.

DRIFT ON OCEAN 36 HOURS.

New York, Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Capt. Lisandro Garay, Honduran aviator, who took off Sunday afternoon in an atmosphere mystery from Floyd Bennett field on a nonstop flight to Tegucigalpa, Honduras, was rescued from the Atlantic today twenty miles off Cape Lookout, on the coast of North Carolina, south of Cape Hatteras.

The flyer, exhausted and clinging to his badly damaged plane, was picked up by the steamship Biboco, according to radio messages received by coast guard stations.

As soon as he was able to talk the Honduran said he had been forced down Sunday night, a few hours after leaving Brooklyn, and had clung to his ship thirty-six hours until rescued at about 10 o'clock this morning.

May Have Had Companions.

Although it was thought that Capt. Garay might have been accompanied by two fellow countrymen on his flight, no mention was made of other flyers in first dispatches received here.

The plane arrived at Floyd Bennett field from Wilmington, Del., Sunday with Bert Acosta accompanying Capt. Garay and several Hondurans. They announced that they were merely going to test the ship and, consequently, it attracted no particular attention as it taxied out on to the field after being loaded with 360 gallons of fuel.

At the far end of the field Acosta is said to have dropped from the cabin and driven away in a taxi waiting there for him, and Capt. Garay, accompanied by his fellow countrymen, took to the air.

The ship failed to return as expected, but the growing concern for the flyers' safety was dispelled yesterday when friends came forward with the assurance that it was Capt. Garay's intention to keep going to Tegucigalpa if he got safely aloft.

A Story of Intrigue.

From Julio Cesar Ville, president of the Comite Pro-Aviacone Hondurena, Consul General Parades and others came the involved story leading up to the takeoff.

After the money had been raised in Honduras for the plane, Capt. Garay was sent to this country to buy it and fly back nonstop for the glory of Honduran aviation. There were various delays, however, many of them due to political intrigue, it was hinted, and before Capt. Garay was ready for his nonstop flight revolution broke out in his homeland.

The ministry of war promptly ordered him to fit up his ship as a military plane and proceed to Honduras, nonstop or otherwise, but promptly.

Flyer Disobeys Orders.

Capt. Garay did not fly to take part in the campaign against the rebels, and when the revolution ended the government took action against him. He was notified that he was under charges of disobedience to orders in Honduras and the legation in Washington asked that the captain be grounded here.

This was done. Hence the subterfuge in getting off Sunday.

Many Slain in Battle as Cuban Revolt Spreads

The revolution in Cuba last night was centered in Santa Clara province, according to an announcement by President Machado's government. Various clashes were reported, with many slain, particularly in the provinces of Havana, Pinar del Rio, Matanzas, and Santa Clara. Troops have been mobilized and dispatched to the scenes of uprisings. Rebel forces last night cut communications between Havana and Vueltas, practically isolating the capital from the rest of the island.

FEAR CRAMER DEAD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Aug. 11.—Seaplanes and ships today continued to hunt for Parker Cramer, Chicago aviator, and his radio operator and mechanic, Oliver Pacquette, who disappeared while flying from the Shetland islands to Norway last Sunday. Little hope was held out, however, that the airmen would be found alive. It is believed they had perished in the storm whipped seas.

If Cramer was forced down near some fishing vessel, without a radio, there is a small chance that he has been rescued, and some days may pass before anything is heard from him. Another chance is that he may have descended near one of the small islands along the coast of Norway, from which he has been unable to communicate with the mainland.

Herndon Is Quizzed Again.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, Aug. 11.—Hugh Herndon was further questioned by the procurator for two hours today regarding photographs of Japanese forts he is alleged to have unlawfully taken while on an unsuccessful attempt to fly around the world in record-breaking time.

The films in question were shown on a moving picture screen before the procurator today, and, according to evening newspapers, they see a contradiction between what Herndon and Pangborn told them of the way the pictures were taken and the high quality of the pictures of the fortified areas. The procurator intends to examine the barograph of the flyers' plane to determine the height at which the photographs were taken.

SENTENCED FOR P. O. FRAUD.

Charles Newton, 47 years old, who gave his address as the Y. M. C. A. hotel, yesterday was sentenced to serve 6 months in the county jail by Judge John J. Rooney in the Felony court when he pleaded guilty to having accepted $50 at the general delivery window at the postoffice under the pretense of being Arthur Morton of Dwight, Ill.

ing not alone in the communities in which they might claim a legitimate interest but in every community all over town."

"They can do nothing for the depositors," he declared. "The groups they speak for are not representative depositors' committees and hence can command no hearing from the receiver. The law specifically provides that no committee of depositors has any right to interfere with the liquidation of a bank as conducted by the receiver through the courts."

A suggestion for the elimination of these lawyers was advanced by Attorney Adrian L. Hoover of the firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Green and Martin. The organizers of the protective committtees were able to operate only because of the ignorance of depositors on banking laws and banking practices, he said.

Would Educate Depositors.

"The whole situation would be vastly improved if every depositor was fully acquainted with the fact that the receivers have only one object—the liquidation of the bank's assets for the best interest of the depositors," Mr. Hoover said. "I move for the organization of a publicity committee to acquaint depositors with the exact condition of their banks and advise them of every step taken in disposal of the assets."

The motion was adopted and Mr. Nelson announced he would name a committee this week. In connection with publicity Thomas M. Samuels of Decatur, personal attorney for the state auditor, declared that irresponsible statements drawn up by attorneys for some of the committees were being accorded extensive space in certain newspapers.

"If a dozen surgeons were performing a delicate operation in this room and I wanted a news report on the operation, I would consult an expert to be assured the accuracy of my report," he said. "So also in the present banking situation I would urge upon the reporters to make experts their news sources. If any opinion is sought on the capabilities of the state auditor, go to any one of a dozen of the big bankers of Chicago."

Assails Receiver Appointments.

Attorney Daniel Silbert of the law firm of Jacobson, Merrick, Nierman & Solbert, counsel for the depositors' committee of the Sheridan Trust and Savings bank, delivered to the newspapers yesterday copies of an eight page resolution charging that the auditor's appointments of receivers and attorneys are dictated by political considerations and demanding they be superseded by "some competent and experienced organizaiion to act as general receiver of all closed banks."

The resolution further asks that the attorney general and his staff act as counsel for the general receiver; that the chief justices of the Circuit and Superior courts assign all bank receivership litigation to one judge and chancery matters to one master; that the courts authorize receivers to immediately advance to depositors who owe no money to the bank a sum in cash equivalent to the depositor's proportion of the cash on hand; and that an investigation be made not only of the conduct of officers of closed banks but also of the state auditor and his staff with a view of impeachment.

Former Chicago Flyer Killed in Canadian Crash

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 11.—John C. Webster, 30, who was born in Chicago and was one of Canada's crack young aviators, died today of injuries received last night when his plane stalled over Montreal's airport at St. Hubert, eleven miles from the city.

Webster acquired international fame this year as sole overseas entrant in the King's cup classic in England, 1,000 mile aerial race around England. He finished 13th in that event.

JOBS FOR 12,000 NOW IN SIGHT ON NEW POSTOFFICE

Work to Start as Soon as Contract Is Let.

Good news radiated from the office of the John Griffiths & Son Construction company at 225 North La Salle street. This company was low bidder on the new postoffice. If the treasury department awards the contract to the Griffiths company that concern says that jobs for from 12,000 to 14,000 men will be in sight, and it was said that most of them might be on the pay roll starting the caisson work on Chicago's new postoffice in less than two weeks. In all between $6,000,000 to $7,000,000 will go into the hands of Chicago workmen, laborers, mechanics, truck drivers and all sorts of odd job men.

The project has been under discussion for at least a decade and it now appears to be within sight. There are a few details to be worked out before the contract is signed. The Griffiths company announced itself ready to start digging within twenty-four hours after the awarding of the contract. There is a possibility, it was learned, that the government might find it necessary to call for new bids on a technicality that would delay the undertaking at least two months, but the optimistic word was that the government and the Griffiths company could push aside the minor obstacles.

The Griffiths concern has been maintaining its basic organization for more than a year to be in readiness for the postoffice job in the event it was low bidder. Foremen and superintendents have been receiving full pay during the time of little construction work and are said to know where to reach the best mechanics in each line on a moment's notice. Other construction companies were said to have been doing the same thing in the hopes of landing the big postoffice contract. Grace & Hutchinson, however, were low bidders by $600,000 less than Paschen Bros. and all that remains is a slight juggling of the figures to come within the limit of $15,500,000 for the complete job set by the government.

The Griffiths bid for a standard buff limestone building was $13,606,970. As announced yesterday, that contemplates the employment of 1,500 men on the stone work and an average of 3,500 on the superstructure, all receiving the prevailing union scale.

Work Also for Outsiders.

Of the material that is to go into the building a large portion of the cut will go to labor outside this city limits, working in the stone quarries, mill cities, foundries and brick yards that will be beneficiaries. Later the building and fixture employés will benefit.

The Griffiths bid is exclusive of the installation of the mail handling equipment and of the elevators. Low bid for the mail equipment was $1,-[illegible], and the Westinghouse Electric Elevator company of Chicago was low bidder at $739,500—both bids meaning wages and full dinner pails for hundreds of other workers.

The Griffiths company estimated that the construction work would take more than two years. Two years of good time for thousands of families, they said.

THIRD TRANSFUSION OF BLOOD IS GIVEN TO MRS. CALDWELL

A third blood transfusion was given last evening to Mrs. Lillian Caldwell, wife of H. Wallace Caldwell, member of the board of education, who is ill of agranulocytosis in the Blodgett Memorial hospital at Grand Rapids, Mich.

The rare disease destroys the white corpuscles of the blood. Blood for the transfusion last night was furnished by Mrs. Caldwell's brother-in-law, Leslie Arnett, 520 Aldine street. The previous transfusion was from the veins of another brother-in-law, Frank Caldwell.

Following the operation, it was said that Mrs. Caldwell's condition showed improvement. She is being treated by Dr. Walter Theobald, 307 North Michigan avenue.

REPORT BRITISH LINER IN TROUBLE IN THE PACIFIC

LONDON, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Lloyd's Shipping agency today reported that the British motor vessel Japanese Prince, bound for Kobe from American ports, was suffering from engine trouble in the Pacific in latitude 35.34 north and longitude 151.25 east. The motor vessel Chinese Prince was reported going to her assistance.

New York agents of the Japanese Prince of the Prince line said that reports from the ship indicated that only one of her two engines was giving difficulty and that the ship was proceeding at half speed to port.

The Japanese Prince is 2,856 registered tons. She sailed from Baltimore June 26; touched at New Orleans, and sailed from Los Angeles July 27.

YEAR BOAT WITH 25 ABOARD LOST OFF NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Looking for the 55-foot cruising cat-boat Diane, which left Coney Island today noon with ten young couples and a crew of six aboard for a cruise to Atlantic Highlands, became acute when other coast guard cutters and boat launches of the marine police had been unable to find any trace of the craft in the lower bay.

When the group departed they had expected to return within five or six hours, but late tonight they had not been heard from. Coast guardsmen and the 75 horse power auxiliary gasoline engine of the craft may have been disabled and that it may have been driven out to sea by the strong easterly winds.

A wireless alarm was sent out by the coast guard to its vessels at sea and to other craft to be on the lookout for the missing boat on the chance that it may have been blown beyond Sandy Hook.

WILMETTE RIDE VICTIM FOUND TO HAVE RECORD

Reveal His Past with Finger Prints.

Adolph J. Dumont, wealthy and supposedly respectable real estate man of Wilmette who died yesterday at the Evanston hospital of a bullet wound inflicted Monday night when he resisted the attempt of three men to take him for a "ride," had a police record extending back to 1903, comparison of his finger prints at the detective bureau disclosed last night.

A. J. DUMONT.

He was arrested first in that year for larceny and sentenced to the Pontiac reformatory, where he served three years before being paroled. Records showed that he had been arrested some fifteen times after that as a pickpocket or burglar, and was fined several times or served short terms in the Bridewell. His last arrest took place in 1918.

Daughter in Europe.

Police were told that since that time he had accumulated considerable money, in stock market operations according to some reports, and by large scale bootlegging, according to others. His daughter is now touring Europe, they were told.

One theory for the shooting was that the men who seized him were kidnapers, intending to hold him for ransom, another was that the shooting was an incident in a gamblers' war, although his wife and friends asserted vigorously that he was not the owner of two reputed gambling houses, as police had been told.

Fails to Explain Attack.

Dumont before he died declared that he was ignorant of any motive that might explain the assault, unless it was robbery. He said he was in the habit of carrying large sums of money. However, the men who attacked him did not take $600 and a diamond studded wrist watch that he was wearing when the shooting occured.

Dumont was shot by one of the men who dragged him from his car at Main street and Wilmete avenue, Wilmette. The bullet splintered the bone in his left arm and he suffered loss of blood which resulted in his death.

HIGH COURT JUSTICE BUTLER DEFENDANT IN $2,737,468 SUIT

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 11. — (AP) — Pierce Butler of St. Paul, associate justice of the United States Supreme court, today was named defendant in a suit for $2,737,468 filed here on behalf of Mrs. Louise Margareta Fletcher of Goldfield, Nev.

PIERCE BUTLER.

She contends that she is the illegitimate daughter of the late John Butler, wealthy St. Paul contractor, who was a brother of the jurist. She alleged that Justice Butler used "undue influence" in persuading John Butler to ignore her in his will.

John Butler, who died in 1926, left an estate appraised at $2,731,773. His widow, Margaret Butler, has since died. The plaintiff claims the entire estate, asserting she is Butler's sole issue. The will bequeaths his property to his brothers and their families, with provision for his widow.

Mrs. Fletcher has attempted previous actions without success. She alleges that she is the daughter of John Butler and Margaret McGrann and that she was born at Superior, Wis., in January, 1890. Justice Butler is an administrator of the estate.

SHREWD POLICE BEAT PROFESSOR IN DUEL OF WITS

Embezzler Who Talks in 12 Languages Seized.

Prof. Edward Jordan Andell's tricks with red hair and mustachioe failed to fool some smart St. Louis detectives, who countered his disguise plot by representing themselves as plumbers, steamfitters, and health department men, and he is now safely lodged behind bars in the detective bureau after an airplane trip from the Missouri metropolis.

Andell, who is 41 years old and formerly lived at 6438 North Mozart street, is charged with embezzling $35,000 from Montgomery Ward & Co., by whom he was employed as assistant to Vice President H. E. Hughes. He speaks twelve languages and is said to have held a chair in the modern varieties of speech at the University of Tübingen in Germany.

Enters U. S. Without Passport.

In 1915, he has admitted, he came to the United States without the formality of a passport, sneaking in through the Mexican border. He claims that he rose from a clerkship at $35 a week to his position of responsibility through honest effort, and that his stealing, which he has confessed, began only a year ago.

The police are convinced that the one time professor is an incurable romanticist.

"I took the money," he said, "because I had a young wife and she liked to spend more than I made. But leave her out of it. She is in California and safe, no matter what happens to me."

Stocks Up for Travel.

About July 15, when auditors for the company came close to his trail of dishonesty, Prof. Andell made his preparations to decamp. He toured through the State street department stores, where he had charge accounts, and purchased goods to the value of $5,000 or more, it is said.

Included were a vast quantity of hatchets, saws, tarpaulins, fishing and hunting equipment, canned goods and other provisions and various suits of clothing suitable for an outdoor life either in the tropics or in the great north woods. These purchases he shipped to himself at Joliet under an assumed name. They filled seven trunks, six crates and two Gladstone bags.

Then the professor disappeared. It is now disclosed that he went to Milwaukee, to Memphis and to New Orleans before settling briefly in St. Louis.

Hair and Mustache Changed.

When he left Chicago his hair and his mustache were black. When he stopped in a house in one of the poorer quarters of St. Louis the hair and whiskers were bright red, and in place of the dapper clothing of a mail order house executive he wore a $10 suit and a battered cap.

He journeyed back to Joliet and reconsigned his camping goods to his new address. From this incident came his capture. An alert station agent who had seen his picture with a "wanted" mark under it notified the authorities and the St. Louis police, accompanied by Pinkerton detectives, went to talk things over with him. He looked so little like Prof. Andell that they were at first deceived.

Then the shrewd detectives played their game. One with a hammer went in and said he was a plumber. Another donned overalls and went to the fugitive's house as a counterfeit steamfitter. A third claimed he had to look over the job and see that the workmen had complied with health department rules. Then the trio conferred, decided they had pierced the professor's disguise, and arrested him.

Plans Trip to Sea.

They learned later that he had bought a power cruiser and was going down to the sea and along the South American coast in it. It was full of guns. On the professor's person were three diamonds, valued at $10,000, and $6,800 in money. He admitted the charge against him, waived extradition and accompanied Lieut. Leo Carr of the detective bureau back to Chicago in an airplane yesterday.

Huge Brewery Is Seized in Raid in Lake County

A brewery large enough to turn out 2,500 gallons of beer a week was seized yesterday near Sullivan lake in Lake county by raiders led by Sheriff Lester Tiffany. It was housed in a barn on the Bredfeld estate, which is about six miles east of McHenry. Two alleged employés, William Hanrahan, 31 years old, 3225 West 22d street, and James Harris, 30 years old, 2311 West 22d street, were arrested. A warrant for the alleged owner, Joseph Murdis, has been issued by Justice of the Peace Henry F. Wallenweis.

Quarrel About Blonds, So She Leaps from Auto

Angered during a quarrel with her escort, Miss Bella Ritchie, 25 years old, of 4875 Magnolia avenue, a barber, leaped from a moving automobile in Glencoe last night. At the Evanston hospital, where she was taken, it was said she might die. Evanston police arrested her escort, George Wright, 33 years old, a tailor, and later turned him over to Glencoe police. Wright, who gave his address as 214 West Washington street, told police that he and Miss Ritchie were quarreling over the merits of blonds and that in a fit of anger she jumped from his car.

QUIZ 2 SUSPECTS IN MICHIGAN'S AUTO MASSACRE

Two Couples Slain and Cremated in Auto.

Prosecutor Albert J. Rapp of Washtenaw county and Assistant Prosecutors Miles N. Culehan and Oren E. Johnson of Wayne county. The brothers, still stupid with liquor, muttered unintelligible answers.

The suspects were returned to the jail, where the grilling was resumed. Prosecutors hoped to wring a confession from the brothers by continuing the questioning through the night.

The brothers just before midnight began to talk more freely. They explained bloodstains on their clothing by saying they had recently fought with each other.

The young people left the home of Bert Lore, Ypsilanti carpenter and father of Harry, at 7:45 o'clock last night to go a movie in Wheatley's car. They were last seen by friends at about 8:30 o'clock. A dairyman said he saw them enter a Ypsilanti movie. Before that they had stopped at the De Molay hall, where the boys expected to attend a meeting, but rejoined the girls when they found it had been postponed.

It developed tonight that the cashier and two ushers at the theater in Ypsilanti, all of whom knew Lore and Wheatley, declared positively that the party had not visited the movie. Officials pressed their efforts to determine where the four spent the evening and early morning.

The girls had been staying at the Lore home since last Saturday, when they came from Cleveland with Vivian's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Gold. Mrs. Gold is a sister of Mrs. Lore. Wheatley is the son of Harry Wheatley, tenant on a farm a mile east of Denton.

Boys Were Classmates.

The boys were classmates at Ypsilanti High school, which they left in their junior year, two years ago. Lore had been working at a dairy and Wheatley on his father's farm. Anna May was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Harrison and accompanied Vivian on the visit to her aunt over the protest of her parents.

Officials are unable to account for the activities of the party from the time they left the movie until the bodies were found seven hours later.

It was pointed out that the young people may have been slain shortly after leaving the theater and that the burning occurred as an afterthought on the part of the slayer or slayers in an attempt to conceal the crime. Such a thought might have come to the Keenes, the police said, since they had been questioned several times previously on suspicion of molesting children.

A watch found near the scene had stopped at 5:06. Several farmers in the vicinity heard the roar of a motor car shortly before the flames were seen.

The lack of a car near the Keene's is one flaw in the case against them, officials said, but they held a car might have been stolen and returned.

Blood Proof of Battle.

Evidences of a struggle were found in the ditch beside the car, and there were bloodstains on the running board, the front bumper, and a fender, as well as blood under the car. The car and bodies were saturated with gasoline. Three bodies were found in the rear seat and that of Wheatley at the wheel of the car.

The first theory offered by Deputy Sheriff Archie Frazer of Wayne county was that the four were slain by "petting party" bandits. He added no report of this type of banditry had been made in six weeks. Assistant Prosecutor William C. Buckingham, who convicted several members of a "petting party" bandit gang, said he was positive such bands had been broken up.

The last case of "petting party" banditry in this region occurred April 19, five miles from the scene of today's killing. Donald Bissell of Ypsilanti and a girl companion were held up, the girl snatched from her escort and attacked. Two Negroes now are held in the county jail, accused of the assault.

Search in Dance Halls.

Deputies and state troopers tonight were visiting all dance halls near Ypsilanti, as well as a number of farm house "blind pigs" which are known to exist in the district, catering largely to young men and women. The officers believe the two couples may have been followed from a dance hall or blind pig by their assailants.

"I heard the sound of an automobile going south on the road," he said. "Then I saw flames rising down by the pasture. I called help and ran down there. The automobile was engulfed in flames. It looked to me as if the bodies and the inside of the car had been soaked in gasoline. The flames spread the way they do when gasoline or kerosene is used. The windows were closed, but the heat shattered them.

"I could see in the mud where a big car had come alongside, skidded to a stop, then turned around and gone south."

Parents Denied Bodies.

Vivian's parents were in Detroit visiting friends when told of the slaying.

Tonight they arrived here and the fathers of three of the victims, Lore, Gold and Wheatley, came to the sheriff and then to the county morgue to get possession of the bodies. This was denied pending the post-mortems. They were also refused permission to see the bodies. Harrison is expected to arrive tomorrow. Identification was established through pieces of clothing and trinkets.

Lore said he became apprehensive this morning when he did not hear his son stirring. He called hospitals and the police departments. He dressed and walked to the business section of Ypsilanti where he met Wheatley, who was also looking for his son. Both said the boys had never remained from home all night before. They were notified of the finding of the bodies.

Met in Sunday School.

Vivian's parents were staying with Mrs. Terry Gutowski of Detroit, a cousin of Mrs. Gold. Mrs. Gutowski said her father, August Brandt, who lives with her, awoke this morning with a premonition that "something terrible" had happened. He said he had dreamed of fire and a white coffin surrounded by flowers.

Vivian was a junior at John Adams High school in Cleveland and had met Anna May Harrison at Sunday school in Cleveland. She was well developed for her age and planned to study to teach physical education.

The death car was found on the Wayne side of the county line, and although investigation is being pushed jointly by both counties, if the assailants are apprehended they will be turned over to Wayne county for prosecution.

SCENE OF CRIME

The map shows Willis, Mich., where two boys and two girls were slain and their bodies burned in auto, and its proximity to Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor, as well as its position relative to Chicago and Detroit. Willis is on the border line of Wayne and Washtenaw counties, Michigan.

MOVIE OWNERS REJECT UNION TERMS OF TRUCE

Peace Parley Brings On Stormy Debate.

A warlike peace conference between officials of the Motion Picture Operators' union and representatives of 104 neighborhood movie houses which closed their doors Sunday night failed to end the lockout yesterday.

THOMAS MALOY.

The theater owners, led by Aaron Saperstein, president of the Allied Theater Owners of Illinois, remained adamant in their refusal to reopen until the union agrees to their employment of one operator per theater in place of the two which they have employed in the past.

The three hour discussion at the Congress hotel grew bitter at times, and the sound of angry voices penetrated the locked doors behind which the conferees met. Saperstein, with Fred Gilford and Joseph Pastor, members of his association, met there with Thomas E. Maloy, business agent of the union, who was recently indicted with a number of his associates on charges of racketeering, and the nine members of the union's wage scale committee.

Agree on Only One Point.

The only agreement reached at the meeting was that Saperstein will put the theater owners' position in writing and give the statement to Maloy today for submission to the union. The theater men have but one demand, Saperstein said. That is that they employ but one operator to a theater, and they will not recede from that, he said.

Maloy and the members of the wage scale committee said that they did not have authority to grant the demand, but that they would put it up to the full membership of the union at a meeting to be held this evening or tomorrow. They did not indicate, however, that they would recommend that the union accept the theater men's terms.

Maloy suggested that a committee of three members, one appointed by the theater men, one by the union, and one by some outside agency, such as the University of Chicago, make a fact finding survey of the neighborhood movie situation in Cook, Lake, and Du Page counties, the area affected by the lockout.

Owners Reject Proposal.

He suggested that the committee inquire as to what theaters might be closed permanently because their neighborhoods do not support them, and what other economies might be effected other than reducing the number of operators employed. Saperstein rejected the proposal, declaring that it would only be a waste of time.

The union men also advanced a tentative proposal that if the two operator system is retained, the union operators would work two or three weeks without pay between now and January. The theater men were cold to the proposal, and it was not put in formal terms.

After a meeting with members of his executive committee last night Saperstein indicated that the statement of the exhibitors' position would be direct and uncompromising. The issue, he said, is not that of union against nonunion labor but whether the theater owners shall be forced to continue to employ an extra operator who is not needed.

"The salary of one operator, in many of the smaller theaters, represents the difference between profit and loss to the owner," Saperstein said. "This is not a temporary issue. It is something which must be settled permanently and, therefore, we cannot be satisfied with any measures of temporary relief. If the theaters cannot make money they must remain closed."

Ask Mayor About Case.

State's Attorney Swanson, accompanied by Assistant State's Attorneys Charles Lounsbury and Charles Bellows, called upon Mayor Cermak yesterday to learn what action had been taken before the civil service commission against Joseph Maloy, city inspector of operators and brother of the union leader. Joseph Maloy was among those indicted by the grand jury.

The mayor informed Mr. Swanson that charges against Maloy had been drawn up by William A. Jackson, commissioner of gas and electricity, and were in the hands of First Assistant Corporation Counsel Leon Hornstein. After approving them as to form, the mayor said, Hornstein will send them back to Jackson for his signature.

ACCUSE COUNTY COPS OF PICNIC TICKET RACKET

Suggest Sales Instead of Arrests, Charge.

BY HAL FOUST.

Motorists are complaining that the county highway police are soliciting funds for the "Sheriff's Office Welfare association. With an efficient sales force wearing police uniforms, stars, and carrying arrest books, it is reported that 15,000 tickets have been printed to be sold for $1 a piece for the "Sheriff Meyering Annual Picnic" scheduled for Aug. 22 in McDermott's Oaks near Lemont.

SHERIFF MEYERING.

It's not a shake down, according to Sheriff Meyering. The policemen are supposed to sell the tickets to their friends only. Their friends, according to reports, include the motoring public generally. An automobile driver flagged down on the highway by a motorcycle cop usually buys at least one of the picnic tickets, it is said.

Motorist Tells of Sale.

N. W. Goodman, a printing contractor at 723 South Dearborn street, yesterday told of his experience. He was overtaken by a motorcycle policeman about 4:30 Monday morning while driving near Harvey and the following conversation took place, according to Mr. Goodman:

POLICEMAN—What's your hurry?

MR. GOODMAN—I was only going 40.

POLICEMAN—My speedometer showed 55. What's in the rear of your car? (looks at baggage in car). I'm going to give you a chance to get out of this easy.

MR. GOODMAN—How's that?

MR. GOODMAN—I haven't any money.

POLICEMAN—They're only a dollar apiece.

MR. GOODMAN—Isn't there any other way out?

POLICEMAN—That's up to you.

MR. GOODMAN—All right, I'll buy a ticket.

Sends Ticket to Motor Club.

The ticket, bearing a number which will probably identify the policeman, was mailed to the Chicago Motor club's legal department, which is investigating speed traps and rackets preying on the motoring public. Mr. Goodman said that George Calcutt, a plasterer, of Homewood was with him and that Calcutt would corroborate the story.

"I was driving back from the Indiana dunes and had crossed the state line into Illinois when I was stopped by a motorcycle cop in the southern part of the county," he said. "It was 11:30 at night, there was little traffic on the road, and I was stepping on the gas.

"The cop said I was speeding, doing 45 miles an hour. I admitted I was doing 55, but insisted I was not being reckless. 'All right,' said the copper, 'that will cost you five tickets to the sheriff's picnic.' I told him to go to hell. Well, maybe not in those words, but he knew that's what I meant. He finally let me go after bawling me out."

Offered As Speed Drag, Claim.

Louis M. Arnopol, a druggist at 731 South Dearborn street, related that one night last week he had stopped at a roadside stand on Milwaukee avenue near Dempster street for a soft drink when two highway police asked him to buy picnic tickets.

"They suggested," said Mr. Arnopol, "that the picnic tickets might come in handy if I happened to be arrested in the county for speeding. I turned them down since I'm a conservative driver and don't need any drag."

Sheriff Meyering when told that a motorist had complained of pressure being used to sell picnic tickets said he would investigate and if the complaint were substantiated discipline the policeman. He did not ask his interviewer for the name of the complainant.

The "Sheriff's Office Welfare association" is an organization of Sheriff Meyering's subordinates, raising a fund for the announced purpose of doing welfare work among the employes with sick and death benefits.

AL CAPONE'S GANG TAPS PHONE WIRES, FEDERAL AGENTS SAY

Telephone wire tapping, in an effort to keep advised as to the plans and movements of both law enforcing agencies and independent bootleggers, has been adopted on a wide scale by the Al Capone gang.

Federal agents, who long before had suspected the Capone gang of tapping their wires, said yesterday that they had obtained definite proof from former employes of the telephone company. Several telephone workers have left their jobs and "gone over to the syndicate for bigger money," the federal agents said. The gang is also reported to have employed crews of union electricians to assist the telephone experts.

The federal men first suspected the Capone syndicate of wire tapping when they learned that many complaints were received by the telephone company. The "taps" were traced by the company and none of them was found to have been placed by law enforcement agencies with a legitimate reason.

Wire tapping was used extensively by special prohibition agents working under Eliot Ness, assistant chief, in developing a dry law conspiracy case against Capone and 68 of his henchmen. Although Ness would not admit it, other agents declared that his telephone wire leading into the Transportation building was tapped continuously for three months during the investigation.

By tapping the wires of independent liquor distributors, the syndicate learns when a load is to be moved, so that it may be hijacked, or what customers are catering to the independent outfit, so that they may be dealt with, according to the agents.

SWANSON TO LET DOGS RUN UNTIL HE GETS RULING

Awaits Court Decision on Machine Betting.

The greyhounds will continue to gallop and the betting lines to form at the right before the pari-mutuel windows at Cook county dog tracks, for the time being at least, State's Attorney Swanson said yesterday.

Mr. Swanson made the statement after his assistants, Edgar B. Elder and William B. Walrath, had failed in an attempt to have Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude interpret a restraining order issued against the state's attorney and sheriff at the request of the Thornton Coursing club and Sportsmen's park, two dog tracks.

Ruling Against Judge Feinberg.

The interpretation sought was whether the order restraining interference with the dog races applies also to the betting at the tracks. The prosecutors asked Judge Trude to rule whether pari-mutuel betting on dogs can be called common gambling.

The judge refused, stating that the executive committee of the Circuit court has ordered that all rulings in the matter be given by Judge Michael Feinberg, the original chancellor in the case, who will not return from his vacation until Sept. 8. The restraining order was issued by Judge William V. Brothers.

Attorney Harry Olson, representing the tracks, announced that racing and betting will continue. State's Attorney Swanson was asked what he will do.

State Gets Delay in 2 Cases.

"I don't know," he said. "The judge gave us no indication to go on. He made no adjudication whatever. For the present we will take no action. The sheriff and I will confer in a few days to plan our campaign."

Thomas J. Healey, manager of the Thornton track, and Charley Huey, a mutuel clerk, were arrested on Saturday night by county highway police as a test case.

FUGITIVE GETS YEAR IN JAIL IN ELECTION FRAUD

George S. Robertson, who jumped his bond and became a liquor [illegible] in Florida a year ago was sentenced to one year in the county jail by County Judge Jarecki yesterday for fraud in the election of April 7, 1931.

Robertson confessed yesterday that he had never served in the army, though at the time of his first arrest he claimed he was a veteran. He was a clerk in the 26th precinct of the 6th ward.

Chicago and its suburbs yesterday experienced the first fall chill after the heaviest rainstorm since 1885. The rainfall of Monday night and early yesterday morning, which totaled 3.84 inches in 10 hours and 13 minutes, was the third heaviest on record for Chicago. The record rainfall was 4.14 inches in 11 hours—fell on July 25 and 26, 1878.

People appeared on the streets in heavy coats and sweaters yesterday, and street cleaners cleared away the debris of fallen trees and clogged sewer drains were opened. The precipitation, accompanied by hail in some sections, was confined to a small area. Sycamore getting no rain, Rockford 2 inches, Kankakee .14 of an inch and Milwaukee .32 of an inch, according to Federal Forecaster C. A. Donehoo. There was no rain in Glen Ellyn, a western suburb, until 4 a. m. yesterday.

Farmers in Cook county reported grain shattered in the shock and some corn fields were slightly damaged, but in the main they welcomed the downpour as a boon to parched pastures. Lawns grew and home lawns and gardens took on new life with the second heavy rain in a week.

New Record for Aug. 11.

The temperature was driven close to a record low for this time of year during the storm, reaching 56 degrees at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, within 2 degrees of the low mark for Aug. 11, recorded in 1909. The all time low temperature mark for August is 47 degrees, recorded on Aug. 26, 1887; Aug. 30, 1915, and Aug. 31, 1872.

The storm raised the year's total precipitation in Chicago from 1.39 inches below normal to 2.32 inches above normal. Weather bureau figures revealed that there have been only seven rainstorms which have caused a fall of 3 inches in a 24 hour period or less since Jan. 1, 1871, when weather statistics first were kept here.

Hundreds of street cars and autos were stalled by the sudden deluge, scores of trees and light and power lines were torn down by the wind and rain. Several hundred calls flooded the police from residents who feared that burglar alarms were ringing in stores because the water had caused short circuits in the alarm wires.

James Gorman, 47 years old, a watchman for the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad, was injured when an auto driven by Henry Anderson, 28 years old, 2025 North California avenue, crashed into the watchman's shanty at Larrabee street and Chicago avenue after the driver had been blinded by the rain. Gorman was taken to Henrotin hospital for treatment.

Two loop store windows were smashed by the wind.

Dog Aids Judge to Solomon Ruling

Drags Woman

Mrs. Anna Asmus, 23 years old, 2141 Warner avenue, appeared before Municipal Judge Edelman with her 2 year old son, Wallace, yesterday to demand possession of a Spitz dog, Chuckie, from Miss Violet Paul, 20 years old, 4146 Lincoln avenue. Miss Paul found Chuckie four weeks ago and kept him, believing that he was a Spitz that had disappeared from her home. Chuckie settled the dispute by dragging Miss Paul over to Wallie and wagging an affectionate greeting. After witnessing the demonstration Judge Edelman decided that Miss Paul had been the victim of mistaken identity and awarded Chuckie to Wallie.

Seek Election to Merge E. Chicago and Hammond

Petitions were being circulated yesterday in East Chicago and in Hammond for the calling of an election in which the residents of the two cities would vote on a merger into one municipality. Frank J. O'Rourke, Democratic politician of Hammond, is the principal backer of the consolidation program. He claims to have nearly enough signatures to guarantee the calling of the election. A majority of the votes cast in each city would be needed to make the consolidation valid.

SKY GAZERS SEE A WIDE VISTA OF CHICAGOLAND

385 at Tribune Tower on Record Clear Day.

The storm clouds lifted yesterday morning and the sun shone through a rain washed atmosphere upon a rain washed city. A rare visibility was enjoyed by 385 visitors to the observation lookout on Tribune Tower.

Chicagoland, the home of 5,000,000 persons, could be seen with unusual distinctness, curled around the foot of Lake Michigan like a huge relief map. To the southeast, across forty miles of water with a delicate shading of lights and shadows, Michigan City could be seen as a cluster of building tops.

The sun was shining on the sands of the Indiana dunes, a wave of light yellow on the lake horizon, topped by dark green patches which observers recognized as woods. Farther to the south were tall smoke stacks, no larger than a tuft of hay stubble. Such was Gary, the steel city of 100,000 as seen from Tribune Tower in the clean atmosphere that followed the rain storm.

Mills and Refineries Seen.

Farther to the west on the shore line, done in larger figures on this relief map, were the mills and refineries of Whiting, East Chicago and the Calumet district.

Looking down, close at hand, were the skyscrapers of Michigan avenue and the public buildings and World Fair structures of Grant park with their architecture visible in exceptionally clear detail, since the air was free from dust and a smart northerly breeze quickly faded the occasional curl of chimney smoke.

To the west skyscrapers towered in the left foreground while the west side lay at the foot of observers in small blocks that diminished in size as the distances became greater. A water tower at Wheaton could be seen on the horizon. To the northwest a speck on the horizon was identified through the observatory's glasses as the ski jump near Cary.

Northern Suburbs Clearly Visible.

Looking north, over the tall apartments, hotels and office buildings of the near north side, were the trees and lagoons of Lincoln park and beyond were the north shore suburbs hugging close to the lake front. Fort Sheridan was easily distinguished, while a wisp of smoke on the horizon was pointed out as that from a stack in Racine, Wis.

Favored with clear skies, the result of the record rainfall of Monday night, thousands of Chicagoans remained awake until early this morning to watch an annual heavenly spectacle, a meteorite show.

The display was discernible in the northeast as darkness fell, and grew in brilliance as the hours passed. The observers saw the Perseids, occurring as the earth crosses the orbit of Perseus and consisting of a swarm of meteorites shooting in various directions. How long this star cloud will continue no one knows. It is seen in August yearly.

Among those who studied the starry display was Prof. Philip Fox, head of the Adler planetarium. The Perseids will reappear tonight, he said.

CERMAK'S RAIDERS BREAK POLICY GAMES IN NEGRO DISTRICTS

Mayor Cermak said yesterday that two squads of detectives, working under his direct orders, had broken up policy gambling in south side Negro districts. Another campaign is to be started against policy games on the west side.

Detectives told the mayor that if they sought search warrants for the gambling headquarters the move would be tipped off to the operators, so the raids were made without warrants. As a result, the mayor said, of 277 persons arrested 172 were dismissed in Municipal court, four were fined, and the cases of the others continued. However, the raiders destroyed all records, making it impossible for the gamblers to pay off their clients and stopping the business, the mayor said.

"The policy game is nothing but a skin game to take the money of the poor," said the mayor. "It is played by 95 per cent of colored people over 14 years old, and the operators will take bets as low as 5 cents. The chance of winning averages only about one in 20,000. We won't tolerate it, and more squads will be assigned to the work if necessary."

600 QUALIFIED FOR JURY DUTIES UNDER NEW PLAN

Six hundred prospective jurors for Cook county courts yesterday told the jury commissioners in the county building the days during which they most conveniently could serve, and qualified themselves for service, in accordance with the new system enacted by the legislature at the last session.

The new plan, designed by the judges, found favor with most of the citizens, but those from the suburban towns presented objections. There was no appropriation for carfare or luncheon money for the jurors on their maiden call, and many found themselves pressed by the loss of time and money. The men complained that under the new system they were notified by mail and forced to appear to qualify themselves on threat of contempt proceedings. Under the old system, they said, they were called only when demanded for immediate service.

The commissioners, however, say that the new plan will save $75,000 for the county in avoiding the necessity of summons in person.

"For things you value, these are the flakes"... says

Mrs. Leslie Wheeler

"WE have delicate gauze glass curtains, and bright flowered linen hangings, and valuable French lingerie that have come through innumerable American Family Flakes baths with every thread and color as fresh as the day they were bought," said Mrs. Wheeler. "And it's such a good cleanser that we use it for all our household cleaning also, even for the dogs. It's the purest soap I know. Makes lovely suds, and leaves their hair silky clean, just as it leaves glasses and china sparkling."

Come to think of it, why not? . . . there isn't a grain of impurity in a ton of it. No soap could rinse out more perfectly, as you'll know when your iron speeds smoothly over a double-sudsed washing. And it's actually good for the skin: notice how nice your hands look after a day of double-suds laundering, dishwashing, housecleaning.

With such purity, you can fearlessly wash many things you previously didn't dare—you ought to see the gorgeous fabrics, the priceless art wares that four out of five of Chicago's Gold Coast women trust to American Family Flakes as freely and safely as one washes sheets and pillow-cases!

And don't forget! American Family Flakes double-suds cost less per cleaning job: save many, many dollars in the extra wear they permit from all your garments. Really, you can't afford to use any other household soap but the double-sudsing twins, American Family Flakes and Soap.

We want everyone to experience quickly the superiority of American Family Flakes. We want you to know what these pure Double Suds mean in cleaning things quicker than you have ever experienced before—how beautifully new everything comes out of the laundry—how harmless to hands and harmless to colors. BARE $500,000 EXCESS PROFIT ON SCHOOL JOB

Experts Set 'Fair Cost' of Parker Building.

8,852,000 cubic feet, as compared with 4,413,000 for the Parker school. The Strauss building is therefore about twice as large as the school building. The heating and ventilating in the Strauss building cost $466,487, while in this school building it cost $466,541."

"The school has more ventilation, but the steam heating requirements for buildings are about the same, according to size."

Asked About Contract Methods.

"Do you know the board's method of awarding contracts?" Mr. Sargent asked.

Mr. Moulton replied for the Thompson-Starrett company:

"No, we have not done any work for the school board."

"Do you feel certain on your figures on marble?" he was asked.

"Do you approve of that statement, Mr. Lord?" Mr. Sargent inquired.

"We placed the job of estimating this school in the best hands in the United States," replied Mr. Lord.

Mr. Lord submitted detailed figures on the cost of heating, pipe covering, ventilation, refrigeration, electric, and other mechanical trade work in the Palmolive, Board of Trade, La Salle-Wacker, Stevens Hotel and Palmer House buildings, and explained the difference between them and the school.

Costs on Other Structures.

On the Stevens hotel 24 per cent of the cost was in the mechanical trade work. The proportion for this work was 17 per cent in the Board of Trade and Palmer House, and 14 per cent in the La Salle-Wacker building and the Palmolive building. These figures are comparable with 23 per cent in the Parker Junior High school.

The school board paid $141,350 for the electrical work in the Parker school, and Mr. Lord estimated that $90,000 would have been ample.

"What should the Parker school have cost?" asked Mr. Sargent.

"Roughly approximating it," answered Mr. Lord, "it cost $500,000 too much."

"How much was the mechanical trade work too high?"

"Roughly, $375,000 to $300,000," was Mr. Lord's reply.

Principals Suggest Savings.

A committee of school principals—James E. Armstrong, A. Klein, Hiram H. Loomis, and C. C. Willard—appeared before the governor's commission and suggested a plan of saving $1,073,416 a year on the educational costs in the operation of the schools. The savings embodied in these suggestions apparently were not considered by the trustees when they recently cut expenses an estimated $2,800,000 a year. The principals were protesting against a curtailment of the school year.

When Principal Klein had finished telling of the principals' stand, Mr. Sargent asked: "Do the high schools teach aviation to women?"

Mr. Klein could not answer, but Principal C. C. Willard said:

"At one of the evening schools where they have the equipment, two young women enrolled. I think that is the basis of that story."

Cites Expense for Normal.

"The board appropriated $425,089 for the operation of the Normal school," said Mr. Sargent, "while the supply of teachers is enough to operate on for two years. Why not close the Normal school for two years?"

"There are other economies which should come before that," replied Mr. Klein.

"You have appropriated $853,871 for the operation of Crane college," said Mr. Sargent. "Why could that not be suspended for a period?"

"My position is that the legislature had in mind the operation of a college by the board of education," replied President Lewis E. Myers of the school board. "Either we should get authority from the state to go ahead, or quit. There is no legal justification for Crane college."

Asks for Economy Plans.

Getting back to the principals, Mr. Sargent asked them for the economies they thought should be made first.

They suggested that the continuation schools be dropped at an annual saving of $724,696, and that a charge of $5 a semester be made for evening school pupils, which would increase the board's revenue an estimated $200,000. Then they would cut $5,000 from the expense of adult lectures, and $36,000 from the Americanization

COST TAXPAYERS $500,000 EXTRA

The Parker Junior High school at 6800 Stewart avenue, erected at a cost of $2,286,313 to the taxpayers by the present board of education. It was completed in 1930. Gov. Emmerson's revenue commission finds there was an excess profit of approximately $500,000 on the building.

classes for mothers, as well as dispense with the dental instruction at a saving of $14,400.

In the bureau of curriculum, the principals urged that clerks' jobs with salaries totaling $5,000 be abolished. They asked that the supervisors of language, history, mathematics, physical science and typewriting in this bureau be eliminated, at a saving of $4,000 each, and suggested that additional savings of $6,000 be made in the bureau. They would save $5,000 by eliminating the bureau of technical studies for high schools.

The principals advocated elimination of the director of administration at a saving of $3,600. Abolishment of the bureau for the assignment of substitutes, they said, would save $13,240. They urged a $30,000 reduction in the bureau of music.

Myers Asked for Comment.

After the major disclosures of the session had been made, President Myers of the school board was asked to comment.

"I have no doubt that some of the savings suggested can be made," said Mr. Myers with reference to the principals' recommendations. He did not comment on the alleged excessive cost of the Parker Junior High school.

The inquiry went on. Other testimony was presented with reference to the 32 defective school buildings, but the commission did not have the right witnesses last night to ascertain what happened to the money spent on these undertakings.

HITS PARENTS IN SCHOOL SURVEY OF RUM FLATS

Clubs were recommended for certain types of parents who neglect their children in a report submitted last night to Acting Police Commissioner Alcock by William L. Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education, on a recent survey of speakeasies in the vicinity of schoolhouses.

After pointing out that home conditions are largely responsible for juvenile delinquency, Mr. Bodine's letter states:

"Some parents do their drinking in private, and their reeling in public. We need more parents clubs in some districts, and clubs for parents in others."

The survey uncovered 194 speakeasies within a radius of two blocks from schools.

Mr. Bodine praised Commissioner Alcock for his efforts in suppressing the "school zone booze flats and speakeasies," and stated that the evil no longer existed.

NEW YORK ADDS $2,000,000 TO ITS FUND FOR IDLE

Relief Body Sees a Hard Winter.

New York, Aug. 11.—[Special.]—An appropriation of an additional $2,000,000 for unemployment relief was authorized today at a special meeting of the board of estimate.

JOSEPH McKEE.

This action was simultaneous with the announcement that the report of the emergency employment committee would be put in the mails on Thursday and would contain recommendations for unemployment relief measures to be taken this winter as well as being a chronicle of what has been done for the unemployed during the last year.

Acting Mayor Joseph McKee, in pointing out that today's appropriation brings the total expenditure of the city in relief work to $15,075,000, predicted a severe winter.

"It will not be a question of handing out a few dollars here and there," he said, "but of taking care of thousands of families."

The members of the Prosser committee are no more optimistic, frankly saying that the program will have to be carried through again and perhaps in much the same way, and that the task will be a larger one.

The committee report contains a hint that coöperation of city and private agencies is considered more satisfactory than a federal dole.

The report states that the committee has expended $8,551,165, the largest single fund ever raised in this city for local relief; that it provided no permanent remedy for unemployment, and that 26,039 men and 4,170 women were provided with work.

HOOVER TO MAP PLAN TO AID JOBLESS THIS WINTER, FESS SAYS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Confidence that President Hoover will have a concrete unemployment relief program worked out before congress meets in December was expressed today by Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.], chairman of the Republican national committee and Fred C. Croxton, acting chairman of the President's emergency employment committee. Mr. Fess conferred with Mr. Hoover yesterday on methods which should be employed to meet the relief crisis while Mr. Braxton talked to the President today.

The senator asserted the government will take decisive steps to prevent distress and starvation in communities hard hit by the depression. Mr. Fess denounced all talk of "dole" legislation and voiced the hope that local communities aided by national charitable associations would be able to solve their unemployment problems without direct federal aid.

FINDS DECREASE IN EVICTIONS FOR NOT PAYING RENT

Evictions for nonpayment of rent, one of the talking points used by communist agitators in stirring up trouble in south side districts, have been fewer in number this year than they were during a corresponding period last year, Joel D. Hunter, superintendent of the United Charities, informed Mayor Cermak yesterday. His figures were as follows:

May	67	97	88
June	54	92	90

Cases of the men arrested for taking part in the eviction riot, fomented by communists, in which three Negroes were killed last week by police, were continued yesterday by Judge Edward S. Scheffler until Aug. 25 at the request of their attorney, D. J. Bentall. A communist was taken into custody for passing out handbills attacking the police in the courtroom crowd, but was released later. Police did not take his name.

TAX COMPROMISE OFFER SEEN AS COUNTY VICTORY

Delinquents to Be Forced to Pay, Is Belief.

Evidence that income bearing properties delinquent in taxes will be forced to pay their bills to the county was seen yesterday when attorneys representing the receiver for a north side apartment building offered settlement for four years' assessments which had been contested.

The offer, presented unofficially to several county commissioners, was made through Attorney Henry M. Ashton, retained by the county board for the prosecution of tax delinquents, and U. S. Schwartz, who represented S. W. Straus & Co., receivers for the Aquitania apartments, 832 Argyle street.

Offers to Make Payment.

Schwartz told M. F. Kavanagh, Miss Amelia Sears, and Mrs. Edward Fleming, commissioners, that his clients would pay $140,000 which represented the total taxes of $112,000 for the years 1924 through 1927 and a 25 per cent penalty. The county treasurer has charged a total of $193,000 against the building for taxes and penalties accruing during the period.

Because such a compromise settlement must be acted upon by the board as a whole, Schwartz was told to submit his proposal in writing for consideration by the county finance committee.

"This property is but one among many hundreds which has defaulted in its taxes. It is a test case and indicates that there is no defense for nonpayment of taxes if the property is income bearing," Ashton declared.

Millions Due in Taxes.

"A total of $16,000,000 in taxes is unpaid on such property. In many cases it's true the property is vacant and without an income. Those, however, which do provide income for their owners will be forced to pay up regardless of other obligations involved."

Ashton recently was retained by the county board on a contract which provides that he shall receive 13 per cent of the taxes he collects.

Leaders of the Chicago Real Estate board appeared yesterday before the board of assessors, promising coöperation if the board would make a determined effort to assess all personal property in Cook county, and threat ening to seek a grand jury investigation of the assessors if they failed to do so.

Charles E. Bates, a member of the executive committee of the real estate body, was spokesman for the group. He promised the coöperation of the board with the assessors in seeking from the governor's tax commission and the legislature laws to "put teeth" in personal property assessment measures. He assured the board that real estate interests would urge the county board to make a sufficient appropriation to hire experienced appraisers for making personal property assessments for 1931.

Says Real Estate is Broke.

"To have taxes from now on," he asserted, "you have to collect personal property assessments, because this tax business has broken real estate in Cook county, and real estate has broken the county's banks. This city potentially is one of the greatest in the world, but through political skullduggery we find ourselves in the position of today—a financial position comparable to that of Germany."

Assessor John E. Conroy, secretary of the board, asserted that if the board was given the opportunity it could add $100,000,000 to personal property assessments. His staff is now investigating the ownership of yachts, airplanes and other property.

A. F. OF L. EXECUTIVE COUNCIL IS FIRM FOR "NO WAGE REDUCTION"

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—The entire executive council, which acts for the American Federation of Labor between annual conventions, adopted a declaration at its quarterly sessions here today for the guidance of labor and the information of employers throughout the country, reaffirming the judgment of the leaders of organized labor that wage reductions were economically unsound, and that "it is the unflinching purpose of the American Federation of Labor to stand resolutely against them."

Such reductions have the effect of continuing the depression which now exists, according to the formal declaration which was made public here this evening by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

"Unemployment will continue," the declaration says, "just as long as the purchasing power of the masses of the people rests below and beneath the ability to produce manufactured goods."

The executive council praised employers who kept their promise to President Hoover to maintain the wage structure; and said of those who attempt to reduce wages, that they have "taken advantage of human distress."

POLICE 3D DEGREE INFORMERS ARE KEPT A SECRET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—The Wickersham commission's denunciation of "police brutalities," which precipitated a storm of denials from all sections of the country when published yesterday, was based on many anonymous sources so far as the reading public is concerned as well as court records of past years and information picked up by special investigators whose names are not included in the report.

Of 106 Appellate court cases examined which showed forty-five reversals on account of "illegal third degree practices," fewer than twenty were decided in the last two years.

Questionnaires Sent Out.

In explaining the methods utilized to determine whether third degree practices now exist, the report stated that questionnaires were sent out to various informed persons and organizations. The three groups selected to answer these queries were "officials in different parts of the country, public defenders [whether paid from private or public funds] and legal aid societies as well as bar associations." In describing its field work, the report states:

"Limitation of funds and time confined our field work to fifteen cities which we believe to be representative. The persons interviewed included judges, present and former prosecutors, directors of public safety, present and former police commissioners and police chiefs, present and former detectives, city managers, leaders of the bar, public defenders, representatives of the American Civil Liberties union, agents of prison associations, social workers, newspaper editors, police reporters, law professors, members of citizens' committees, commissioners of correction, prison wardens, and a few prisoners or ex-prisoners."

Investigation Not Through.

The names of those who answered the questionnaires are not disclosed in the report. Neither is publicity generally given to judges, district attorneys, policemen, ex-police and government officials, and others who were questioned by police.

Field work was done by the commission's investigators in but 11 states. The commission virtually admits in its conclusions that its investigation of present third degree practices is not a thoroughgoing one.

"There are," it states, "under the heading, 'Conclusions as to the existence of the third degree,' difficulties in forming conclusions as to the prevalence of the third degree. When the practice is illegal, there are found to be professional denials of its existence from the police."

LABOR REPORT SAYS COST OF LIVING HAS DECLINED 6.5 PER CENT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—The cost of living in the United States has declined 6.5 per cent in the last six months, according to figures which will appear in the forthcoming issue of the labor department's monthly Labor Review.

The figures are based on returns from 51 cities on food and from 32 cities on articles of clothing, rent, fuel, light, and house furnishings. They show price declines of 13.3 per cent in the food group, 6 per cent in the house furnishings group, 5.5 per cent in the fuel and light group, 4.5 per cent in the clothing group, 3.1 per cent in the rent group, and 4.1 per cent in the miscellaneous group.

Comparing prices existing in June, 1931, with those of June, 1930, when the cost of living reached its highest peak, the department found decreases of 49 per cent in clothing, 46 per cent in food, 39.5 per cent in house furnishings, and 3.8 per cent in fuel and light. Rents, however, increased during this period by 5.3 per cent.

IF you look at that faint pinkish blush on your tooth brush tomorrow morning and ignore its meaning once again—you may regret it the rest of your life!

In itself, "pink tooth brush" isn't serious. About all it means is that your gums have lost the firm and healthy hardness they had when you were a child. The soft foods of this modern day have given the gums too little of the stimulation they need. They have become a little flabby. Perhaps there's a trace of inflammation.

Their defences are down. And sooner or later, unless you take care, your gums will become easy prey for diseases that will give you serious trouble—gingivitis, Vincent's disease, or even pyorrhea, which is rare, but really something to dread. Eventually, "pink tooth brush" may lead to infection at the roots of your teeth, and threaten the teeth themselves.

But there is an easy way to check "pink tooth brush." Here's all you have to do. First, cleanse your teeth with Ipana Tooth Paste. Soon you'll see how really lovely they can look. Then, after the cleansing, squeeze a little more Ipana on your brush, or your finger-tip, and rub those lazy, tender gums with it. Be gentle, but thorough. Start vigorous circulation.

As you massage your gums, the ziratol in Ipana tones and stimulates them. In a few weeks you'll observe an unmistakable improvement. As the days go by, your gums will grow firmer, healthier—better in color and tone.

Keep on with Ipana and massage and you'll see mighty little of "pink tooth brush" in the future.

BRITTEN GETS U. S. FLEET TO ANCHOR AT FISHER RESORT

Admits He Owns Stock in Montauk Company.

New York, Aug. 11.—[Special.]—The belief that political "logrolling" procured the visit of thirty ships of the scouting fleet to Montauk, L. I., to advertise Montauk real esate and particularly the Montauk Beach Development corporation, has caused considerable criticism among the 5,000 officers and sailors who man the ships now anchored there.

FRED A. BRITTEN.

Representative Fred A. Britten of Illinois, chairman of the house naval affairs committee, who, because of his position virtually controls the navy's purse strings, suggested the visit to the chief of naval operations, Admiral W. V. Pratt.

Mr. Britten said today that he owned about three or four acres of land on the shore of Lake Montauk and admitted he is a stockholder of the realty corporation. He denied, however, that his financial interest in the company, or his friendship for Carl G. Fisher, chairman of the board, influenced him in persuading Admiral Pratt to send the fleet from Newport, its regular summer base, to Montauk, a point which it has not visited for years.

Britten Sponsors Other Visits.

That Mr. Britten is directly responsible for this change in the usual navy procedure generally is admitted, and he also sponsored other visits of navy units and personnel to Montauk or vicinity this summer. From July 11 to 17 the dirigible Los Angeles visited Montauk with the tender Patoka. On July 12 and 13 Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the bureau of aeronautics of the navy department, paid a flying visit to Montauk. On July 13 the Aviation Country club's annual cruise ended at Montauk.

At present the thirty ships and four seaplanes of the scouting force are visiting Montauk for a week.

Next Saturday the annual gold cup motor boat races are being held on Lake Montauk, on Aug. 18 and 19 there is a horse show, and from Aug. 20 to 24 the U. S. S. Constitution, the oldest commissioned vessel in the navy, will pause during its education tour for a three and a half day visit to Montauk, a village with a floating population of a few hundred. The Constitution has just left Providence, R. I., a city of about 300,000, after a three day visit there.

The unusual number of events listed for this summer and centering around Montauk manor, the hotel on a hill overlooking Fort Pond bay, admittedly have helped the realty company, and the corporation is "mighty glad" to get the publicity, A. Robert Snyder, promotion manager, said.

Admits Fleet Saves Montauk.

"If it had not been for the fleet and these other things, frankly, I don't know what we would have done with the hotel," Mr. Snyder admitted. "But Mr. Fisher did not think of this thing; Mr. Britten was responsible for it. And, of course, we welcomed it. We have only one realty salesman, and we don't expect him to go out with his hands outstretched to all the sailors that come ashore, but, of course, we get some good out of it."

From Mr. Snyder and from other employes of the association it was learned that the development corporation owns about 10,000 acres in the vicinity of Montauk and that only about 350 acres have been sold. An additional 300 acres were conveyed for use of the state park nearby.

The development corporation, in the five or six years since Mr. Fisher, promoter of the Indianapolis speedway and realty owner and resort promoter of Miami Beach, Fla., has been coming there, has erected in addition to Montauk manor and a yacht club a seven story office building near the ocean and numerous smaller structures, but the project, it was reported, has not developed into full success.

It's His Personal Business.

Mr. Britten, in commenting on the connection of the visits of various naval units and the development of Montauk as a summer resort, declined to estimate the extent of his financial interest in the company, but scoffed at a report that it amounted to about $200,000.

"It's my own personal business," Mr. Britten said, and then explained how the visit of the fleet had been arranged.

"The fleet used to base over this way long ago, you know, at Gardner's bay," he continued. "I simply suggested to Admiral Pratt that the fleet might pay a visit over here in Fort Pond bay during its operations this summer and pointed out what a nice harbor there is there. Admiral Pratt took out a map, looked at the depth of water in Fort Pond bay, and said that was a fine idea.

Calls It Wonderful Harbor.

"Why, this is a splendid harbor—plenty of room for all the fleet and deep right up to the docks. It is much better than Newport—no narrow entrance—and ships can get in and out of here in a fog at any time. Personally, I don't believe in the ships staying there at Newport all summer; I believe in an operating fleet, and we wanted the fleet to visit Long Island this summer.

Mr. Britten said he would like to see the scouting ships operating from Fort Pond bay as a base during future summers. When it was pointed out that the fleet has been using Newport, which has become accustomed to serving the ships and has been well equipped by the navy for this purpose for years, he indicated that he thought Montauk could be developed into a better base and again commented on "the wonderful harbor."

NEVADA AND U. S. TO STUDY STRIKE AT BOULDER DAM

Conditions Distressing; Hundreds Seek Jobs.

Las Vegas, Nev., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—A federal-state conference at Carson City on Aug. 15 will determine the question of the resumption of work at Boulder Dam, where a complete shutdown was ordered after 125 tunnel workers went on strike last Sunday. Officials of the Six Companies, Inc., contractors for the project, said today that no work would be done until after the conference.

Working conditions, particularly as they relate to safety, and living conditions at Boulder City, the construction camp, will be taken up at the conference. As thousands of men have applied for work and only about 1,000 have been affected by the strike, it is not expected that work will be held up long.

The main trouble at Boulder Dam seems to be the heat. It is a job comparable with the building of the Panama Canal, where nature in some of her worst moods must be combatted, and where workmen have to suffer great hardship before the pioneering is done and the ordinary comforts of life established.

The question of wages was the immediate cause of the strike. The laborers want $5 a day, while the contractors are paying $4. From this $4 a deduction of $1.50 a day is made for board, and $1.50 a month for hospitalization and insurance. The state of Nevada takes a poll tax of $3 for the first month's work.

On this schedule a workman will have $62.50 a month left for himself and family if he spends no money for cigarets or soft drinks or the artesian water that is imported from Las Vegas at five gallons for 15 cents.

The government engineers and contractors are trying to improve living conditions for the workmen and their families, but good camps and cooling plants for food and water come slowly in the desert, where everything has to be created. Conditions in the camps of the unemployed, who have flocked here from all parts of the United States, expecting jobs at this widely exploited project, are in many cases desperate, but this is a problem for the state and county rather than for the contractors.

Hard Life at Camp.

It is a hard and monotonous life at the camp. There are no amusements near the dam, and Las Vegas sees a constant procession of men who have "made a payday" and want to spend a little time and money in a place where they can cool off. This makes the labor turnover heavy and leads to the charge that the dam contractors have a policy of laying off men in order to preserve a flooded labor market and keep the wages down. One of the complaints heard from the men is that wages in other desert camps are higher and board less.

As to working conditions and safety it has been found that between April 1 and Aug. 1 three men were killed by premature explosions at the dam site and two more in a rock slide. During this time sixteen men died of the heat in Clark county, twelve of them being dam workers.

The bunk houses and mess houses at present are poorly ventilated, and without fans or water cooled roofs. In one of the mess halls visited the temperature was between 115 and 120, although a cooling system was being installed. The food observed was good and the ice box clean. Workmen at present have to drink river water and find it hard to sleep.

May Conquer Heat Problem.

According to Deputy Labor Commissioner Leonard Blood, the average labor turnover is three per cent a day, which means a complete change of personnel in a month. Dr. Roy W. Martin of the Los Vegas Hospital association thinks that the heat question will be conquered.

Men with families are having a hard time. There is no place for the families to live at present and they are camping wherever they can find water and shade. They sleep in blankets on the sand, and their camps are built of burlap or brush.

The unemployed question remains acute. Hundreds are scattered in hobo jungles along the banks of streams near this city. Two hundred or more sleep every night on the grass of the Union Pacific station. There are few bums and thieves among them, and they want the jobs which others are finding it so hard to fill. They are scattered for thirty miles along the roads and one of the tasks of the county authorities has been to herd them into trucks and take them to the border of the county. And still more come on. Relief work has now been stopped by the county.

Swallows Two Yellow Jackets, but Will Live

Waynesville, N. C., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Two yellow jackets he swallowed Sunday while eating an apple nearly cost the life of Onie Pressley, Haywood county farmer, who is recovering at a hospital. After the yellow jackets had stung the tender membrane of his throat Pressley managed to dislodge them alive. He was unable to speak until today.

MACDONALD PUTS ILLS OF BRITAIN UP TO OPPOSITION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Prime Minister MacDonald today decided not to permit the Labor party to bear the burden of drastic measures necessary to avoid the $600,000,000 deficit foreshadowed for next year in the report of the economy committee, and he will call the Conservatives and Liberals into consultation early next week.

This was one of the developments of Mr. MacDonald's hurried return to London last night from his vacation in Scotland to talk with Chancellor of the Exchequer Snowden and British bankers today on the precarious state of British finances. Another development was the summoning for tomorrow, two weeks ahead of schedule, of the special cabinet economy sub-committee, to review the economy committee's report and discuss legislation to bring its recommendations into effect.

The Labor government is in the ticklish position of having to do something about its finances immediately in order to retain world confidence, and not doing too much in the way of cutting doles, as recommended by the economy report, for fear of alienating the trade unions. It is for this reason that Mr. MacDonald is considering placing some of the responsibility on the opposition parties.

Los Angeles Shower Is Bad Storm in Mountains

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—A light shower which today supplied Los Angeles with its first August rainfall in years took the form of a fierce storm in the mountains and desert sections of southern California. A deluge washed out railroad tracks, swept away section houses and destroyed other property in the area about Needles.

GOVERNOR WAITS ON LEGISLATURE IN TEXAS OIL WAR

Holds Up His Decision on Martial Law.

Austin, Tex., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Texas appeared to be moving tonight either toward legislation which would conserve and regulate the large East Texas oil field or a martial law shutdown.

GOV. ROSS STERLING.

As legislators here were negotiating in an effort to reach a compromise program to conserve the oil supply, officials announced that Assistant Adjutant General H. H. Carmichael had arrived in Kilgore and with the aid of Texas rangers in that section had made a survey to select quarters for troops in case Gov. Ross Sterling declared martial law.

Gov. Sterling last night indicated in a statement that militia might be called out if legislators were unable to adopt an adequate remedial oil program at the special session which ends tomorrow night.

Report Agreement Near.

From oil quarters here tonight however came optimistic reports that the house and senate free conference committee was approaching a compromise agreement. The Senate last Saturday night passed a substitute for the administration bill which Gov. Sterling has since branded as entirely unsatisfactory to the independent oil operators.

Gov. W. H. Murray of Oklahoma sent Charles West to Austin during the day to point out that the Texas chief executive had the power to intervene with martial law in the rampant East Texas field as Murray had done in Oklahoma. East Texas production was reported to have increased to an average of 654,246 barrels daily last week, an increase of 54,695 barrels daily over the average for the previous week.

Gov. Sterling Still Hopeful.

Gov. Sterling, however, said he still was hopeful the legislature would pass a satisfactory conservation law before the close of the special session tomorrow night. He said no decision upon a declaration of martial law in East Texas would be made until the legislature had acted.

The Texas chief executive added, though, that he had received a favorable reaction from his announcement he might declare martial law to force a shutdown.

East Texas operators, meantime, were going ahead with plans for a massmeeting Friday at Tyler, expected to be attended by 4,000 oil operators and business men, to discuss the feasibility of a complete voluntary shutdown.

Offer to Pay $1 a Barrel.

One effect of the shutdown in Oklahoma was an offer today by the Cushing Gasoline and Refining company to pay $1 a barrel for a limited quantity of crude oil. The company has two refineries. There was no general advance in crude prices, however.

Oklahoma City production was reported reduced from 82,681 barrels last Tuesday to about 1,000 barrels today. Daily average production in the greater Seminole area reduced from 155,000 barrels to 61,538 barrels as of Monday.

No indication was received by the Kansas public service commission today of the reaction of purchasers of crude to the commision's announcement it would order a hearing on a shutdown order unless the price of Kansas crude was raised this week to 60 cents a barrel.

LEAVES NO. 6

MRS. EUGENIA B. WHITE.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Much married Eugenia Bankhead, sister of Tallulah Bankhead, today announced that she would shortly proceed for an annulment of her recent marriage to Edward Ennis White, which occurred June 27 at Agua Caliente, Mexico. If successful it will be her second annulment within a year and will dissolve her sixth marital venture. White was booked here today on four counts of a charge of forgery.

HIS EXCELLENCY OF OKLAHOMA EMBARRASSED

"There it goes," he said as a Chicago caller appeared. He extended one hand to the visitor; the other clutched his trousers.

"Just the day you come here I wouldn't have on my suspenders. I changed from my cotton suit this morning and decided I wouldn't bother to unhitch them from the other pair."

Forgery Case Against Mr. A Continued to Aug. 26

Adverse publicity, attendant upon his arrest on a forgery charge, has caused Mr. A. A. the man who claims the shortest name in the United States, a loss of $50,000 in business, he said yesterday when he appeared in the Felony court before Judge John J. Rooney. The case was continued until Aug. 26. Mr. A, who was arrested under the name of Earl F. Gerske, 5931 Elston avenue, is alleged to have forged a judgment note for $684. The warrant for his arrest was obtained by J. M. Boland, representative of a financial service company, through which Mr. A or Earl Gerske discounted judgment notes.

BERLIN POLICE FIGHT REDS WITH CLUBS AND GUNS

Communists Fire from Behind Windows.

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Police and communists clashed tonight in southwestern Berlin in an exchange of shots in which one communist was severely injured and a score of others less severely. The communists gathered for a demonstration on the Nostitzstrasse and refused to disperse at the command of police, who wielded their clubs. The shooting took place in the melée which followed.

Shots fired by communists from adjacent houses were returned by the officers.

Reds Urged to Kill Police.

Charlottenburg police discovered handbills pinned to trees inciting communist followers to kill police officers whom they disliked. On Buelowplatz, where police and communists clashed Sunday night, guards were kept posted today. Hand bills were passed out there warning the police to beware of the Communist party.

Meanwhile, Chancellor Bruening, at the climax of the celebration of the twelfth anniversary of the adoption of the constitution of the German republic, made an earnest appeal to the German people to join hands together to overcome the present difficulties and to build up the nation.

The chancellor's address was followed by one by Finance Minister Dietrich who warned that the issue in Germany today is "capitalism against bolshevism."

The addresses were delivered in the presence of President Paul von Hindenburg and members of the diplomatic corps, including United States Ambassador Frederic M. Sackett.

Three "Hochs" for Germany.

"This day," Cnancellor Bruening said, "like a memorial today, is one on which all party passions subside—the day belongs to the entire German people."

The chancellor then asked everybody present to join in a threefold "hoch" for republican Germany.

"This celebration," he continued, "comes at a time of overpowering economic distress which imposes the severest strain on our powers of endurance."

As he said this, President von Hindenburg, seated in the honor box with President Loebe and Vice President von Kardorff of the reichstag flanking him on one side and Minister of Defense Groener and Minister of Interior Wirth on the other, nodded gravely.

Discount Rate Lowered.

The Reichsbank today lowered the discount rate from 15 to 10 per cent and the rate on collateral loans from 20 to 15 per cent. The new rate is effective tomorrow. This action was taken in financial circles as another indication that Germany was attempting to put her financial house in order as speedily as is safely possible.

In order to adequately diagnose the situation a census has been requested of German firms owing upwards of $50,000 marks [about $12,500] to foreign lenders for the purpose of seeing approximately how much in foreign credits has been extended to Germany both in long and short term paper.

It was indicated today by authoritative, but unofficial sources, that the survey will show short term credits under two years at about 7,000,000,000 marks [approximately $1,750,000,000] held by American, English, and other foreigners. The survey, it was understood, will show approximately 3,500,000,000 marks—or half the total of foreign loans to be from American banks, of which 2,750,000,000 marks represent short term credits to German banks, the rest being loans to industries.

Hunt Burglars Who Got $40,000 Gold Coast Loot

Police were searching yesterday for the burglars who looted the home of Carroll E. Gray Jr., 229 Lake Shore drive, president of the Central Republic company, subsidiary of the Central Republic Bank and Trust company, of nearly $40,000 in jewelry. Mrs. Gray and her daughter had gone to a theater on Monday night and when they returned at 1 a. m. yesterday they found the home ransacked.

U. S. VIEWS WAR DEBT 'DETAILS' AS ENTIRELY AN EUROPEAN AFFAIR

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—The United States will not participate in the report, nor will it sign the protocol drafted by the committee of experts in London for the application of President Hoover's proposal for a moratorium on war debts and reparation as between European countries.

In announcing this position today, the state department expressed gratification "at the progress made in giving practical effect" to the debt-suspension program, but let it be known that it considered the arrangements as involving only European relationships.

This attitude is consistent with previous announcements by administration spokesmen that any arrangements made by the European governments would be satisfactory to the United States so long as they were within the spirit of President Hoover's proposal. The state department is satisfied that the committee of experts has kept within the spirit of the plan.

FIT YOUNG PLAN TO HOOVER'S WAR DEBT HOLIDAY

Financial Experts Sign Protocol in London.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 11.—President Hoover's proposal for a one year's moratorium on war debts and reparations payments was coordinated with the Young plan for reparations payments today by the almost forgotten committee of financial experts who have been sitting in London for the last three weeks.

Concluding its negotiations this morning, with the exception of a few minor points, the committee signed a formal blanket protocol at the foreign office this afternoon on behalf of Great Britain, Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, and Japan. In a communique issued shortly afterward it was stated that the protocol provides that suspended payments shall be repaid in ten equal annuities over a period of July 1, 1932, to July 1, 1943, allowing a year's interim between the expiration of the moratorium year and the beginning of payments.

3% Interest; No Delay.

Interest on the suspended payments is set at 3 per cent, and the payments will be "obligations involving no option of postponement."

While the communique issued by the experts declares that it might have been better if the repayment of suspended payments could have been merely a postponement until 1932 of those payments due in 1931, the Franco-American agreement of July 6 formed the basis for the method finally agreed upon by other nations not involved in the Franco-American agreement.

Provisions of Protocol.

Prominent among the provisions of the protocol are:

ONE. Unconditional annuities, due under the Young plan, shall be paid to the Bank for International Settlements on condition that they, upon receipt, be reloaned to the German railways.

TWO. Payments for service of the German external loan of 1924 and payments for service of the international 5½ per cent loan of 1930 shall continue without change.

THREE. Annuities replacing suspended payments shall be paid in monthly installments on the 15th of each month, starting July 15, 1932. These payments yearly amount to about $29,000,000.

FOUR. Germany and Belgium, it is stated, have reached a private agreement regarding German marks left in Belgium following the war.

Gibson U. S. Observer.

The communique says that the recommendation for repayment in ten equal parts of $29,000,000 a year was made "on the assumption that a similar system will be acceptable to the United States government when it reaches a final decision regarding debts due it."

The chief obstacles met by the experts in concluding their work arose from demands of the smaller countries. Greece found it was able to accept a suspension of payments by Germany, and declared it must continue negotiations with Bulgaria for payments due over mixed claims following the war. In answer to Jugo-Slavia's plea that it suffered a disproportionate loss from suspension of payments, the committee suggested that if the Jugo-Slav Central bank got into difficulties it might depend on other central banks or the world bank during the moratorium year.

Allies to Settle Own Debts.

Interallied debts' suspension, the committee states in its communique, is understood to be subject to arrangement between debtor and creditor governments directly in each case.

With the conclusion of the expert committee's work and the signing of the protocol, President Hoover's moratorium goes into official operation.

SPAIN PROPOSES DUAL CITIZENSHIP FOR EMIGRANTS

Seeks Stronger Ties in Latin America.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Aug. 11.—The ties linking the Spanish republic with Latin America will be something far more than spiritual if the will of the parliamentary commission, charged with shaping the new constitution, prevails in the republic's parliament. Deliberating with greatest secrecy, the commission has decided upon a simple but sensational expedient permitting dual citizenship in Spain and South and Central American countries.

It is in article two of the proposed constitution that citizenship in Spain is defined. Ever since Spain ceased to be a real power in the continent she colonized there have been fervent assurances from both sides of her spiritual primacy. But they were just mere words. The commission has decided to give this primacy some material basis.

Might Apply to Portuguese.

Spaniards now residing in Latin America would be entitled to take up citizenship in their adopted countries and at the same time maintain sole rights as Spanish citizens. For some countries which do not care for citizenry with double affiliation there would be a provision that an agreement treaty would be required.

The real sensation in the commission's step is the fact that dual citizenship might likewise apply to the Portuguese in the new world. This would be an obvious flirtation for an eventual Iberian union between Spain and Portugal.

Radical elements, which are mostly interested in consolidating the spiritual hegemony of Latin America and incidentally diminishing Yankee influences, dominate the commission. But of the parties represented on it proportionally, the project seems sure to pass.

Hate to Give up Nationality.

There is a strong sentimental appeal in the fact that Spanish emigrants, who number 40,000 yearly, hate to give up their nationality, and their insistence on keeping it creates difficulties in their new homes. There are practical difficulties, such as marriages under the laws of their adopted countries when performed before Spanish consulates and therefore technically void.

Almost a month has passed since parliament convened and nothing has been done. Warnings from all sides that the nation's new life must begin by harvest time, unless grave risks be run, has incited sudden desire for speed. Provisional President Alcala Zamora yesterday announced that emergency agrarian reforms, under which large estates will be turned over to the peasants, will be brought before the assembly immediately.

FACTOR DEFENSE MOTIONS LOST; CASE CONTINUED

United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday overruled two motions by defense attorneys for John "Jake the Barber" Factor, wanted in England for alleged embezzlement of $7,000,000 in fraudulent stock manipulations, and continued hearing on the case until 2 p. m. tomorrow. The first defense motion sought to suppress all proceedings before the commissioner, pending the outcome of habeas corpus action in the Supreme court. The second motion sought a continuance for 20 days to give the defense opportunity to bring expert witnesses from England to testify in the case. Arguments on the admissibility of depositions taken in England will be heard tomorrow when the case is resumed.

Urge Survey to Discover Gasoline Tax Evaders

Recommendations for a survey of Illinois and nearby states to discover evaders of state gasoline taxes were adopted yesterday by the middle western regional code committee of the American Petroleum Institute, meeting at the Stevens hotel. Paul Hudlick, secretary of the institute, pointed out that tax evaders have an unfair competitive advantage over honest sellers of gasoline.

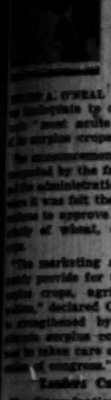
...eration Will Demand Equalization Fee.

BY PAUL POTTER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
..., Wis., Aug. 11.—[Special.] ... open break between a national farm organization and the forces administering the federal farm marketing act was made here tonight as E. A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation announced in a meeting of eleven state farm bureau leaders that the federation "must renew its demand for an equalization fee" and that the present marketing act is inadequate to cope with agriculture's "most acute problem—control of the surplus crops."



EDWARD A. O'NEAL

The announcement was said to be regarded by the farm board officials of the administration in Washington, where it was felt the federation would refuse to approve the government's stabilization of wheat, cotton and other crops.

"The marketing act does not adequately provide for the control of the surplus crops, agriculture's biggest problem," declared O'Neal. "It must be strengthened by adoption of an effective surplus control plan. This must be taken care of during the next session of congress."

Leaders Canvassed.

The determination to renew the federation's eight year advocacy of equalization fee, twice vetoed by hoover, was reached, O'Neal said, after sounding out the sentiment of farm leaders in every section of the country.

"The federation has always stood on the principle of the equalization fee expressed in the old McNary-Haugen bill, which provides that each unit of a commodity produced shall pay its fair share of the cost of disposal of surplus," O'Neal said.

"Failing to see the marketing act ... tried out, the organization for ... years has not insisted upon enactment of the fee principle. It now seems all too plain that the present act does not adequately provide for the needed surplus control.

Leaders to See Roosevelt.

"Also in eight years the federation has differed with other farm groups, although it is the largest with over a million farm members, in pressing the fee principle on congress. Recent agitation of the surplus question has led to Frank O. Lowden, who endorsed the fee plan when the Republicans overruled him at Kansas City. Lowden will shortly meet Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and other democratic leaders, presumably to revive the farm issue, it was learned here. O'Neal is also known to have conferred with President Hoover within the last ten days.

CALLS SESSION TO PUSH FARM CO-OP. PROGRAM

Another step in the correlation of agricultural forces of the nation behind a united plan of developing effective marketing of farm products was announced yesterday when the American Farm Bureau federation issued a call for a conference of state college and extension presidents and leaders, to be held in Chicago, Sept. 14 and 15.

SECRETARY HYDE.

Two previous meetings have been held; at the federation's call, with farm organization officials and cooperative marketing leaders formulated plans to campaign in defense of the federal farm board.

The third conference, to be held in Hotel Sherman, will be attended by James C. Stone, chairman of the federal farm board, and by Secretary of Agriculture A. M. Hyde, the federation's headquarters announced yesterday.

Two Held to Grand Jury on Kidnaping Charge

Fred La Marche, 23 years old, and Ray Wallace, 22 years old, were held to the grand jury in bonds of $100,000 each by Judge John J. Rooney in the Felony court yesterday on a charge of kidnaping. The pair, who said they lived at the Bellview hotel, 459 North Clark street, are alleged to have forced John Hough, 29 years old, 5560 Hamilton street, a purchasing agent for the Central Republic Bank and Trust company, to drive them to Millbrook on Aug. 6, where Hough attracted the attention of police and effected his escape.

VITA-FRESH

NOTE TO COFFEE PACKERS—Coffee packers desiring to employ General Foods Corporation method of packing Maxwell House Coffee should communicate with the American Can Company, 230 Park Avenue, New York, New York, which is exclusively authorized to grant the right to use this method

The new MAXWELL HOUSE process surpasses them all

Until you taste Maxwell House Coffee as it comes to you in the new Vita-Fresh can—you do not know how delicious, how delicately fragrant, how full-bodied and full-flavored coffee can be.

That is a strong statement—but no stronger than the scientific facts justify—no more emphatic than the praise which has greeted the introduction of the coffee itself.

The defeat of Oxygen—flavor hijacker

For years coffee packers have sought to deliver coffee to you as full-flavored as it came from the roaster.

These years are marked with milestones of gradual progress—the bag, the can, scheduled deliveries, the "vacuum" sealed can.

Only recently science discovered the real enemy of flavor—Oxygen—in every breath of air we breathe.

Oxygen seeps into every bag—lurks in every can—stubbornly remains even in the usual "vacuum."

Just read these amazing facts. These facts were established in a leading eastern university and were published in "Food Industries" (September, 1930).

In 9 days after roasting, coffee, loose or in bags, loses 65% of its flavor
In 9 days, coffee in old-fashioned cans loses 45% of its flavor —flavor you pay for but do not receive!

And even the "vacuum" package—far superior to any previous protection—contains ten times as much air, ten times as much Oxygen, as the new Vita-Fresh package of Maxwell House Coffee.

That is why old friends of this famous southern blend are finding new and piquant pleasure in this magnificent coffee.

That is why coffee lovers by thousands and tens of thousands are swinging to Maxwell House Coffee after one thrilling and memorable trial.

We invite you to try ... at our risk

This full-flavored Maxwell House Coffee is waiting for you at your grocer's. Please do not accept what is said here on faith. Try for yourself—and be the sole judge of merit. Order a pound of Maxwell House Coffee. Prepare it in your usual way. Serve it to your family—and if all do not agree that this is the finest coffee they ever drank—if you do not find that you get extra flavor for your money in every pound—simply return the can with unused portion to the grocer and he will refund your money.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE LEGION AND THE PACIFISTS.

A magazine writer in the current issue of one of the monthlies criticises the American Legion because it supports military preparedness. This is consistent with pacifist monomania. The complaint is common to the addicts. The person who regards the military function as a part of the orderly processes of the country and who expects that the government will maintain it as it does other necessary responsibilities of administration is in turn regarded by the compellers of peace as an enemy of the rational order of society.

The American Legion is composed mostly of men who were called out of civil pursuits to bear arms. None of them had any part in making the occasion which required them to give up all their normal ways of life and be subjected to unusual pressure, discomfort, and danger. All of the four million got a wrench of some sort. Two million of them were transported overseas, where many were killed, wounded or died of sickness. All who went across were subjected to the hasard of submarine attack.

The training camp men whose experiences in the army were cut short on this side of the Atlantic because the war came to an end before they could be trained and shipped had at least the rigors of intensive schooling and discipline, the separation from their families and the dislocation of their profitable private enterprises. The four million or so of men taken for military service had these experiences, ranging from the training camp to the battlefield. The occasion for it developed under pacifist administration of government.

Mr. Wilson's great contribution to humanity was to be his protection of the United States from war. His secretary of state was Mr. Bryan—up to the moment of the big explosion. Mr. Bryan's thirty or more peace treaties are in the state department archives, the fruit of his life, gathered with the world shaking itself to pieces in armed strife. The government was a pacifist paradise in which palms flourished and arms rusted and the United States, in consequence, went to war as naked as a newborn baby and almost as helpless. The pacifists accomplished only one thing, with full control of government. They didn't avoid the war, but they saw to it that the American troops entered it borrowing guns and begging military supplies.

In wartime the peace addicts are conscientious objectors. They will not willingly man mine sweepers or drive ambulances. The country gets the best out of them if it can keep them from obstructing enlistments, from interfering with the service of supplies and from giving encouragement or information to the enemy. Before a war they will be responsible, so far as they are able, for the inability of the country to meet the situation, and in a war they will discredit the purpose even if a government of their own has made the occasion.

It is not probable that the men who served in the world war and now are members of the American Legion will be called on again for service. It is possible that some of them may be, but it is unlikely. Their sons may be mustered in if things go wrong. Their younger fellow countrymen will have the job and they feel that it is the rankest sort of injustice to allow a country's peacetime policies to be dictated by people who will assume none of the pains and hazards when their scheme of life crashes down under a weight they themselves may have put on it.

Any theory of life must make allowance for a lot of queer antics, but indulgence of these pacifist grotesqueries with other people paying the bill is beyond any rational toleration.

BAIL BOND REFORMS IGNORED.

Assistant State's Attorney De Witt, in charge of bail bond supervision, has made a very grave accusation against the Municipal court judiciary. He asserts that judges of the court are not enforcing the provisions of the amendments made at the late session of the legislature to our faulty bail law. These amendments were extremely important, at least in their intent, which was to correct flagrant and notorious abuses of the right of bail, and especially to put a stop to the evasions of penalty by irresponsible bondsmen. This situation was one of the greatest weaknesses of our defense against organized crime, and the community will certainly demand that the well considered measures to correct it enacted by the legislature shall be given force and effect by the courts.

Mr. De Witt has therefore done a plain duty in protesting against any failure on the part of judges to enforce the new safeguards. But his duty or at any rate that of the state's attorney's office does not end with this protest. If judges are proceeding without regard to the new provisions they must be amenable to some correction, and the offense is serious enough in this matter to call for action more drastic and effectual than mere criticism or rebuke.

It is, we believe, generally felt among the more responsible members of the bar that the Municipal judiciary, with some creditable exceptions, is not on the level it should attain. Mr. De Witt's charge strongly supports this view and should be followed up. There is no department of law enforcement which is more subject to the covert influences of that alliance of organized crime and corrupt politics, which we have come to recognize as the real enemy of law and order, than the Municipal courts, and if there is failure to effectuate the new safeguards against abuse of bail by any of the Municipal judges it should not only be exposed but severely penalized.

PAY WITHOUT WORK.

Over a hundred moving picture exhibitors in and about Chicago have closed their theaters by agreement. They are fighting the requirement of the officers of the motion picture operators' union for two operators in each theater. In the recent session of the legislature a bill was introduced to make this ruling a state law. Evidently it is not seriously contended that each theater needs two operators for the work, for the safety of the public or the convenience of the patrons. The union scale of wages is high, but the exhibitors do not complain of that. They object to carrying an unneeded employé and the union officers demand that each theater provide two jobs regardless of its necessities.

Many neighborhood theaters are open for two shows, from 7 to 11 in the evening, with afternoon exhibitions Saturday and Sunday. The hours per day, the days per week and the pay, the usual essentials of controversy, are not in this dispute. There is an assertion on one side that a business shall accept a ratio of jobs regardless of its needs and on the other a refusal to conduct a business except upon the basis of work to be done. The situation is not an unusual one. It has arisen before in other business and industry. Underlying it is a doctrine that an enterprise must be conducted in such a way as to provide an arbitrarily fixed wage to an arbitrary assignment of employés and that the management must absorb the costs into a productive system and succeed with it. The management may find the method by which it can be done.

Although such experience is not unusual it has no long run record of success. It has wrecked some enterprises and some organizations of employés. There is an inexorable logic which will not be satisfied with a pensioning system of industry. In time it will break down any profit seeking scheme carrying a deadhead load. The coal industry has been ruined by the injection, among other causes, of such theories. The railroads have had a touch of it to their great detriment. When the inevitable failure has been registered the employés are the chief sufferers.

Private enterprise cannot have as its underlying principle the necessity of providing a certain number of jobs at an arbitrary wage, nor can public works have as their objective the enrichment of the politicians controlling them. The latter system will endure longer because its sources of revenue are not related to its own production, but it will go broke, as taxpayers the world over are discovering.

When costs have overweighed an industry a competitive industry will take its place or machinery will take the place of the human being. Competition is too inventive and resourceful to carry the burden of uneconomic factors which destroy profits. Another fuel will take the place of coal, a truck will carry the load of a freight car, a mechanism will take the place of hands. Some years ago the theaters were in difficulty with the demands of the musicians, but lately the musicians have been trying to arouse a sentimental protest from an indifferent public against the use of mechanical music in show places.

There is a law of survival which will get the upper hand of legislation or other compulsion which ignores the operation of profit and loss. Compulsion which requires pay and does not require work may have a temporary success in an enterprise in its golden days of extraordinary earnings, but it has its own ruin in it.

DEFENSE OF THE GUILTY.

[New York World-Telegram.]

Where, we wonder, would lawyers be if all of them scrupulously observed the strenuous dictum of Federal Judge Hopkins of Kansas, who yesterday discoursed upon the ethics of his profession law at the federal building, where he is sitting this summer

A young man had been convicted on the charge of attempting to pass a counterfeit bill, and Judge Hopkins excoriated the defense lawyer because the defendant, after practically admitting his guilt to the judge, later took the stand and perjured himself.

Said the jurist from Kansas: "If a lawyer knows absolutely that his client is guilty, it is his duty to advise him to enter a plea of guilty."

That no doubt sounds very strange to defense lawyers, especially to those who get the biggest fees. For the man who is in the worst trouble and the most guilty is the one who digs up the most for lawyers. Usually, in fact, it is guilty men who are being tried. If all lawyers for all guilty defendants advised their clients to plead guilty, the profession of criminal law would be on the rocks tomorrow.

Judge Hopkins made, however, certain provision against disaster to criminal lawyers by adding: "If the client insists on trial, then the lawyer should act to the best of his ability in seeing that he has a fair trial."

How would an ethical lawyer see that a guilty client got a fair trial—by seeing that his guilt was not exaggerated? Or would he do so by the expedient of advising him to keep his mouth closed?

The law is blessed with many parachutes for defense lawyers in distress. Possibly Judge Hopkins himself, in the trial of Jack "Legs" Diamond, upon which he is embarking, will have occasion to charge the jury that every man is innocent in the eyes of the law until proved guilty.

That itself gives much ethical leeway to defense lawyers, who make vast aggregate fees each year by admonishing guilty clients to sit silent, by using the noblest fundamentals of the law to defeat its noblest purposes. Judge Hopkins is on more practical ground when he condemns lawyers who bring perjured testimony before courts.

"There is lots of perjury in the courts," he said, "and it is my feeling that it must be with the knowledge of the lawyers who get the benefits of it."

Judge Hopkins' ideals are a challenge to the bar. And his straight speaking to the lawyers at yesterday's trial was refreshing.

KEEPING COOL.

If the temperature of the air around us, wherever we happen to be, is higher than that of the body, employment of fans is worse than useless. It does no good to drive air by the human body unless the body can give some heat to the air. Whenever the air gives heat to the body using a fan to blow currents does more harm than good. The same observation applies to hot southwest winds, or hot winds from any quarter.

These statements require some minor exceptions. If a man has a fever of, say, 105, even moderately hot air feels somewhat cool to him. If a man must fan himself the level at which the rule begins to work is changed a few degrees.

When the temperature of the air approaches that of the body the latter no longer can lose heat by convection or, maybe, radiation. From that point on cooling is dependent alone on evaporation. Therefore, dry hot air is very much more cooling than wet hot air. If the hot air is carrying all of the moisture it can carry at body temperature it cannot possibly feel cool or reduce body temperature. To use a fan in such circumstances is a waste and it may cause disaster. If it is at, say, 85 degrees and saturated with moisture at that temperature, sending it by the body may promote comfort slightly. The body heats the air somewhat and, in doing so, increases the capacity for moisture.

Sprinkling the floors and pavements in hot weather may make the heat more intolerable. When situations get near the borderline it is advisable to weigh the case before doing much sprinkling. Some rainstorms make a hot day more unbearable, just as some winds do.

Psychology has much to do with comfort in hot weather. The nerves of the skin that register heat are already irritated. They send their messages of discontent into the central telephone office—the brain. If central is mad or snappy these messages may blow a plug in central. If, on the other hand, central is cool and calm there is less heating at the switchboard. In hot weather central should always be well insulated. If one looks at thermometers, discusses weather, or even thinks of it, he lessens the insulation of central and increases the discomfort felt in his skin, transmitted by the nerves and registerd in the brain.

The drinking of excessive quantities of fluids promotes discomfort. Sweat that evaporates cools. That which runs off has but little power to cool and it may increase discomfort. If garments become water soaked they become impenetrable for gases. Moderate drinking of cool water promotes comfort.

Drinking of cold water causes a secondary stomach discomfort that does not help matters any. Our taste urges us to drink sour beverages. These are burned to an ash, which helps to maintain the alkali reserve of the body. However, we need common salt as well as water and salts for the alkali reserve. Buttermilk, slightly salted, is a good drink for those who perspire a great deal. The food needs of the body are low in hot weather. It is wise to wear as few clothes as possible—to wear only enough to escape arrest for exposure.

TRAINING IS NEEDED.

Mrs. M. L. O. writes: Please tell me what I should do about my 3½ year old boy. He is very constipated most of the time. His bowels will not move unless I give him a physic or enema. He eats cereal, milk, vegetables, fruits, and mineral oil, but nothing seems to help him.

REPLY:

The constipation habit is made worse by the habitual use of physics, including mineral oil and enemas. You probably need help from a physician. The habit can be overcome by training; by the use of an abundance of water [once a day a glass of weak or normal salt solution should take the place of a glass of water]; and by diet. The diet should include plenty of fats and sour milk.

BAD CHECKS.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A gives B a check dated on a Friday. B deposits check at his bank on Friday and is notified the following Monday that check has been returned via usual clearing house channels marked "N. S. F." 1. Are there any laws permitting criminal prosecution of worthless check writers? 2. What are their penalties? 3. In the above case would the writer be liable? 4. Does the fact that writer of check had funds to cover on Friday, but did not when check was presented to clearing house for collection on Saturday or Monday, affect the writer's liability to prosecution? 5. How can writer of check be prosecuted?

E. W.

1. If the check was given for a present, as distinguished from a past consideration, it would be presumptively criminal.
2. Imprisonment.
3. See Nos. 1 and 2.
4. Liability would depend on all the facts bearing on the drawer's intention.
5. Take the matter up with the state's attorney.

FEEDER BUSES.

Chicago, July 27.—[Friend of the People.]—We heard some time ago that it was planned to put feeder buses on Higgins road from Milwaukee avenue to Harlem avenue. Is there such a plan and how soon will this work be done? Feeder buses would be a boost for that community where thousands of families have their homes, and the only service they have to depend on is twenty minutes to half hour and 10 cent fare.

N. J. H.

The new transportation ordinance provides for a bus or car line on Higgins road from Milwaukee avenue to Canfield road. The construction of this line is not contemplated at the present time, and it is improbable that any such action will be taken until the ordinance is accepted by the companies.

ABANDONED AUTOS.

Chicago, July 23.—[Friend of the People.]—I would like to know if something could be done regarding two abandoned automobiles that are a menace to the community. They are in the alley in the rear of 4138 to 4158 Ellis avenue. The children are tearing them apart and there is glass and rubbish lying all around.

An officer of the 6th district reports that these cars have now been moved from the alley.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

READERS, no doubt, often wonder just what effect, if any, is produced by their letters "scolding" column conductors or editors of various newspaper departments for some policy or article of which they do not approve. Answer naturally has such wide ramifications that it cannot be succinct. In general, such letters must gratify, to a certain extent, because of their basic implication of reader interest.

Unlike editorials, which must reflect principles, or general news matter, which must present world happenings, departments and columns are intended to inform and interest. Their sponsors always are feeling for such reader interest. Therefore, a sound, frank criticism or suggestion written in a fair minded spirit, is appreciated. It may not always bring results, because 2,000,000 readers will not be one-minded in what they wish, but it will cause thought and receive consideration. Letters simply abusive, with no constructive thought, defeat, in part, their purpose.

Since calling in annual reunion Liners and Wakers, the Wake-Line has received many communications. Happily, most of them have been kindly. We have been confirmed in opinion of some features to be added or admitted to the column. We have had doubt raised in our own mind as to some others. So, Helpers, you see that to a certain extent by your letters and to a greater extent by your contributions you determine your own reading matter in this particular niche.

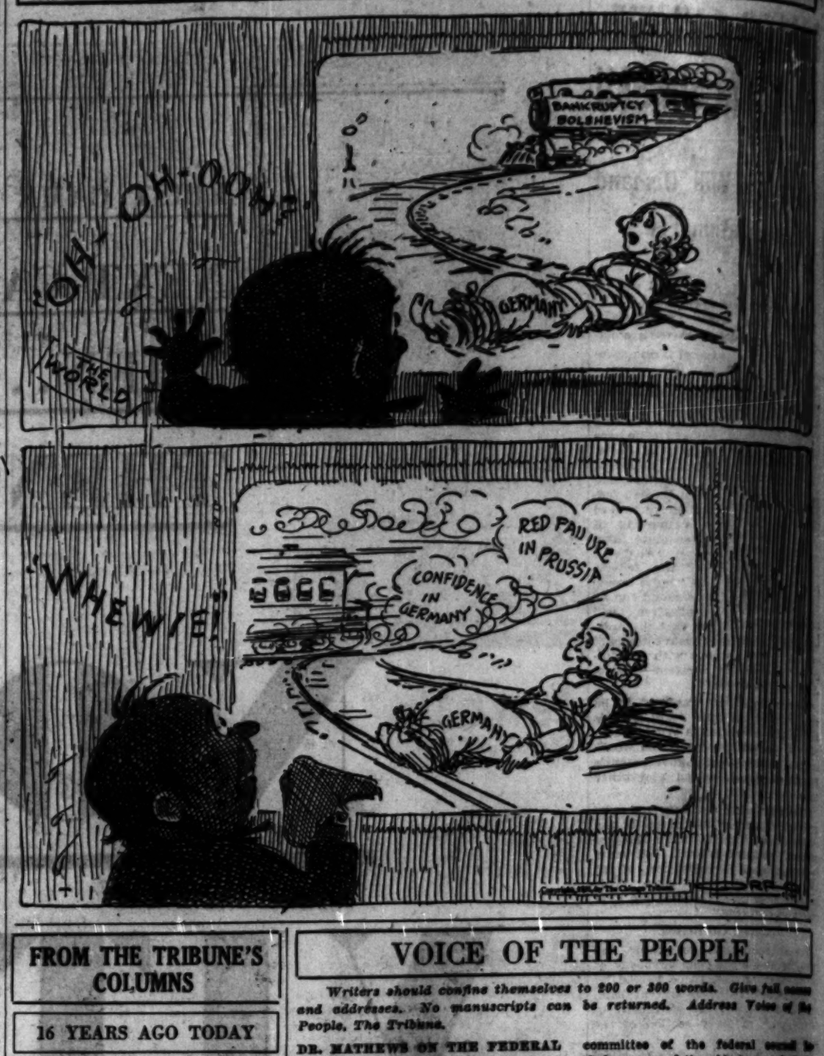
THE THRILLER



FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 12, 1915.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Gen. Frederick Funston has sent a report to Washington on the border troubles, indicating that the organizers are enticing Mexicans under the "Plan of San Diego," which calls for the death of every American male over the age of 16 in Texas along the Rio Grande, New Mexico, Colorado, Arizona, and California. This would be followed by the seizure of these states and the establishment of a republic for Mexicans, Negroes, Japanese, and Chinese. The seizure of the Rio Grande valley country, once a part of Mexico, was to be the first step.

LONDON.—An Athens dispatch says that the Turkish cruiser Goeben, which was renamed the Sultan Selim, after its sale by Germany to Turkey, has been torpedoed by an allied submarine near the Bosporus. The crew ran the warship to shore.

ROME.—It is officially announced that the Austrian submarine U-12 has been torpedoed and sunk with all hands in the upper Adriatic sea by an Italian submarine.

LONDON.—The official Gazette announced that Sir David Beatty has been promoted to be a vice admiral. He is only 45 years old and the youngest officer ever promoted to that rank in the British navy. His wife was Ethel Field, daughter of the late Marshall Field of Chicago.

LONDON.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg has taken charge of the operations against Riga, the great Russian seaport on the Baltic, and has repulsed strong Russian attacks on the Mitau-Riga road, the German official announcement says.

AUGUST 12, 1901.

CHICAGO.—The national strike of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers received a body blow when workmen in South Chicago and Milwaukee plants voted with great emphasis not to strike. At Joliet the men deferred final action, but a similar result is expected when they reach a decision. Steel operators are jubilant and claim they have the big strike broken. The Steel corporation reported resumption of work in some of the plants in the east.

CRONBERG.—King Edward of England stood beside Kaiser Wilhelm in the church at Cronberg during the requiem services over the remains of the Dowager Empress Frederick. The funeral services were made picturesque by the varied uniforms of kings and princes, while the presence of hussars and troops of the line added color to the scene.

AUGUST 12, 1881.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—All advices regarding the President's condition continue to be reassuring. The afternoon fever did not differ materially from that of the day before. During the day the President took nearly two pounds of solid and liquid food without gastric disturbance.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—The funeral of Gen. Robert Patterson took place from the family residence and was attended by a large assemblage. The pallbearers were Gens. Grant, Sherman, Porter, and Hancock, Joseph Patterson, John Welsh, Judge Biddle, and William H. Drayton. Other generals present were Moth, Herring, Schofield, Lamotte, Hoffman, Sickles, and Hartranft.

QUINCY, Ill.—The funeral of Orville H. Browning, former secretary of the interior and long a leading figure in the politics of Illinois, will be held Aug. 13. A large number of the leading citizens of the state are expected to attend. He was 75 years old. His first political experience was as state senator from Adams county. In 1843 he ran as a Whig candidate for congress but was defeated by a small majority by Stephen A. Douglas. On Senator Douglas' death, in 1861, Gov. Yates appointed Mr. Browning to the vacant seat. He was appointed secretary of the interior by President Johnson.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—Mrs. Caroline C. Fillmore, widow of former President Millard Fillmore, died from a stroke of apoplexy at the age of 70. She and Mr. Fillmore were married after he left the President's office.

DR. MATHEWS ON THE FEDERAL COUNCIL.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—As a former president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, I am naturally anxious that its position be presented as accurately as possible to the public. The administrative committee has called my attention to the article of Mr. Henning which appeared in THE TRIBUNE under date of July 28, in which he describes the combination of the various religious groups to support the dry law. I should like, if I may, to comment on such of his statements as referred to the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

In the first place, it would not be fair to say that the federal council concentrates its efforts on the action of the government dealing with world peace, disarmament, national defense, immigration, labor, industry, and foreign relations. The federal council is composed of representatives officially appointed by twenty-six denominations for the purpose of setting up joint action in the field of morals and religion. Thus, it has, among other departments, those on evangelism, Christian education, rural church, family life, coöperation between white and Negro churches, the development of good will between Jews and Christians, the support of the army and navy chaplains, and, finally, the development and assistance of local and state councils of churches. Each of these departments is organized with a permanent secretary and their work constitutes by all means the great bulk of the work of the federal council.

In the second place, in so far as the federal council touches on matters on which legislation exists or is pending (as international good will and the family), its approach is absolutely nonpolitical. Whatever influence it attempts to exert is that of the public opinion which is in accordance with the basic ideas of the Christian religion. In such work it is exceedingly careful to avoid complications with political parties and to keep from intruding religious issues as such into partisan politics. So far as I can recall, it has never, for example, urged the election of a man because he is a member of one of the Protestant denominations.

In the third place, its income, according to the annual statement of certified public accountants who audit its books, shows that its total expenditure for 1930 was $458,581.97. Not one dollar of this was expended for anything that could be properly called political activity, but almost the entire amount was spent for the religious work carried on by the departments already mentioned.

In the fourth place, the federal council does not employ a lobby in Washington or anywhere else. Its methods are those of education and appeal to churches to represent and champion Christian principles rather than use any form of external pressure. The reference to influence which Bishop McConnell is said to have made, in Mr. Henning's quotation, is shown by the context to be that of moral and spiritual ideals. Such influence is not only legitimate but admittedly the function of the Christian churches.

In the fifth place, the administrative committee of the federal council includes some of the ablest men of all the churches which are represented in the council. These men are appointed by the denominations.

An examination of the list of the men who are engaged with the council will show that the council's work represents the best elements of American Protestantism. Its value has been so far recognized that it has served as a model of similar organizations in other countries than the United States.

For twenty years I have been associated with its official activity, and have been impressed with the good sense and sincerity of the men who, through it, represent the religious interests of its constituent Protestant denominations. Its work should not be confused with that of various reform organizations directly engaged in politics.

FASTER TRAINS.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—I was interested in your editorial in this morning's TRIBUNE under caption, "Faster Trains," in which subject previous articles have also appeared in your paper.

On July 12 last we took forty-five minutes out of Capitol Limited between Washington and Chicago and one hour between Chicago and New York. We took one hour out of schedule of our No. 18 between Chicago and Akron, thus making during daylight saving period a midnight departure from Chicago, with arrival at Akron at the same time as when the train left here one hour earlier. In addition to this, we reduced the running time of this train fifteen minutes between Akron and Washington, thereby making No. 18 one hour and fifteen minutes faster between Chicago and Washington.

We also have shortened up the run on No. 10 between Chicago and Pittsburgh twenty-five minutes and an additional fifteen minutes between the latter point and Washington, thereby shortening the schedule between Chicago and Washington on this train forty minutes.

SOCIALISATION.

Chicago, July 26.—In your editorial today captioned "Socialization," you say: "Wisconsin labor enjoys the highest standard of living in the world." I agree with this. It was the La Follette progressives who made it so. Watch the further increased improvements under the leadership of the young governor, Philip La Follette. HERMAN TOMS.

ANATOMICAL NOTE.

Chicago, July 27.—When short dresses for women first became stylish, most of the legs looked pretty fierce. But look at them now and you'll find very few that aren't at least passable.

If the men would become leg conscious by wearing shorts during the hot days and long trousers at night for "dress" wear, their legs also would improve.

COLORED CHORUS THRILLS AT MUSIC FETE REHEARSAL

Thousand Voices to Sing Old Spirituals.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

[illegible] and three and casual half dozen, [illegible] hall at 5536 Indiana ave- [illegible] was resolving recruits last night [illegible] the great Negro chorus that will [illegible] feature of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE [illegible] Festival in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 22. Until long after 9 o'clock they came trooping in to [illegible] the chairs and benches far be- [illegible] assembly; to swell the groups of [illegible] soprano or booming bass; to sing [illegible] songs that like Topsy have "jest growed 'em," until they constitute the very soul and fiber of a racial tradition.

The spirituals took on new har- [illegible] under with workmanlike rapidity [illegible] the deft direction of William [illegible] Smith of the Olivet Baptist [illegible]. Ten minutes after he had [illegible] through the first line of a melody [illegible] from before him knew it. Then [illegible] a beat before the crowd and almost [illegible] patted and pulled that melody [illegible] its proper, perfect pattern, now [illegible] with an imploring jerk of a forearm [illegible] a rising crescendo, and again with [illegible] a tapering wave of the hand for [illegible] plaintive chords.

Thousand Will Sing.

[illegible] well he succeeded the throng [illegible] the stadium a week from Saturday [illegible] can testify, when they hear ap- [illegible] proximately a thousand Negro men [illegible] and women singing lustily, yet with a [illegible] real appreciation of its cadence, a [illegible] spiritual hymn, thus:

[illegible] I'm up, sometimes I'm down,
[illegible] I'm almost heavenly bound

CHORUS.

[illegible] to ask Heaven my home,
[illegible] trumpin', trumpin',
[illegible] to ask Heaven my home.

[illegible] to the valley and I didn't go to
[illegible] to ask Heaven my home.
[illegible] and I stayed all day,
[illegible] to ask Heaven my home.

[illegible] and woman from every part of [illegible] side flocked to the rehearsal [illegible] night. Four hundred voices caught [illegible] the old tunes and flung them out [illegible] the inadequate reaches of Igoe [illegible], never built originally to assimi- [illegible] the acoustics of such an assem- [illegible] of singers, and the walls beat [illegible] upon them the resounding [illegible] until the ears were more than [illegible] with music.

[illegible] hundred are expected to attend [illegible] rehearsal at the same time [illegible] tomorrow night as the or- [illegible] ganization rounds into shape. Before [illegible] final practice more than 1,000 will [illegible] added to the festival program.

Stars Rehearse Tomorrow.

[illegible] of a real sensation is in [illegible] for the festival crowd when [illegible] Downs, a large man with a [illegible] bass voice, stands up and in- [illegible]

"When Israel was in Egypt's land,"

PRODIGAL KEEPS HIS ABSENCE A DEEP MYSTERY

The strange interval of three years in the life of Franz Dunbar of Plano remained as complete an enigma yesterday as when it was terminated on Monday by Franz himself, riding nonchalantly down the road on a big black horse, into the farmyard of his old home. Still in the cowboy regalia in which his reappearance was staged, Franz worked right along yesterday with the threshers on his father's farm, as gaily loquacious as the sphinx. Once or twice he interrupted himself to inform inquisitors that he had nothing to say.

Meanwhile Franz' wife, a bride of two months when Franz took French leave, waited for him to break the silence he has maintained toward her and explain where he went and why. But apparently he hasn't any intention of recognizing her now, any more than when he rode calmly past her automobile on the road east of Plano Monday evening, ignoring her shrieks of greeting.

4 MORE POLICE CAPTAINS TELL OF BANK FUNDS

Four more police captains were questioned last night by the special grand jury investigating official corruption in Cook county. The theme of the investigation was the captains' bank accounts.

Tonight, it was announced, Acting Police Commissioner Alcock will be quizzed again on his financial affairs. After a previous questioning Commissioner Alcock was reported to have refused to go into these matters. Judge McGoorty supported his stand.

The captains before the grand jury last night were Michael Delaney of the Stock Yards district, Michael Grady of Kensington, Michael Tobin of Brighton Park, and George P. O'Connor, head of the gambling squad under several administrations. Another witness was James Aldrich, an investigator for the state's attorney's office until last Friday. All are said to have answered all the questions put to them.

Colors of 10 Nations

Sixteen nations will be represented Saturday night, Aug. 22, at the second Chicagoland Music Festival, sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, in Soldiers' field. There will be a feature called "The Trooping of the Colors," in which ten pretty girls, dressed in native costumes, will march onto Soldiers' field and around a huge flag pole, on which will be raised the American flag. The musical festival band of 100 pieces, under the direction of Victor J. Grabel, will play a medley of national airs as the groups approach the flagpole.

At a meeting held in Tribune Tower last night the following persons were present who will arrange for the participation of each of their countries in the number:

British empire—George H. Fenn.
Czecho-Slovakia—V. F. Cipra.
Greece—Paul Demos.
Ireland—Pat Meehan.
Sweden—John E. Ericsson, Carl A. Benson, Elmer Anderson.

Representatives from the other nations could not be present. A rehearsal of "The Trooping of the Colors" will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Soldiers' field.

AUTO PARK AUTO THEFT MYSTERY IS CLEARED UP

Constable Leo Gielow's new automobile disappeared night before last from the Oak Park police station. Search failed to locate the machine and a number of writs, attachments and other legal documents stored inside it. Consequently, Constable Gielow did considerable foot work yesterday, serving duplicate writs, attachments and such papers.

Last evening in the exact spot from where it had vanished stood his new car, dazzling in a coat of fresh polish. The mystery was solved when Joe Smith, handy man in the neighborhood, came up and said he had taken the car to a nearby lot and given it a coat of polish.

BLAST WRECKS ONE HOME; TWO MORE DAMAGED

An explosion and fire believed to have resulted from a time bomb destroyed a vacant home at 3742 North Mozart street early today, damaged two neighboring dwellings and routed several families to the street. The damage was estimated at $10,000 by Chief James Cowhey of the 4th battalion.

The homes of Everett Huyak, 3740 Mozart street, and Mrs. Margaret Skager, 3746 Mozart street, caught fire after the blast. The house in which the blast occurred had been vacant for only two weeks, police learned, but they were not able immediately to learn the name of the owner. The structure was enveloped in flames a few minutes after the blast.

URGE WATCHMAN FOR CROSSING ON WHICH 7 DIED

Jury Asks Protection for Glenview Road.

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict that the deaths of seven persons in an automobile struck by a Milwaukee railroad train on the Waukegan road in Glenview on Monday were due to accident.

It was recommended that the railroad be urged to keep a watchman at the crossing, one of the most costly to life in Cook county, and that loud gongs be installed to protect the motoring public until "the highway is elevated or the railroad depressed." Testimony at the inquest showed that sixteen persons, in addition to Monday's victims, have been killed in automobile-train collisions at this point since 1925.

Witnesses Describe Crash.

Those killed on Monday were Bruno Woods, 23 years old, 936 West 32d place; his wife, Helen, 22 years old; their son, David, 7 months old; Joseph Rutkowski, 29 years old, of Milwaukee; his wife, Martha, 26 years old, a sister of Mrs. Woods; the Rutkowskis' son, Henry, 10 years old, and their daughter, Dolores, 7 years old.

Witnesses who saw the accident all agreed that Woods, driving his new sedan south, stalled it on the track as the fast passenger train, making a nonstop run of fifty-five miles, came along at a mile a minute.

Miss Lois Short, who was riding in an automobile being driven south by her father, E. R. Short of the Lake Shore Athletic club, said that she turned and looked back to behold Woods and Rutkowski trying to pull the members of their families out of the car. Similar testimony was given by Paul Adams, 2015 Dewes street, Glenview, who halted north of the crossing to let the train pass.

Tells of Stopping Train.

Wallace Mann of Fox Lake, the engineer on the train, testified that he saw the car when he was about 100 yards from it, that he threw on his brakes then and came to a stop as soon as he could. His fireman, John Kaskis of Ingleside, Ill., asserted that the flash signals at the crossing were working perfectly. This testimony was supported by Miss Short and Adams.

In addition to the deaths at the Waukegan road crossing, twelve persons have been injured there in the last six years and there were five accidents in which automobiles were damaged after the occupants had leaped for safety. Statements to this effect were made by Chief of Police J. V. Miller of Glenview at the inquest, which was conducted by Deputy Coroner Dennis Carroll.

Two automobile deaths in Cook county yesterday brought the year's toll to 691. The victims:

Emma Valek, 14 years old, 1002 West 20th place, died in the Peoples hospital of injuries suffered in a collision of two autos on Monday. The accident occurred at Peoria and 21st streets.

Fred Jones, colored, 14 years old, 4922 Indiana avenue. Killed when he fell beneath the wheels of a truck trailer at 58th street and Wabash avenue. Joseph Carroll, Brook, Ind., was the driver.

CUT ON FOOT CAUSES DEATH.

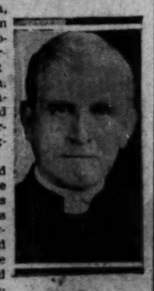
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: The Little Capitalist

FATHER O'CALLAGHAN, ABSTINENCE LEAGUE PRESIDENT, IS DEAD

The Rev. Peter J. O'Callaghan, president of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America, and well known to many Chicagoans as a former pastor of St Mary's church, 911 South Wabash avenue, died suddenly yesterday in Torrington, Conn.



FATHER O'CALLAGHAN. [(C) Harris & Ewing]

He was found dead in bed. Acute indigestion was the cause of his death. The clergyman had arrived only a short time before to attend the sixtieth annual convention of the abstinence union.

Father O'Callaghan was born in Milford, Mass., and was 65 years old this month. He was graduated from Harvard, and later from the Catholic University of America, at Washington, D. C. He came to Chicago in 1903 to serve as treasurer of St. Mary's, becoming pastor of the church a year later. He also became head of the local order of Paulist Fathers, and was active in the various movements of that organization.

The clergyman remained as pastor of the local church until 1915, when he went to the capital as rector of the Apostolic Mission house of the Catholic university, and editor of the Missionary Magazine. For years prior, he had been interested in abstinence movements, and in 1909 he was elected president of the Catholic Total Abstinence union. He was reelected subsequently, holding the office until his death.

Father O'Callaghan served as a diocesan rector of the commission on war temperance activities in the army and navy in 1917-18 and as a vice president of the National Temperance council. He was a delegate to the international anti-alcohol congresses at The Hague in 1911, at Milan in 1913, and at Copenhagen in 1923.

In recent years he made his home at Oakland, N. J., from where he continued his temperance campaign. He last appeared in Chicago in 1925 as a speaker against liquor.

FINED FOR OPERATING RESORT.

Patsy Ward, 33 years old, pleaded guilty to the charge of operating a disorderly house in Lansing and was fined $100 and costs yesterday by Justice of the Peace Frank Synskiewics in Blue Island.

ALVA C. DINKEY, CARNEGIE'S MAN FRIDAY, IS DEAD

Rose from Water Boy to Steel Magnate.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Alva C. Dinkey, who was, second only to his brother-in-law, Charles M. Schwab, the right hand man and lieutenant of Andrew Carnegie in the days before the United States Steel corporation had amalgamated Mr. Carnegie's enterprises and other independent concerns, died here today. He was in his 66th year.

On many occasions the late Mr. Carnegie referred to Mr. Dinkey as perhaps the greatest steel maker in the business, just as he always considered Mr. Schwab the greatest salesman of steel ever known to the industry.

Headed Millionaires' Club.

Mr. Dinkey was head and dean of the "Carnegie Millionaires' club," which was an organization of more than thirty men who had become millionaires through their association with the little Scotch ironmaster and steel roller who was to become laird of Skibo and pass out of the world leaving a fortune of a half billion.

Mr. Dinkey was born on Feb. 20, 1866, at Weatherley, Pa. His education was obtained in the public schools, for he had to go to work when he was still in his early teens. His career upward closely paralleled that of his long time friend and associate, Mr. Schwab. He went to work precisely as Schwab went to work, as a water boy in the old Edgar Thompson steel mills, in 1879.

Rose Steadily.

Then he became a telegraph operator and expert machinist and by the turn of the century was general superintendent of the great Homestead plant of the Carnegie Steel company. He became president of the Carnegie company in 1903 and remained in that post until 1915, when he resigned to become president of the Midvale Steel and Ordnance company, which he headed until 1923.

Mr. Dinkey in his long career was associated with most of the men who became famous in the steel industry.

Burlington, Ia., Aug. 11.—(AP)—William O. Ransom, former police desk sergeant, now retired on a pension, brought suit here today, claiming half of the $1,200,000 estate of his uncle, James J. Ransom, former physician and banker.

Dr. Ransom left his estate in trust, divided into 24 shares. W. O. Ransom was bequeathed one share, the other shares going to other nephews and nieces and to a family servant, Lena Kurrie. No provision was made as to the disposal of the principal after the death of the last heir.

Ransom alleges that his uncle died intestate and therefore he is entitled under the law to half of the estate. The other half, he claims, should go to the seven children of Dr. Ransom's sister, Mrs. H. R. Mellor. Several of the latter now live in England.

Dr. and Mrs. Ransom had no children.

Suspect Seized in Shooting Is Identified by Victim

William Hand, 2118 Osgood street, one of the two men alleged to have entered the home of Otto Krazz, 1445 Garfield avenue, early yesterday morning, and shot him in the arm, was arrested six hours after the shooting by Hudson avenue police and identified by Krazz as his assailant. Krazz said that Hand had shot him because of a fancied indignity he had done to Hand's aunt, Mrs. Florence Clemin, 1443 Custer street.

T. F. Ennis, Entertainer, Dies Suddenly in Camp

Thomas F. Ennis, 42 years old, 5606 Greenwood avenue, a radio entertainer, died suddenly yesterday in a tourist camp at Jonesville, Mich. He and his wife stopped at the camp shortly after midnight and Mrs. Ennis discovered that he was dead when she tried to awaken him in the morning. Ennis was a world war veteran. The body will be brought to Chicago for burial.

INVENTORY FILED FOR $5,000,000 ECKHART ESTATE

The inventory of the $5,000,000 estate of the late Bernard A. Eckhart, capitalist and manufacturer, who died May 10, was approved yesterday by Oscar Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horner.

In his will Mr. Eckhart, who was president of the milling company bearing his name at 1300 Carroll avenue, left the bulk of his estate to his widow, Mrs. Katie L. Eckhart, 1530 Lake Shore drive, and four children, Mrs. Hazel E. Brophy and Carlos K. Eckhart, who live with their mother, and Mrs. Dorothy E. Williams of Milwaukee, and Percy B. Eckhart, 206 Cumberland avenue, Kenilworth.

The inventory lists personal property in his home at approximately $30,000. The remainder of the estate is comprised of securities, the majority of which are of his own milling company and two securities companies he controlled. A large part of the remaining securities consists of bank stocks and United States bonds.

REPORT T. F. RYAN DISINHERITED BY HIS RICH FATHER

Sheridan, Wyo., Aug. 11.—(AP)—The Sheridan Press says Thomas F. Ryan II., grandson of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan, New York capitalist and multimillionaire, announced today he had been disinherited by his father, John Barry Ryan, financier.

Difficulties arising over young Ryan's marriage to Mrs. Mayme Masters, young widow, caused the disinheritance, the Press said.

Ryan was quoted as saying he would remain with his present wife. Rumors reached here, the Press said, that Ryan's parents would seek an annulment of the marriage.

Ryan and Mrs. Masters were married recently in Montana. Young Ryan has lived in this region intermittently for several years, spending most of his time on dude ranches.

Drivers Without Stickers Are Ordered into Court

Fred Fischman, chief city license inspector, set eight deputies to work yesterday serving court summonses on motorists who were driving without the windshield stickers recently issued by the city to vehicle tax payers. A general roundup of such offenders by the police is being held up pending an order by Mayor Cermak.

PUT IN HOSPITAL BY WIFE ACCUSED OF KIDNAPING HIM

Mate Unbalanced, She Tells Court.

Hugo Smith, wealthy invalid, who was allegedly kidnaped by his wife, Mrs. Alice K. Smith, of 2000 Lincoln Park West, and for whose release a writ of habeas corpus was filed last week, was committed to the psychopathic hospital yesterday on a petition filed by his wife.

The move was a surprise to attorneys and deputy sheriffs who had been seeking Smith and his wife since last Friday. Unknown to them, Mrs. Smith appeared in the psychopathic hospital yesterday and submitted a sworn statement before Judge J. G. Van Keuren alleging that her husband was mentally unbalanced. The petition was granted and Smith was immediately taken to the hospital, where he will remain until further court action.

Writ Raises Question.

Whether the County court order would conflict with the pending habeas corpus case was not disclosed last night, although it was believed that the habeas corpus writ would hold priority.

Smith, a paralytic, is the former head of the Medical Finance corporation and of the International Sales company, a magazine distributing concern, both of 185 North Wabash avenue. He was at one time committed to the insane asylum at Elgin, but escaped early this year and was subsequently discharged as mentally competent.

Accused of Kidnaping.

Last Thursday, it is charged, Mrs. Smith and John Dempsey, her business associate, called at the home of Shannon Smith, talked with Hugo Smith for a while, and then spirited him away. The next day Attorney Robert E. Kinnare filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in Smith's behalf before Judge James J. Kelly of the Superior court.

The writ was issued against Mrs Smith and Dempsey, ordering them to produce her husband in court. Neither they nor Smith could be found.

Attorney Kinnare announced last night that he expected to go before Judge Kelly today to seek immediate action on the habeas corpus writ. He added that he would report the case to the state's attorney's office. Attorney Kinnare saw Smith at the hospital and the latter told him, Kinnare asserted, that he was taken to Ohio over the week-end, and beaten by Dempsey.

$1,260 FRAMED ROBBERY SOLVED BY HANDWRITING

Detectives Daniel Kenny and Daniel Moriarity of the Central station turned handwriting experts last night and therewith solved the mystery of a framed $1,260 robbery. It also resulted in the arrest of Rainel Hubert, 21 years old, 6247 Blackstone avenue, and a search for his brother, Emory, 25, and their friend, Joseph Orland, 23, of Aurora.

Rainel Hubert, a cashier for the Universal Credit company, 205 Wacker drive, reported that he had been kidnaped in the loop by two men, taken to a room at 227 South Paulina street, and robbed of $1,260 which he was taking to a bank. When found the youth was lying trussed up in the room.

THREE OPINIONS ON CLEMENCY FOR FALL RECEIVED; GUARDED

Meanwhile Fall, former secretary of the interior, is completing the first weeks of his sentence at the New Mexico state penitentiary in Santa Fé. He is serving a year and a day for accepting a bribe from Edward L. Doheny in exchange for an oil lease.

The opinions received today were those of Justice William Hitz of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, who presided at Fall's trial; Atlee Pomerene, special prosecutor for the government in the oil trials, and District Attorney Leo A. Rover of Washington.

James A. Finch, federal pardon attorney, to whom the papers were submitted, declined to say today whether their receipt completed the personal investigation he has been making into the case.

The inquiry was prompted by a petition for clemency from members of the New Mexico legislature and the United States senators of that state, which was submitted to the White House and turned over to the department.

SCIENTISTS FIND SUBSTANCE THAT CAUSES CANCER?

LONDON, Aug. 11.—(AP)—The Cancer hospital at Fulham, London, announced today the discovery of a substance which, it was declared, marks a great advance toward a knowledge of "the combination of factors that make the incidence of cancer possible."

The substance, which is known as 1:2:5:6-dibenzanthracene, is an organic compound of well established chemical constitution which, it was stated, will produce cancers in the skin of mice when applied in a strength of less than 1 in 33,000. Reference to the discovery was made in the annual report of the British empire cancer campaign presented at the annual meeting in the house of lords July 20, where it was hailed as one of the two outstanding successes achieved in the last year, "even though it is still impossible to apply them directly to human beings or fully to appreciate their ultimate significance."

The other success was the production of a substance from artificially prepared anti-cancerous serum which was said to have cured implanted cancer in mice and to have been efficient in a certain proportion of spontaneous cases occurring in these animals.

RADIO LICENSE IS REISSUED TO REV. BOB SHULER

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Reissuance of a license to the Rev. Bob Shuler's station, KGEF, Trinity Methodist church, South, Los Angeles, was recommended to the federal radio commission today by its chief examiner.

Renewal had been bitterly opposed by Lloyd Nix, former city prosecutor, against whom Shuler had broadcast attacks. Other officials, many of whom had also been subject to Shuler's radio criticism, testified against him in a prolonged hearing in Los Angeles last January.

Examiner Ellis A. Yost said Dr. Shuler had been "extremely indiscreet," but to justify a denial of license, the pastor's utterances would have to be "of such public disservice as to outweigh all public service rendered by all other broadcasts made over applicant station." Such was not the case, Yost said.

The commission, Yost pointed out, was not empowered to censor programs, but he warned that "a radio broadcasting license does not confer upon any one the right to broadcast slanderous or libelous matter," and that "no one had a right under guise of free speech to use a radio license to injure fellow citizens."

Fate Becomes Mid-Victorian for This Novel

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

To those readers who remember with pleasure the delicacy and fragrance of another day, caught forever by Mrs. Gaskell in the pages of "Cranford," Naomi Royde-Smith's new book, "The Delicate Situation," is offered, like a glass of elderberry wine and a sugar cookie on a silver tray, for their delectation. It is full of the same atmosphere, the same flavor that have made "Cranford," the chronicles of the life of a small group of people in a small town, something of a classic.

NAOMI ROYDE-SMITH.

"The Delicate Situation" [Harpers] is not only faithful in every tiniest detail to the uneventful yet portentous days of a little English town in the middle years of the 19th century, it is actually written by a mid-Victorian mind, for the author has transported herself out of this century and set into another where time, somehow, moves more slowly, more gently, where different, strictly conventional rules and ideals prevailed. Naomi Royde-Smith has, for the purposes of her story, become a contemporary of Charlotte Bronte, Mrs. Gaskell and Charlotte Yonge. Her style is strongly influenced by them, and any or all of her characters could step into "Cranford" or "Jane Eyre" and feel perfectly at home.

The task the author set herself: that of forgetting entirely the era in which she lives and of living only in the era which she describes, and that in historical period, is no light one, but it is accomplished with a precision and skill that make this novel a fine achievement.

It is, of course, slow reading. The plot unfolds itself gradually, meticulously. What in the crowded activity of our modern day would be the affair of a moment, forgotten as soon as head touches pillow, are the momentous occurrences in the lives of the people of Queen's Beaton. The most trivial happenings furnish food for conversation and reflection for days on end, and taking a book from the library run by little Miss Martin at Chantry House is a transaction of such weight, accomplished only after thorough investigation and discussion of its contents.

Everything is very genteel. Ladies are ladies and gentlemen are heroes. Brides are gifts of God and not the result of a biological process of nature. Young girls are sheltered from their infancy to their wedding day and once wed, their lives are circumscribed by the four walls of their homes. They escape only via the media of books.

The story of "The Delicate Situation" concerns two sweet, middle aged ladies, Christina Martin, and her friend Lena Quibell, and Miss Quibell's niece, Mary Paradise. Mary comes to live with the two in Queen's Beaton, after an education [limited] on the continent. Her parents are dead, and although she thinks herself the daughter of William Paradise, a merchant of Bristol, he was not really her father. Lena, remembering the hush love affair of her sister Madge, Mary's mother, tries to prevent the repetition of such an unhappy romance in the life of the young girl.

But fate is stronger. (It often was in the mid-Victorian era.) James Smyrl, the son of Lady Gervaise of Castle, a handsome and wild young man, woos Mary, and the old, old story of innocence betrayed is the outcome of the love affair. It is the author's handling of "the delicate situation" that gives it new life and power and makes the Mary of the end a singularly appealing person, a helpless against the tides of a great passion as she is beautiful and exquisite.

It is like turning back the pages of an old family album to see her with her great, dark eyes, her fragile figure set off by a voluminous crinoline; to behold her lover, bold, commanding, a riding whip in one hand, his hat in the other; to glimpse little Miss Smith, her crisp hair on bunched curls on either side of her small, snub-nosed face, her fingers forever busy with her embroidery.

If Theodore Dreiser hadn't kicked up a legal fuss about Samuel Hoffenstein's screen adaptation of his "American Tragedy," we'd all sum it up as a good movie and let it go at that. Now, however, a lot of persons may feel they ought to get wrought up about the comparative sociological values of the book and film version.

Being one of those simple minded ladies who can't understand why book reviewers are so generous to Mr. Dreiser, I'm inclined to ask "What's all the shoutin' for?" Why shouldn't Mr. Dreiser say "thank you" to Paramount for the $130,000 it paid him for the screen rights, and why shouldn't he thank Josef von Sternberg for having made such a good picture from his gruesome tale?

The picture follows the book with remarkable fidelity. The plot [even persons who didn't read the book are familiar with it by this time] concerns a boy who plans deliberately to drown a trusting, penniless factory girl and her unborn baby in order that he may marry another girl of wealth and position. At the last moment he lacks courage to commit the murder. The girl, terrified, ACCIDENTALLY falls into the water and the boat overturns. The boy lets her drown and swims off to the shore. He is tried and executed for murder.

The boy, as played by Phillips Holmes, doesn't win the sympathy that Mr. Dreiser thinks he deserves. The author maintains that the crime was not his fault, but the fault of society in general. The same thing may be said of almost any crime, and reaction in such a case depends upon the individual.

The picture is well directed through, out and benefits from Mr. Von Sternberg's fondness for excellent photography. Some of the players contribute little to their rôles, but the whole story moves on to its sad finish with sureness and dignity. Phillips Holmes does as well as anybody could with his difficult rôle as the boy and Sylvia Sidney, as the ill fated girl, wins your sympathy immediately.

The trial scenes are realistically presented and the sarcastic battling of the opposing attorneys afford the only laughs in the sad proceedings. It seems to me Paramount deserves commendation for producing a picture that diverges so much from the conventional pattern.

The United Artists theater was packed for the first show yesterday and there was a line half way down to State street waiting for the second performance.

Movie Gossip from Hollywood

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

LORETTA YOUNG.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Jackie Cooper is the one lone male in Hollywood who goes to the Brown Derby who can appear at that fashionable eating place wearing no coat. Knee pants, starched white shirt, knees scrubbed clean, Jackie often lunches there with his mother, gravely shaking hands with film friends and soberly discussing this and that.

Sally Blane and her sister, Loretta Young, are working on the same film lot for the first time in their career. Sally plays feminine lead in Columbia's "Ghost Walks," and Loretta is the newspaper sob sister who finally wins the star reporter, Robert Williams, in spite of his being married to the society girl [Jean Harlow] in "Gallagher," on an adjoining set.

Retainers Fear Sale of Glamis Castle as British Taxes Rise

Announcement by the earl of Strathmore, father-in-law of King George's second son, the duke of York, that he may have to abandon residence of Glamis castle because of high taxes, has cast a somber spell upon the retainers of the estate.

The big stone pile, mistakenly selected by Shakespeare as the scene of the Legend of Macbeth, has been the seat of the family since the early part of the sixteenth century. Its high square tower, with walls 15 feet thick, is even older. It was built some time after the days of Macbeth, Thane of Cawdor, how died in 1057.

Shakespeare is supposed to have selected the stronghold as the scene for his tragedy because King Malcolm II. died or was murdered somewhere in the neighborhood. Macbeth was said to have murdered a king and the Bard of Avon welded the various circumstances into a composite whole for stage purposes.

ANGLE NOW TRISECTED. DUQUESNE UNIVERSITY SAYS IN STATEMENT

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Trisection of the angle by Euclidean geometry, believed for 2,500 years to be impossible, has been accomplished by the Very Rev. J. J. Callahan, president of Duquesne university, according to an announcement made today at that university.

The problem was one of three problems of geometry considered insoluble, the announcement said. The others are the reduplication of the cube; that is, finding a cube with volume double that of a given cube; and the squaring of the circle, or finding a square or some other rectilinear figure equal to area in a given circle.

Hippias of Elis, a contemporary of Socrates, probably was the first to have attempted to trisect the angle, according to authorities on mathematics.

Father Callahan is a mathematician of note and has been credited with first proving the Euclidean postulate, that parallel lines will not meet, no matter how far produced. He is the author of a book, "Euclid or Einstein," which will be published next month.

Press of World Gains in Power, Diplomat Says

May Decide Peace or War, Editors Told.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 11.—Ambassador J. Reuben Clark Jr. spoke today before the Press Congress of the World. He was roundly applauded.

After the morning session the congress visited Chapultepec castle and the delegates were received by President Ortiz Rubio. He welcomed the press delegates as messengers of universal good will.

"One of the handicaps of our present life," Mr. Clark said, "is that its intricate, highly specialized complexity has brought to each man the need of trying to know something about everything. The result is that few know much about anything, and too many know nothing about anything.

"That the mental processes of news sources are sometimes slow, halting, or illogical, and that their observations and deductions do not present true pictures, must not be a cause for wonderment.

"May I note at this point, the curious fact that a mob normally responds to the impulses and standards of the lowest, not the highest, type of its members; that the aggregate standards and morals of a nation seem below the standards of the average of its nationals.

"Statesmen have been known who in their private lives abhorred falsehood and duplicity yet who would, without a qualm of conscience, falsify and equivocate for their country.

"Into this field of partial knowledge to which I have alluded, into this maze of fact sometimes interpreted with duplicity and falsehood, and colored by the bias, national and individual, of the official and other spokesmen of the nation, the international news man—the foreign correspondent—goes to garner his harvest of fact. That he ever reaps wheat, and not always tares, is a monument to his disinterested industry, sagacity, wisdom, and integrity.

"Yet upon the harvest he reaps must be fed the good will, true understanding, proper appreciation, and peaceful, friendly relations of nations. For all that most of us ever know of a foreign people, of their civilization and culture, their government, their domestic and international politics, their national aims, aspirations, and ambitions, their sympathies, their prejudices, their loves, their hates, we learn from the representatives of our press who are abroad. Is it strange, then, that war and peace wait upon the clicking of the cable office?

"Now peace and good will among nations depend just as much upon the condition of the domestic mind as it does upon the happening of international incident. Few international happenings, indeed, could alter the flow of peaceful intercourse of peoples, unless the popular mind had been first prepared for a change of the river course.

"In this local field, not international but domestic politics have a commanding place. Party prestige and supremacy, individual reputation, power, position, and sometimes ambition, control and direct the news source in its outgivings. In this field, not the foreign correspondent but the local news gatherer must, if he is to maintain a free press, move with a clear mind end with courage."

Germans Are Invited to Attend Chicago's '33 World's Exposition

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

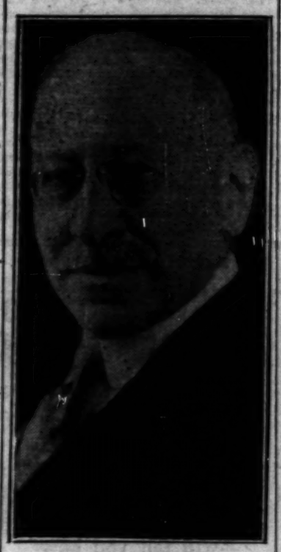
BERLIN, Aug. 11.—The first invitation to come over to visit Chicago's World Fair in 1933 was extended by Lieut. Gov. Fred E. Sterling, Senator Richard J. Barr of Joliet and Judge Harry M. Fisher to Germans at a tea given by the Carl Schurz association this afternoon.

President of the Reichstag Paul Loebe, Dr. Hans Draeger, of the Carl Schurz association, the American consul general, George S. Messersmith, others welcomed the members of the Illinois prison and parole commission and their families in the house of the German press.

Senator Barr responded, and said: "We have brought six departments with us to Germany—executive, legislative, judicial, Republicans, Democrats and a few prohibitionists. That is they were prohibitionists until some time ago," a statement with which Barr delighted his audiences.

Lieut. Gov. Sterling told his hosts that the finest prison the party had seen on the trip was in Tegel, near Berlin.

HIS BIRTHDAY



JULIUS ROSENWALD.

No feasts or fêtes will mark the sixty-ninth birthday today of Julius Rosenwald, philanthropist and business leader. Plans of the family, it was revealed yesterday, contemplate only another of the quiet days the merchant has been spending for some months past at his estate in Highland Park. His son, William Rosenwald, and Mrs. Rosenwald of Philadelphia will be present to wish him many happy returns, having arrived several days ago.

Mr. Rosenwald, who was born in Springfield, Ill., has not been in the best of health for months past, and has spent little time in his offices at the Sears, Roebuck & Co. headquarters. His condition remains about the same, inquiry yesterday developed. His interests continue to be with the various charities to which he has demonstrated his faith and cooperation by vast endowments and gifts, the most recent being a project for a dental clinic in Berlin. For the most part his contributions of the last twelve months have been additional donations to his former philanthropies.

Former Spanish Royalty Travel as Plain Mr. Smith

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Infanta Beatrice and Infanta Maria Christina, daughters of former King Alfonso of Spain, arrived in Belfast today on a visit. The princesses were accompanied by their brother Don Jaime and a party of Spanish noblemen traveling from London to Liverpool in train compartments reserved for "Mr. Smith."

Meat Experts Join Theory with Practice

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Roast beef, rare and without seasoning, was consumed with apparent gusto and in large quantities yesterday by meat experts at luncheon in the Congress hotel. There they discussed the various refining influences which meat may undergo on its course from pasture to table. The experts are attending the sixth annual National Cooperative Meat Investigation conference, which will continue until tomorrow noon.

Throughout the morning the members of the conference listened to reports of subcommittee on "slaughtering and cutting methods"; "methods of grading carcasses"; "influence of sex on beef"; "texture and tenderness"; "histological technic"; "influence of peanuts," and other subcommmittees. After the hearty luncheon of roast beef the experts again returned to closed sessions on the committee reports.

Even the one or two meat experts present who were slender and pale ate with evident eagerness their large slices of beef. With the beef, and after a melon cocktail, was served a combination vegetable salad and potatoes au gratin, followed by an ice cream dessert. As a centerpiece at one end of the table stood a large uncooked leg of lamb, a ham, and a vast portion of uncooked beef, to be used later in a demonstration. These only served to whet the appetites of the meat experts.

Table chat by the experts, who include agents of state agricultural experiment stations located in universities and representatives of the United States department of agriculture and various associations, consisted mostly of professional shop talk.

For instance, Prof. David Mackintosh of the animal husbandry department of Kansas State Agricultural college said that Mrs. Mackintosh had declared she would cook no more meat for him, if he could not drop his investigational attitude at the dinner table.

"That isn't the case in our family," said Dr. C. Robert Moulton of the Institute of American Meat Packers, who also is associated with the University of Chicago, "my wife is an excellent cook, and although I may modestly assert that I can cook a roast second to none, she is as proficient at roasts as I am. But she and the children do object sometimes to my trying on them so many different sorts of meat, cured in an unusual way. But I must try them on laymen, you see."

THE STAGE

New York, Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Plans for the largest theater in the world, to seat 6,049 persons and to be the tenth unit of the Rockefeller-Radio city development, were filed with the Manhattan bureau of buildings today. The theater, known as the International Music hall, will rise on the west half of the block bounded by Fifth and Sixth avenues, Fiftieth and Fifty-first streets. Excavation is already well under way.

The plans call for a thirty-story office building to be erected over the foyer of the theater on the Sixth avenue front and for an elaborate roof garden to be planted with trees, shrubs and grass plots above the theater.

The combined theater and office building would cost approximately $7,000,000, according to estimates of the architects, Reinhard & Hofmeister, Corbett, Harrison & MacMurray, and Raymond Hood, Godley & Fouilhoux.

The Roxy theater, the largest house in existence now, claims a seating capacity of 6,200, but the fire department figures show a total of 5,920.

Her cruise to Sturgeon Bay, Wis., ended in wedding bells that rang out a second time for Mr. and Mrs. James Calvin Reber on July 30. This was learned yesterday. Mrs. Reber, the former Elizabeth Scholle, daughter of Charles Scholle, furniture dealer, first was married to Mr. Reber at the South Shore Country club in 1922. That union was ended by divorce.

Both were invited to be members of a party on the sailboat Intrepid, owned by Henry G. Eckstein Jr., two weeks ago. She went by the yacht. He went by rail. They met again at Sturgeon Bay. After the marriage ceremony had been performed aboard the boat by a minister from the Wisconsin town, the couple abandoned the cruise for a honeymoon tour by automobile through Canada. Mr. Reber is associated with General Motors.

Star Arcturus to Press Button at World's Fair

Science Marvel to Start Chicago Exposition.

—Job, 38.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

The giant star Arcturus, instead of President Hoover, is to press the button that will start the light and machinery of the great scientific exhibit of the Century of Progress Exposition in 1933.

Out of the chambers of the northern sky on the night of June 1 of World's Fair year will come a touch of that transcendant power that guides the universe, and it will be controlled and amplified and used to throw the switches in the Hall of Science which is now under construction on the lake front. Little did the Hebrew shepherd dream even of this slight guidance of "Arcturus and his sons."

As Arcturus is 40 light years away from the earth, the light energy that will be used on the opening night started on its journey in 1893, during the World's Columbian Exposition, and is still on its way at 186,000 miles a second. It is this combination of time events, and the availability of Arcturus as to position and brightness, that has led to the selection of this orange colored member of the Bootes constellation for this particular job.

President Rufus Dawes and Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, director of the exposition, have sanctioned this unique plan and arrangements will be perfected to harness the star power. Dr. F. R. Moulton, director of concessions, former head of the department of astronomy at the University of Chicago, and Prof. Henry Clew, head of the physics department of Northwestern university, who is aiding in the preparation of the science exhibit, will have charge of the event.

This is a problem in astrophysics and it has enlisted the active interest of Prof. Edwin B. Frost, director of the Yerkes observatory at Williams Bay, Wis., where the light rays from Arcturus will be captured in the 40 inch telescope and directed into a small box like instrument attached to the telescope. From there the energy will be transferred and sent on to Chicago.

It is this little instrument, called the photo-electric photometer, which physicists have been working on since its principle was discovered by Elster and Geitel in Germany more than 50 years ago, that makes possible this use of the light waves.

What will happen is apparently as simple and explainable as stepping on the gas in an automobile. It is a matter of the release of atomic energy, the secret of which is still held in the stars.

Light, whether from stars, X-rays or other rays, is an electro-magnetic radiation, which has the power to force the ejection of electrons, or negative electricity. The photo-electric cell instrument measures the amount of energy in a beam of light from Arcturus or any other source. It is a cast cylinder of some alkaline metal, such as potassium or sodium, mounted on an axle in an evacuated glass vessel. Light from the star, gathered in the telescope, will enter this box through a window in the metal surface. In one of the swiftest reactions known to science it causes the ejections of electrons from the metal plate. These are collected by a cylinder, and connected up with an electrometer or measuring devise.

In the 1933 fair experiment the electronic ejections will be amplified and sent out over a wire. Earth power will be brought into play, but the original generating power will come from the star, although less than a billionth of an ampere. Prof. Frost says he hears the stars talk in this way. It is nightly music to him.

Dr. Moulton figured a moment on a pad yesterday and said that at 9 o'clock on the night of June 1, 1933, Arcturus would be high up in the sky, a little east of straight south. Arcturus is not the nearest star that might be used for this purpose, but others are not visible in the early evening. He also computed that the 40 lights years that the waves will have traveled to reach the Yerkes telescope on this evening means a distance of 240,000,000,000 miles.

Arcturus was measured by the late Prof. A. A. Michaelson. It is one of the seven stars whose diameters are known. It is 27 million times greater than our sun in volume and 300 times greater in diameter. It radiates 100 times as much light as the sun. It is relatively near, however, as it is figured that the light which we see from the spiral nebula in Andromeda left there 900,000 years ago.

Arcturus is in direct line with the tail of the constellation Ursa Major [Great Bear] and is called the Bear guard. The Greek legend concerning it is that Arcas, son of the king of Arcadia, while out hunting pursued his mother, who had been transformed into a bear by Zeus. The bear mother took refuge in the temple of Zeus and the god in order to prevent matricide transported both mother and son to the heavens.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

There was no furniture in the small flat so the worker from the United Charities sat on a trunk.

"It seems bad luck just follows me," apologized the small woman, attempting a smile. "They've taken the furniture—the dealer carried it all away because we couldn't make any more payments."

The charities worker with little questioning learned that Mr. Baker had been unemployed for months and because he had been unable to secure even odd jobs to pay the rent, the family had been obliged to move twice. The year old baby was ill from the extreme summer heat. No plans had been made for the prospective arrival of the second child, and the mother's teeth were aching for lack of attention.

"Mrs. Baker doesn't worry as much now," the social worker said yesterday. In a week's time we have provided a flat for the family, and prenatal care has been arranged for the mother. And thanks to THE TRIBUNE free ice fund, Junior's milk is kept fresh and sweet, and he is quickly getting back his normal happy self."

The cool weather the last two days has caused a good many persons to forget families like this one. Ice must be delivered all summer whether the thermometer is in the 90 degree territory or not. The fund is doing the best it can, but is tremendously handicapped by lack of additional funds. Even a small gift would help.

Only three contributions came to the ice fund yesterday. These were $5 from M. E. Jackson, $4 from Mary M. Chapin, and $3 from Emma L. Schwarz, making a total of $2,368.50 in the ice fund.

The Camp Algonquin fund was the recipient of two $5 gifts, one from M. E. Jackson and the other from Dora B. Goodwine, making a total of $3,745.26 in the camp fund. Gifts to both funds should be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Age Chasm.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 18 and like a fellow of 34. Is it possible for me to love him? LONESOME."

He is rather old for you. Boys of 20 or 21 would be more congenial companions.

Unwanted Attentions.

"Dear Miss Blake: I quit my friend, but he keeps on annoying me. How can I show him that I dislike his attentions? PEARL."

Disparity in Ages Cause of Marital Rifts, Says Judge

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Those not in favor of early marriage might be persuaded a bit to the contrary with the statement of George A. Bartlett, judge of Reno court, in his book, "Men, Women, and Conflict" [Putnam's], who writes: "In the thousands of divorce cases that have come before me, I believe the majority were those of women who married when they were past 25. This does not constitute a rule by any means; but it would seem to indicate that the girl who marries before she is 25 more often makes a success of her married life than those who waited longer."

Remember it wasn't so many years ago when a girl who was not married at 25 was catalogued as a spinster. Today the same aged girl is often, in her own opinion, still just a kid with lots of time left for playing around. The influence behind this state of mind undoubtedly is the difficulty of finding young men who are economically set to offer marriage—as the girl prescribes it financially. Yet a large group of young married couples must be making a go of it somehow. Which brings up another phase in the experience of the well known Reno judge—relative to marriage and money.

Few girls, says Judge Bartlett, can hope to marry a husband near their own age without facing a grievous sacrifice, so, if the girl is attractive and worldly wise, she is tempted to wait for an older man who can give her more. The boys of her own age are just beginning their business careers. The older man is the one toward whom the girl is urged to cast her line. She goes to him with a wistful glance over her shoulder toward the youth that she is forswearing.

Then, when her first marital rift comes along, she is prone to throw herself childishly on the bed and weep for the gayety of her youth that she feels is gone. And this disparity of marriage age that is so often forced upon our girls by economic urge, in Judge Bartlett's experience, is one of the common at bases of divorce.

Paris Fashions Trim Clothes for Travel

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Paris has come out flat against the bowless evening dress for young girls. Every dress has its big bow, tied into a ribbon sash around the youthful waistline, and the bigger and more intricate the bow, the smarter the dress.

Frocks of one tone chiffon, as simple as the dancing dress of a 10 year old, get their chic from the sash that spans the waistline. Sometimes a two ribbon sash is worn, in two colors that contrast with the shade of the dress. The bow is tied either at the side or in the back and is usually made of heavy satin ribbon.

This dress is instep length. The most delicate, melting-away effect is achieved in the skirt by the unusual foundation, which is poppy red crêpe de chine under the bodice and hip yoke of the skirt and from this point to the ankles it is made of shaded bands of crêpe de chine that get lighter and lighter until the one at the scalloped hem is palest flesh pink. This type of underslip is smart under the summer evening frock.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

No Need for Notes.

I had just started on a new position and I was a little upset and nervous. My boss gave me some dictation, about twenty letters in all. When I came to the last letter, I couldn't read it to save my life. I told him and he dictated it over again to me and I couldn't read that, so I decided it would be best to wait until the next day to write it, which I did without any difficulty at all.

A few days later he handed me a letter he had written out in longhand for me to type.

Unruly Silhouette Must Give Way to Feminine Curves

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

When I see women wobbling around the streets with uncorseted abandon I just wonder whom they think they are making a hit with. Certainly not with the ladies—more certainly not with the other sex, who ask of their preferred women a neatness as well as a shapeliness of form.

Not even the hot weather can be dragged up as an alibi. The corset people have ruled out any possibility of criticism for not presenting hot weather corset comfort. In fact, to that trade we owe a great deal for their part in the current good standard of feminine form noted everywhere about.

It's amazing the way they have managed, with a yard or so of material and a bit of boning, to divert the unruly silhouette into pleasant line. They've even managed what was deemed the impossible feat of stowing away behind bits of elastic and cloth armor the fat wads so that the demands of the tapering silhouette are met. We thought with the passing of the straight corset of a few seasons back that the flesh pockets they provided for couldn't be duplicated. But in the latest and best corsets the woman who has to dispose of extra lumps here and there will find her problem quite beautifully solved for her.

The corsetless girl or woman, unless she is divinely slender, just has no place in our current scheme of silhouette. Even in bathing suit attire there's been happy provision made in nonstretchable jersey material and other materials that hold the too heavy form in leash without interfering with the swimming movements.

And the beauty of it all is that while you may pay fabulous sums for a silhouette molder of the corset variety, you don't have to. Your figure can be beautifully taken care of in corsets at nominal price. If the abdomen needs flattening, or the diaphragm, there are special cloth and elastic emergencies for such figure types. Flatter hiplines are even to be had with the right corset purchase. More feminine curves for the waistlines, too.

FLOWER OF THORNS

SYNOPSIS.

Ash Dalliford, the last of a proud old southern family, following the ruin and death of her grandfather has a struggle to keep the heavily mortgaged Oakleigh plantation, the estate of the Winsteads adjoins Oakleigh. Henry Winstead holds the Oakleigh mortgage. His only son, Sam, loves Sally, but Sally is in love with Lowndes Jennings, who pays daily for the wealthy Gertrude Reinert. Sam asks Sally to marry him. Sally refuses she doesn't love him. Sally becomes Sam's wife in name only and returns to Oakleigh back to her as a wedding present. Sam goes abroad and tells Sally he was glad to get her freedom. After Sam leaves Sally discovers that Henry Winstead has taken advantage of her grandfather, as she believed, but had tried to save him. Henry takes the place of her grandfather in her affections. Henry Mears, a needy family who had lately moved to the county.

INSTALLMENT XXXIII.

MISTRUSTED KINDNESS.

Sally was with Henry the first time he went to that forlorn house—the poor shell of a shack. Two starved hounds rushed out to bark and snarl at her, while a barefooted, thin woman in a soiled and faded calico dress and conditions of nakedness and dirt, uncombed, unwashed, barefooted around her and stared at the visitors. One girl, maybe 14 or so, with tangled fair hair, stared at Sally avidly. She might have been a good looking girl enough, under favorable circumstances, but as it was her face showed only the dulling touch of poverty and ignorance.

Henry questioned the woman, who answered him stolidly enough. "No, sir, we don't attend school? Shucks, how'd she send 'em in them clo's—which was the last bit?"

"That is very unfortunate!" said Henry mildly. "Of course you couldn't be sent to school without clothes. I can quite understand your point of view. I suppose, however, you would let me furnish them with clothes?"

"What'd you give 'em clo's fur?"

"Why, to wear," said he with a smile.

"Waal, they sure Gawd needs 'em," she admitted grudgingly.

"That is why I suggest that you allow me to supply them, my good woman," he said patiently.

"Who air you callin' yore good woman? I ain't yore good woman! I'm Mary Mears, an' I'm th' legal, lawful wedded wife o' Rufus Mears, I would'd like to have yo' know it!" she exclaimed indignantly.

"I beg your pardon, Mrs. Mears, no offense at all!" said Henry, good humoredly. "I didn't know your name until you told me. What do you require?"

"Waal, suh, whilst I'm at hit, I might's well tell yo' I'm wantin' clo'es fur my younguns, 'n a whole shift 'n a pair o' shoes 'n stockin's.

"Them's some rich folks what come to see us." "He," she pointed her finger at Henry—"aims to git some clo'es fur the childern. All of 'em."

"I aims" to git them pore childern some clo'es, Mister?" Paw addressed the visitor. Henry admitted that such was his intention.

"I am sorry. If you really want work, Mr. Mears, call at the Winstead office and ask for Mr. Dixon. I think he can find you something to do."

"I knowed hit, Maw," said the poor man, resignedly. "You wuz thinkin' I was gittin' to git some clo'es fer them children fer nothin'? No, ma'am, not hide'r. I got to slave fer 'em! He's aimin' to have my blood for 'em!"

"Not at all!" said Henry hastily. "But you want work, don't you?"

"Sure I does. But I hain't aimin' to be driv, I hain't."

"If you won't be driven," Henry told him patiently.

"When ya' 'speck me to come?" asked Paw suspiciously.

"You might come over tomorrow morning. Ask for Mr. Dixon."

"I'll come—but I hain't expectin' nothin' better'n workin' like a nigger," he said contemptuously. Sally looked at him with curiosity. The type was new to her. She thought him the most disagreeable mortal she had ever seen. Henry turned to the woman for further details regarding the children's clothes, which were furnished him volubly. Sally made some necessary notes.

"Please, could you make my dress pink?" asked the oldest girl, timidly.

"Now I can. How old are you, child?"

"Her name's Minta May, same's mine. An' far's I c'n reckon she's goin' on 15, or maybe it's 14. I hain't rememberin' which."

"I asked because I wished to know what size dress I should get," explained Henry, and put down '15' in her note book. "You must give the ages of the other children, please."

The legal, lawful wedded wife of Mr. Mears racked her brains and gave their ages as nearly as she could remember them. She suggested certain clothes that she thought she herself most required, and added two blue ribbons for Paw. Then her visitors rose to go, and she graciously accompanied them to where the gate should have been.

"O, father! What perfectly frightful people! The worst people I ever saw! And so ungrateful. Why should you do anything for such wretches?"

"But, these poor brats really need the clothes, my dear. And we've got to see that they are sent to school," said Henry. "They are not responsible for their parents, poor little things. Something must be done for these children. That oldest child, if you noticed, isn't half bad. I imagine she might be a fine child if she were properly clothed and trained."

"And what is to be done for that terrible man?" she wondered.

"I'll see Dixon about it. I think we can manage to find something for him to do," said Henry kindly. He expressed neither impatience nor disgust. He seemed to understand. Sally looked at him wonderingly. The Winsteads had not the power to surprise her.

The Dixons got the clothes they needed. Joe Dixon grumbled, but found his father some unskilled labor. The shack had been repaired, some decent furniture added, and the oldest girl, Minta May, was presently sent to school, much to her parents' discontent. The younger children were to follow suit.

Sally went about with Henry on Sundays and such holidays as she had. Much as she longed to be with Joe, and McFarland still helped her with the farm, no longer could she complain that her hands were empty, that she had not real work to do! But that one question persisted: What was she going to do about Sam?

She said to Henry one night at dinner.

"Henry, I was out driving this afternoon, I saw Minta May, father. She looked so dejected down on that bank by the lane—you'll remember it—crying as if her heart would break. I got out of the car and questioned her, but could get nothing out of her except that Paw was rampagin' something fierce. Finally she had slapped her face and pulled her hair. She cried terribly, poor child. I asked her if he'd been drinking, and she said if he wasn't now, he would be later on. I stopped by the office as I came back, and Joe told me that Paw hadn't been working for a week."

"Tomorrow's Saturday and you'll have a half a day's holiday. We'll drive over and see Mrs. Mears—shall we?"

The next afternoon she got out her car, and the two drove off.

The place was quite different. Sagging steps and broken shutters were repaired. Mrs. Mears, in a decent calico "wropper," with shoes on and her hair neatly brushed and pinned, met them at the door. Her manner was less blustering than of yore. Two or three of the children came out and greeted Miss Sally with shy friendliness. Another child, at the mother's request, brought chairs for the visitors.

After a while Sally asked for Minta May. She had heard such good reports of her at school, she said. The teacher had told her that Minta May was "catching up" quickly, and was a very promising scholar. By the way, where was Minta May now? They'd like to see her.

"She's about somewhere, I reckon," said Mrs. Mears apathetically, but made no motion to call the girl.

"Couldn't we see Minta, Mrs. Mears?" Sally asked directly.

"Sho'ly, I don't reckon yo' can," said the woman.

"But why, in heaven's name?" asked both visitors.

"Because she's hidin' out from her Paw, that's why," said Mrs. Mears tonelessly, but ferociously. Her Paw's plum beside hisse'f, he is. He swears he'll kill her. Godamighty, he's plum ravin' wild, Paw is. And she won't tell me—she's that obstinnit! She wouldn't say nothin', even when he 'most twisted the nice off'n her and yanked her hair till I had to pull him off her."

Sally and Henry looked at her with horrified eyes. What was the meaning of this?

But before they could speak, Paw himself appeared on the scene, his face red, his eyes red, his hair disheveled. And he carried a shotgun.

"Where's that theer old devil doin' hyuh?" he shouted furiously. Sally answered, with terror and disgust, that he was very, very drunk, indeed.

"I'll tell you I'd have to pay for them clo'es he give the children with my hide, didn't I? Well, hain't I done it? He's ruint Minta May!" he howled.

Henry Winstead stared at the raving lunatic with distended eyes. What was he being accused of? Paw, dancing up and down, cursed him vilely.

"But—I assure you——" Henry began.

"I don't aim to let you be sure of nothin' but dyin'!" shrieked Mears. "But before any of them could make a move to prevent it, he had flung the gun to his shoulder and fired.

Asks for Dancing Costume.

"I have been out of work for some time and now have the opportunity to dance at a club entertainment but I have no costume or toe slippers to wear. Do you think one of your readers would have a dancing costume of some kind in size 16 and a pair of boxed toed or ballet slippers to give? I wear size 4 or 4½. V. H."

If you study dancing and indulge in a new costume now and then, perhaps you'll give one of your older ones to this young woman. She'd be most grateful for it.

C. H. Harrisons Reach France, Visit Mentone

BY THALIA —

THE Carter H. Harrisons, who sailed for France the latter part of July, are by now with their daughter, Mrs. Edith Harrison Manierre, and her youngsters at the villa at Mentone on the Riviera that the latter have been occupying this summer. When Mrs. Manierre departs the Harrisons will accompany her to Paris, there to meet Mrs. Carter Harrison Jr. and her daughters, Miss Lucy and Miss Edith Harrison. They will spend a few days together before Mrs. Manierre and the children sail back to the United States.

Mrs. Harrison Jr. and the girls are to sail on the De Grasse on Aug. 26 and after their stay in Paris will go on to Lausanne, Switzerland. The Misses Edith and Lucy are to go to school there this winter, and Mrs. Harrison will remain with them for awhile to see that they're happily settled at their studies. She is to be away about 2 months in all, and her other plans aren't particularly definite. She'll be with the senior Harrisons in Paris for part of the time, though, and will return to this country with them.

Theodora Shaw's Debut Set for Garden Sept. 12.

Miss Theodora Shaw's garden tea debut on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 12, is to be given by her mother, Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw, and her sisters, Mrs. John T. McCutcheon and Mrs. Clay Judson, at Ragdale, Mrs. Shaw's Lake Forest residence on Green Bay road. There's evidently going to be a lot of flipping of coins on that particular Saturday, because there are so many sociabilities scheduled, but, for several reasons, I'm sure there won't be any dearth of guests at the Shaw party.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Johnston and Conway Howard Olmsted are to be married in Lake Forest that afternoon, and Miss Helen Howell and John Barnes, son of the Nelson L. Barnes, are to be wed in town the same day. There are some other debut receptions, too.

Maybe it's because Mr. and Mrs. Livingston Fairbanks are having such a gay time at Le Touquet in northern France that their Chicago friends haven't had any recent word about their impending visit here, their first since they moved to Paris several years ago. They are coming some time this fall, bringing with them Mrs. Fairbanks' daughter, Jean Boyce, who is to come out at some joint doings with Mrs. Samuel Rinaker's daughter, Marjorie Horton. They're staying at the Golf hotel for the Le Touquet season, and one recent Sunday they gave a luncheon for Prince and Princess Henry XXXIII. of Reuss and the latter's house guests, American Ambassador to Poland and Mrs. Willys.

Capt. Chauncey McCormick brought back from Europe the cavalry color handkerchiefs marked with B. H. T. for the members of his Black Horse troop, now in encampment at Camp Grant, Rockford. The troop didn't take its dress uniforms to camp, but the black horses went. The men wear their service hats at a very swagger angle and think Capt. McCormick is a great scout. His horse is named King Lear.

Chicago Club at Charlevoix to Celebrate 50th Anniversary.

The Chicago club at Charlevoix is going to have a big celebration on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the opening of the club [1881] around Labor day sometime. Plans and rehearsals for the ceremonies are going on now. For the first time in its 50 years, the golf club was open for play on Sunday morning this last Sunday. Hitherto, it has never been opened on Sundays until 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Non-member guests at the clubhouse just now include the A. A. Carpenters, the John Colemans and their family, Col. and Mrs. George T. Langhorne, Dr. and Mrs. W. Edwin Ryerson, and Mr. and Mrs. Lyman T. Walker.

They do say that some women look quite ravishing in the new Empress Eugenie hats, but I can't say that I've seen any of them who did. The only ones I've seen looked a little silly. The only chapeau of the type that looks just right is the one Lucrezia Bori wears, a lovely gray thing with gray willow plumes and a pink rose, in "Peter Ibbetson," and, of course, that's a real period one.

Do-you-knows? . . . Mrs. John A. Chapman of Lake Forest and the three Chapman girls, Eleanor, Margaret, who is to be a debutante this winter, and Virginia, are to return from Bar Harbor about the 20th. . . . Mr. Chapman is just back from Charlevoix. . . . Francise Clow's nickname is "Baby." . . . The James Youngloves of Glencoe have returned from a month's stay at Pike Lake lodge, Wisconsin, and the Jay Youngloves of Evanston, Mary Dawes, Veronese Beatty, John and Ross Beatty are back from a shorter stay. With Curtis Dawes, the young people are going up again for over Labor day. . . .

Pythians Take Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Cincinnati was in the hands of 7,000 Pythians today, here for their twentieth biennial meeting which continues for four days. Pythian organizations, including the Knights of Pythias, the Princes of Syracuse, the Nomads of Avrudaka and the Imperial Palace committees, arrived yesterday and spent the day in sight seeing.

TO MAKE DEBUT SEPT. 12

Miss Marion Calkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Calkins, is to make her debut at a garden tea on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 12, at her parents' residence in Winnetka. Miss Calkins was graduated in June from Dobbs Ferry.

Children Present an Accurate Reflection of Their Home Life

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

A child can be clean and healthy and well dressed and yet have what I can only describe as "that neglected look." Do you know what I mean? It is really an unloved look.

A child who is loved and knows he counts in his family shows it in his face and manner.

A child who has had the companionship of his parents or some one who really cares is a more interesting child than one who hasn't. Haven't you ever noticed? You can almost tell after a few minutes with a child what he's been getting at home in the way of affection and attention.

The difference is rather striking when it occurs in one family. I know of several cases which illustrate it perfectly. And since the people concerned do not know me and, especially, since they don't see the difference themselves, no harm will be done by talking about it.

In both cases the first child—we'll call it a girl—was born when neither the father nor mother seemed to be in a fit state to become parents. They were emotionally involved. The child seemed to merely interfere with their interests and their lives as they wanted to live them. So it was turned over to relatives or maids most of the time.

After a lapse of years the second child, we'll call it a boy, came along. The husband and wife were adjusted to each other by that time, they had matured, and by association with several devoted parents had absorbed some sense of what it means to have a child. In both cases the second child was with them and they loved and were interested in him. As each of these little children grows he is as different as can be from his sister. Neither of these later children has that neglected look the first two children had. The older children are presenting serious problems now, that their parents never think to trace to the early years.

These two cases show plainly that children reflect and respond sensitively to the treatment they receive and the home atmosphere they live in.

Woman's Anti-War Caravan Will Meet Mayor Cermak Today

The peace caravan of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom reached Chicago last night after a day full of welcoming in north shore towns. The caravan left Hollywood on June 21 to visit twenty-five states in an attempt to secure the signatures of chief executives and others to a petition being circulated throughout all countries asking that governments endorse total and universal disarmament.

The caravan was met at the Wisconsin-Illinois state line at Sheridan road by thirty automobiles filled with Waukegan women, and escorted to the courthouse. A meeting followed at which Mrs. D. M. Courson presided. Other meetings were held in Lake Forest, Winnetka and Evanston.

Today at 10:30 a. m. the caravan will be greeted officially by Mayor Cermak after a parade down Michigan boulevard and later will be escorted by Greeter Gaw to the World's Fair buildings.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—The Japanese ambassador, Katsuji Debuchi, has spent the last several days in Washington. He had a few guests at luncheon yesterday at the Mayflower and returned to Buena Vista Springs, Pa., today to join his family.

Mrs. Charles Eskridge Saltzman of New York, daughter of the secretary of commerce and Mrs. Robert P. Lamont, has gone to join her parents in their summer home, Westby Farm, at Land o' Lakes, Wis.

William Jeffries Chewning Jr., who returned to Washington early this week from Wabeek Farms at Pontiac, Mich., the summer home of his father-in-law, Senator James Couzens, left Mrs. Chewning and their young son there for a longer visit.

Volunteers Offering Blood to Victims of Infantile Paralysis

Satisfaction was voiced yesterday over the response to the appeal issued on Monday, for volunteers to donate blood for serum purposes in the treatment of infantile paralysis at the Samuel Deutsch Canvalescent Serum center of Michael Reese hospital.

The first volunteer called the hospital at 10 a. m. and others followed during the day, either appearing at the hospital to offer their blood or schedule appointments. The donors all expressed their desire to be of service in helping to save the lives of children.

The third call for serum for treatment of a case in Freeport, Ill., within the past month, came yesterday afternoon. For the first case there a month ago, serum was sent in the middle of the night and within 24 hours explained Dr. William Thalhimer, director of laboratories at Michael Reese, the child was on the road to recovery. Yesterday a Freeport physician discovered what he thought might be a suspicious case, telephoned the serum laboratory and within half an hour a relative living in Chicago was on his way to Freeport with a doctor from the laboratory who took with him laboratory equipment for tests and serum.

It was stressed that Chicago does not face an infantile paralysis epidemic, but should be ready in case the present epidemic in New York spreads westward. Only blood from persons over 10 years old who have suffered from the disease can be used.

New Y. W. C. A. Building Started on Ashland Ave.

In the presence of many officials, the first shovelful of earth was turned yesterday on the site of the new $270,000 Y. W. C. A. residence at 105 South Ashland avenue. The spade was handled by Mrs. William L. Hodgins, president of the association.

The new building will adjoin the present structure at 101 South Ashland avenue. It is made possible through an anonymous gift of $150,000, and the site by the Wieboldt foundation.

When completed, the residence will house 118 girls in as many rooms. The dining room will accommodate 150 persons.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Toyohiko Kagawa, leading Christian evangelist of Japan, yesterday brought to Chicago a sample of the preaching with which he is said to sway great throngs in his native land. He spoke before a crowd which filled the Bond chapel, University of Chicago, to capacity. This afternoon at 4:30 he will give the last of the three sermons scheduled for that chapel under the auspices of the Chicago Theological seminary.

Kagawa's sermon yesterday considered "Christianity and the Industrial Revolution." Before he began to speak the Japanese leader distributed complete outlines of his address to all members of the congregation. He divided his subject into six heads. He pictured the present economic, social, and industrial life under the heading "Machines, Capitalism, Concentration of Population, and Christianity." Over against this he placed the question "Can materialistic communism solve our problems?" The question was asked after a pessimistic view had been presented ending with "the failure of 19th century Christianity."

Kagawa's answer was an emphatic "no" to communism. Then he proceeded to say why. He gave these eight reasons:

"Communism ignores economic psychology.

"It advocates terrorism and violence.

"It stifles personal inventiveness.

"It has no respect for occupations.

"It is built on absolute dictatorship in legislation.

Kagawa's constructive program, which is said to be winning 1,000,000 converts to Christianity in Japan, and which he calls "the kingdom of God" movement, bases the "coming social order" on religion.

"Neither capitalism nor communism can solve the ultimate problems of human society," said Kagawa. "Neither of these systems can control the inner soul, and if they cannot control the inner life they will be finally of no value."

Founded on definite religious faith, Kagawa advocates the development of cooperative agencies which ultimately must be world-wide in scope. The needed "cooperatives," he pointed out, must cover the fields of producers, credit, marketing, consumers, land utilities, power, utilities, and mutual aid.

NOISE BRINGS STRIKE OF ELEPHANTS AND EXTRA HAY ENDS IT

The elephants—forty-two of them—went on a strike shortly after giving their evening performance at Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus in Grant park Monday, it was learned yesterday. When the demonstration was over and victory won each of the trumpeters was given an extra meal of hay.

It happened this way: The screeching of the cockatoos, parakeets, and parrots in the gilded cages across the way from the big tent of Old John, 39 years old, dean of the herds, had become annoying. Monday night it became so unbearable that Old John whispered into the nearest elephant's ear and the word was passed along as the elephants came out of the arena.

Just as George Denman and his assistants were chaining the elephants' legs to ground stakes the signal was some way given and the herd began trumpeting and snorting. The uproar gained in volume. The trainers tried in vain to quiet the rioters, who were drowning out the circus band performing away under the big top.

Knowing he was up against a noise strike, Denman began thinking. In a minute forty men were rushing an extra meal of hay to the elephants. The noise stopped instantly.

As for the parrots, cockatoos, and parakeets—they were so stunned by the noise strike they've been silent ever since.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Small Minnie, when visiting her aunt, was asked at the dinner table if mother allowed her to eat a certain food upon the table. She replied, "Sometimes," and after a moment's wait she volunteered, "This is sometimes."

Food Talk.

Recently an extensive survey was conducted for the sole purpose of determining what women wanted and liked in their particular section of a newspaper. As fast as we are able we will discuss the points brought out by the survey, in the hope that we can answer and help the majority of you.

One mother of an engaged daughter said that a serious problem faced by young people is the financial angle of entertaining after marriage. With so many girls assisting the domestic budget by retaining their positions, it isn't easy for the new wife to adjust herself to the added responsibility of social obligations. No matter how much she enjoys showing off her lovely apartment, the bridal silver service and trousseau linens, it takes pluck, ambition and energy to rush home from the office and prepare a "party" dinner. Ten to one, the bride does all her own housework, which means dinner dishes must be washed after the late guests depart.

There are, however, several encouraging facts a fiancée may remember. The most important is that the intimate friends of both the newly-weds do not expect a great deal from them. It is all a matter of cordial hospitality, and can be worked out simply. Entertaining does cost money, but you can entertain inexpensively and cleverly. It is not a question of the amount of food, nor the elaborate way in which it is served, but rather that the food be tasty, look attractive on the table, and that there be enough of it.

The girl who is employed six days a week would do well to give her informal parties on Saturday evenings or Sundays. Buffet suppers and breakfasts are admirably adapted to small apartments and houses with small kitchens. There is a congenial atmosphere which pervades buffet affairs and a charm which no formal dinner can give. Not that formal dinners haven't their place! They have. Only they need not for some time enter the entertainment schedule of the bride.

For the buffet meal, be it late Sunday morning breakfast, or late Sunday evening supper, waffles served with either sausage or bacon are good. Fortunately, they are almost universally liked. Inasmuch as this is an abundant berry season you can vary the waffles from time to time (different parties, of course) with blueberries, strawberries, and blackberries. If you like, and it is an evening occasion, serve a crisp green salad with them. These two courses and a generous pot of coffee provide an excellent economical meal.

WAFFLES.

2 cups sour milk
2 tbsp. sour cream
½ tsp. soda

Dissolve the soda in two tablespoons of the milk. Beat the egg yolks well and add to the sifted dry ingredients. Melt the butter and add to this mixture. Add the milk, cream, and dissolved soda. Beat well and fold in the beaten whites of the eggs. Heat your waffle iron for eight or ten minutes before using. Bake the waffles about three minutes, the time varying with the type of iron used. This recipe will serve six people.

UNTOLD TORTURE FROM ECZEMA
Ended quickly by Resinol
"For three months I suffered torture from 'weeping eczema,' and the many different remedies I tried only gave me slight temporary relief. Finally I decided to try Resinol Ointment. A warning against substitutes for genuine Kotex

YES, some substitutes are cleverly made to look like Kotex. But that doesn't make them the same.
Are they clean, like Kotex? Scientifically made in surroundings of hospital cleanliness? Have modern methods been used, so that hands have never touched them?
These questions remain unanswered, when you accept a substitute of whose makers you know nothing. But these are questions of vital importance, because they are directly related to your health.

PITTSBURGHER KICKS MUD IN SPRINTERS' EYES

BY FRENCH LANE.

Pittsburgher, the Kentucky three year old which has been taking on all comers this season despite frequent whips on the chin, is at it again—at this time at Hawthorne.

Reports were spread that he was broken down horse and that his best days were behind him. Yet he showed up in a field of good sprinters which was fast together in the six furlong Cassatt purse, the feature on the program.

At the end of the mud splattering Pittsburgher, which came from last, was romping along in front of My Dandy by three lengths. Karl Eitel was lumbering around in the rear a length and a half back of My Dandy. The heavily backed favorite, Don Leon, was doing well to finish fifth, Bolimo moving on ahead of him in the final strides.

Pittsburgher hasn't dodged any good horse this season and he had an chance to achieve greatness. That came in the American Derby last June. But by a margin of about an inch and a half he was beaten in that $15,000 affair by Mate, which later captured Twenty Grand and won the Arlington Classic.

In the Cassatt, Pittsburgher slipped into the contest under the rather packet weight of 104 pounds. Folks at Hawthorne didn't know much about his condition because Jim Moody, the pilot-trainer, prepared him for the run over at Lincoln Fields.

Pays Juicy Dividend.

It was natural that Pittsburgher didn't command much support and after his gallant run down the stretch in which he stepped past every horse in the field he paid the rather juicy dividends of $16.08 to win, $8.04 to place and $5.04 to show. In the rush for support to Don Leon, which proved to have a rather weak heart after leading in the early stages, My Dandy was neglected and paid $8.06 to place and $3.12 to show. Karl Eitel paid $3.40 to show.

That was a pretty good price on Pittsburgher, for he has been a fairly consistent performer all year and has been in defeat only to the top-notchers. He had also demonstrated on numerous occasions that he is at his best when the going is muddy. It was his 14th start this season. Six times he pranced into the winner's gate, three times he was second, and once he was third. So in all his 3 year old engagements he was out of the money only four times. A lot of horsemen would like to own a horse just as consistent.

Hot Shot Steps Out.

When the start came Hot Shot broke in front, but it took Don Leon only a few strides to romp on past him. Hot Shot clung to second place until My Dandy raced past him on the lower bend. My Dandy then took after Don Leon and he had conquered the Kentucky 3-year-old midway in the stretch. The My Dandy backers began to yell and shout. They thought it was all over but the colloring.

Then on the outside came big Pittsburgher plowing through the mud at a terrific pace. He was next to last when he started his drive, but it didn't take him long to sail on past everybody but My Dandy.

Less than a sixteenth of a mile from home he headed My Dandy. But Pittsburgher wanted to make it even more decisive, so he pulled out into even a longer lead.

He ran the six furlongs in 1:15 2-5, a remarkable time considering the muddy condition of the track.

Filly Scores Upset.

The Shady Side purse, which was the second best race on the program, also brought an upset when Givanna, a California filly from the J. W. Marchbank stable, turned up as the winner. Givanna took the lead turning into the stretch and beat the favorite, At Last, by a length and a half. Fair Flight was third. Colonial Belle was fourth and had no excuses to offer, for she was in front in the early stages. Looks more and more as if Trainer Pelletier's luck is deserting him, for they own Colonial Belle.

One of the biggest betting plunges of the Hawthorne season went amiss in the seventh race when The Mongol failed to finish in the money. She had been backed down from 15 to 1 to 2 to 1, but never figured in the running. Matadi, at tall odds in the betting, was the winner and was much the best when she beat Indian and Annie Ree, which finished second and third.

The muddy track brought little relief to the favorite players. Guido Rizzi was the only choice to win all afternoon. Only 12 favorites have won in 60 races since the Hawthorne season opened.

Mrs. Rockne Returns from Coast Movie Trip

Mrs. Knute Rockne, widow of the former coach of the University of Notre Dame football team, arrived in Chicago yesterday from California where she watched the filming of the picture, "The Spirit of Notre Dame," in which several former Notre Dame players have parts. Mrs. Rockne was accompanied by her oldest son, Billi, 12, and Mrs. Helen Pierson of Los Angeles, former schoolmate, who will spend the winter with her. The party left immediately for South Bend.

HARVARD HOUSE PLAN AS ENGLISH AS 'OLD CHAPPIE'

But Also Resembles Hall System at Notre Dame.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 11.—To be sure, this house plan which they are instituting at Harvard this year is as British as Bubble and Squeak, and I suppose the boys when they sit down to tea will be calling each other "old egg" and "perfectly priceless old thing" and saying they could do with a cut from the joint and a bit of vegetable marrow. But on walking around for a squint at the other side of the new Harvard house I discover a strong resemblance to the Notre Dame social and athletic unit, commonly known as the hall system, which has had something to do with the development of the greatest football teams ever produced.

Mr. Will Bingham, the manager of the big Harvard athletic plan, has been over in England this summer practicing the British method of using a fork and soup spoon to eat strawberries and he comes back to say that he has found nothing wrong with the house system as practiced by Oxford and Cambridge, which will be Harvard's acknowledged models. Incidentally, I would like to see Will's card for his first dish of strawberries played under the fork and soup spoon system and would be willing to wager a florin to a thruppenny bit that he put a few berries out of bounds, because I used to sit in the old Wellington on Fleet street and enjoy watching fresh-come Americans slice them down the neckbands of gentlemen sitting four tables away.

Looks Easy, But—

This method of eating the strawberry looks easy when it is done well, but if Will Bingham institutes that, too, along with the house system at Harvard, they are going to have strawberry marks all over the walls and ceilings and the waiters' shirt fronts the first three months of every school year as the freshmen struggle to groove their swing. But that is Harvard's problem, and Mr. Harkness, who gave Harvard all the money to Anglicize the university, is no man to quibble at a few thousand more for painters' and laundry bills.

Out at Notre Dame the house plan, known as the hall plan, has been in operation for years, and from an examination of Mr. Bingham's idea I am unable to see wherein the Harvard house plan differs from the Notre Dame scheme. The boys live together in halls at Notre Dame without regard to whether they are freshmen or seniors, and for the purpose of football the hall is the unit. A kid goes out for his hall team and if he doesn't make that team then he drops down to a team representing some subdivision of the hall.

Might Boost Home Industry.

But if he is a little better than the boys on his hall team he is sent up to the varsity, and just where Will Bingham thinks this system conflicts with the system which he is installing at Harvard is not visible to the naked eye. In fact, it would have been very nice of Mr. Bingham and Harvard and a boost to a home industry to say that Harvard was installing the Notre Dame system.

It is true that Notre Dame and Oxford and Cambridge are alike in their systems, and that Notre Dame was not the originator; but one may be quite sure that Notre Dame did not consciously copy Oxford and Cambridge, but just happened to hit upon the same idea. I can't imagine Notre Dame trying to be British.

Likely to Increase Interest.

However, far from deemphasizing football at Harvard, this new system of turning the boys out for the game is likely to increase the competitive interest all the way down the line and to produce some of the best football teams that Harvard ever had. Thus Harvard will underemphasize football and lick Yale, which is one of the main purposes of life at Harvard, as any one would agree who saw the Harvards uproot the steel goal posts and burn red fire in the

TWENTY GRAND'S PILOT HURT

BY ARCH WARD.

William Harridge, president of the American league, recently was quoted as saying that the great showing of the Philadelphia Athletics undoubtedly was hurting attendance in his organization. Westbrook Pegler later suggested that the Athletics be handicapped. His plan was to charge a fixed number of games against the MacGillicuddies and credit them to their opponents. Other writers have bemoaned the big lead acquired by Connie Mack's players, but none has come through with constructive criticism.

D. W. Lester of Wilmette submits an idea that might restore interest in the American league race if adopted. His plan:

"Inasmuch as the Athletics are known as the White Elephants I suggest that their tusks [bats] be shortened. The number of inches to be cut off their bats would depend upon the standing of their opponents and range from six inches when they are playing Washington to no bats at all when playing the White Sox, St. Louis, or Detroit.

"A still better idea might be to shorten their bats six inches against all opponents but build bats with different degrees of curvature for other teams, ranging from a nearly round bat for Washington to a perfectly square one for the Browns and Tigers. This you can see will keep the weaker teams from popping up all the time. They will either hit 'em or miss 'em and thus the game will be more nearly even.

"Of course, it might be in order to pass a rule forcing Mack's right hand pitchers to throw left handed and Lefty Grove to pitch right handed. Or it might be better to make the Macks use a regular baseball when pitching while other teams are privileged to use a tennis ball, but I believe the bat suggestion is the best."

A HORSE IS A HORSE.

Emory L. Duick, a race fan, rises to remark that Plucky Play was handed victory in the Hawthorne handicap last Saturday on a silver tray. He charges a gross error in judgment to the track handicapper. From his letter I gather he contends that Sun Beau with 131 pounds up carried too much weight or Plucky Play with 106 carried too little. He states that he had no wager on the race, but out of respect for the great horse Sun Beau he urged that his opinion be published. His letter in part:

"After all, a horse is a horse, and can perform within certain limits relative to distance, speed, and mass carried. Training develops the efficiency. A handicap tends to make things equal, but a horse, a biological specimen and not a machine, can dispense just so many pounds of energy and has no more.

"Now the point I want to make is this: There were two stake horses fighting it out with 25 pounds difference in weight.

"Another angle in the race also struck me. The Nut has not won a race in this vicinity but he was well taken care of with 112 pounds. Plucky Play, with a good racing record out west and a victory in the Arlington Stars and Stripes, was let in with 106 pounds.

"Why this difference?"

A CLERGYMAN FAN.

The Rev. John Raymond Hand, minister at the Church by the Side of the Road, Lisle, Ill., steps to bat for the White Sox with the following remarks:

"I have been a rabid White Sox fan since there has been a White Sox team. I was an admirer of the Old Roman even before that and, having grown up in the environs of Indianapolis, I have taken a great interest in the career of Donie Bush. Notwithstanding the present condition of the team I am still for them and their owner and manager.

"Any one who says Comiskey is a tightwad doesn't know what he is talking about. No one ever spent money more freely to build a team when there was a chance of getting results, but ball players do not grow in clusters to be sold three for a quarter in the open market. If there was a player for sale who could strengthen the team he would be in White Sox uniform as soon as the old boy could sign a check.

"As for Bush, he is in a class with McGraw, in his day, and Joe McCarthy. He has almost performed a miracle this season considering the misfortunes that have beset him. Lyons, McKain, Jolley, Reynolds, and Moore have been practically a total loss because of injury or sickness. In fact, Lu Blue is the only veteran Bush has had to rely upon. Take Earnshaw, Grove, Simmons, and Miller from the Athletics and see what happens."

TO HUNT DUCKS, OR NOT TO HUNT: THAT'S QUESTION

Biological Survey Will Supply Answer.

BY BOB BECKER.

It is unlikely that there will be any definite decision on the duck hunting regulations for the season of 1931-'32 for several days, if not ten days or two weeks. So sportsmen are due for an anxious wait until the news comes from Washington.

This was the announcement made last night by Brooke Anderson of Highland Park, Ill., an adviser of the United States biological survey, regarding the numerous rumors and stories which have been broadcast to the effect that a shortage in the duck crop, due to drought conditions, would make it imperative to close the season entirely or curtail both the season and bag limits.

The Adviser Speaks.

In discussing what the biological survey is doing before making a move regarding the present waterfowl hunting laws, Mr. Anderson said:

"I have just talked with H. P. Sheldon of the survey and he tells me that Paul Redington, chief of the United States biological survey, and Dr. W. C. Henderson are now in the northwest making a thorough survey of the duck population in coöperation with Canadian officials. Nothing will be done about the laws until this investigation is completed and the facts about the duck shortage are assembled. Then, if changes in the regulations are made, they will represent joint action of the government and the Canadian officials.

Unwilling to Curtail Season.

"The survey is no more anxious to take drastic action and curtail duck hunting than sportsmen are averse to such a step. But there isn't any doubt that two poor nesting seasons have cut down the North American waterfowl population. Any hunter knows that. How serious this depletion is will be known as soon as the present survey is completed."

Meantime, Chicago sportsmen are divided into two camps over the controversy which has arisen regarding the necessity of reducing the open season this fall. Some argue that it is good business and sound conservation to do less shooting this fall or even no water fowl hunting at all and give the ducks a chance to stage a come back, rather than hunt this season and then possibly have no open season for several years.

John C. Drake, president of the Grand Island club, one of the oldest and most exclusive duck hunting clubs on the Illinois river, believes that unless the situation is very serious it would be better to reduce both bag limits and open season rather than close down on all water fowl hunting this fall.

Business Needs Hunting.

"Paul Redington and the survey men are fair and level headed," Mr. Drake said, "so I am sure whatever action is taken with respect to duck hunting will be reasonable.

"If this were a good year from the standpoint of business, the sport of duck hunting wouldn't take on quite so much importance, but to stop all water fowl shooting this year will mean another jolt to dozens of industries and thousands of men who make good money during the season. Hunting represents an annual turnover of millions. I doubt if the duck shortage is so acute that it will be necessary to stop all duck hunting in the United States."

Walter C. Peacock, well known Chicago trap shot and duck hunter, a member of the Crane Lake Duck club on the Illinois, opposes a closed season on ducks and states that this talk about a serious shortage of birds is partly a smoke screen by rabid conservationists to stop all waterfowl hunting in the country.

Mr. Peacock's Views.

"I am afraid," he said yesterday, "that if the open season is taken off this year we'll never get it open again."

Ralph B. Bradford, director of conservation of the state of Illinois, says that he has filed protest with the biological survey against any changes in the present laws and adds that his office is receiving thousands of letters from Illinois sportsmen in support of this stand.

STORK TO VISIT TUNNEYS?

Fall Hastens Polly's Visit to Hospital

Damariscotta, Me., Aug. 11.—(AP)—A fall she suffered on a motorboat landing at John's island ten days ago was thought to have caused the transfer to a local hospital of Mrs. Gene Tunney, wife of the former heavyweight champion, who is expecting the birth of a child, it was learned today.

Although hospital authorities refused to give any information, it was learned that she was taken to the hospital on the advice of physicians a week or ten days ago. Her condition was not believed to be dangerous.

The Tunneys have spent several seasons at John's island. Tunney left tonight for an unknown destination, saying he would be gone several days. He has spent several nights in the hospital with Mrs. Tunney.

WEST'S 2 HITS BOOSTS BIG SIX TO 7 MEMBERS

The big six took on a seventh member again yesterday as Sam West of Washington, garnered two hits in four times at bat and advanced just enough to tie Earl Webb for third place in the American league.

West picked up two points, while Webb's one hit in three times up held his average at .360. Al Simmons hit safely twice in five attempts, but failed to improve his average. Standing:

LEN KOENECKE GOES TO GIANTS IN $75,000 DEAL

New York, Aug. 11.—[Special.]—First steps in the rehabilitation of the Giants, which John McGraw is certain to make next winter, came today with the announcement that Leonard Koenecke, outfielder of the Indianapolis club, has been purchased for $75,000.

At the request of the Indianapolis club, however, this sum is to be paid by its equivalent in players, who will not be turned over by the Giants until the close of the next spring training campaign. Koenecke will not report to the Giants until the first squad reports at Los Angeles next February. Koenecke is said to be a fence buster and highly capable ball hawk. McGraw scouted him on the Giants' last western trip. It was not until McGraw had engaged in a spirited bidding duel with the Cubs that the deal was closed, it is said.

In 98 games with Indianapolis so far this year, Koenecke has come to bat 287 times, made 141 hits, has scored 89 runs and has compiled a batting average of .375. He has driven in 95 runs and at the moment the deal was being closed, he won a game last Saturday with a home run and bagged two games with circuit clouts on Sunday.

ERNIE SCHAAF STOPS SNYDER IN 5 ROUNDS

Boston, Mass., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Ernie Schaaf scored a five round knockout over Angus Snyder, Dodge City, Kas., heavyweight, here tonight. Schaaf dropped Snyder three times in the fifth round. He was trying to pull himself upright when Referee Johnny Martin stopped the bout.

A terrific right hook, a direct hit to the jaw, dropped Snyder the first time. He was up at nine, reeling, and another right dropped him. Snyder, however, again struggled to his feet, only to sink a third time under Schaaf's barrage.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Mr. Charles A. Comiskey, having ably alleviated the suffering in the White Sox pitching department, now finds his outfit trying to operate without the use of their batting implements. His boys yesterday took their second successive shutout lacing, 3 to 0, the victors in this instance being Firpo Marberry and associate Washington Senators.

The Sox pounded out only three hits to bring their total for their last 20 innings to a rousing four. Of these four White Sox hits, Johnny Kerr has made two—one Sunday and one yesterday—and yesterday he was so excited with having achieved his second hit that he completely forgot the art of base running and nipped the Sox's one possible rally by dashing on and on after he had singled. The enterprise was blighted when Cronin trotted 10 feet off second base to tag Johnny with a baseball which Sam Rice had thrown to him some seconds earlier.

This, Mates, Is Offensive.

That you may appreciate the great depression in the Sox batting department, we herewith present the following record of Sox slugging in recent trips to the plate:

Fonseca, no hits in nine trips.
Kerr, two hits in eight trips.

Thus it may be seen that Kerr is leading the bone crushing with an average of .250, pressed by Sullivan and Watwood with marks of .125. The punch of the remainder of the cast is expressed in their grand average, which is exactly .000.

The reversal placed the Sox in a tie with the Boston Red Sox, who defeated the St. Louis Browns. The White Sox and the Red Sox have won 42 games and lost 65. The Sox, however, lost no ground to the tail enders, the Detroit Tigers, who dropped a game to the champion A's. The Sox of White and the Sox of Red are two games out of the cellar and the Bostonians have Chicago as their next stop, which means another crucial series is in the offing.

Faber pitched well enough yesterday to have been in the contest if the Sox had been doing any hitting of the kind that characterized their efforts for four or five weeks prior to the aforementioned 20 inning slump.

Ol' Red Did Right Well.

The game was a scoreless tie until Sam Rice, who is almost as seasoned as Faber, got things moving in the fourth inning. Sam opened with a double and went to third after Reynolds had made a great running catch of Manush's drive to right center. Cronin tapped to Faber, and Red trying to make a tardy play on Rice at the plate, threw the ball to the screen, Rice scoring as he would have anyhow, and Cronin going on to second.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—A nose finish enlivened the tenth running of the Saratoga Sales stake, featured here today, but the excitement of a ding dong finish was marred by what looked like one of the most flagrant cases of close riding to be seen this season.

Sylvester W. Labrot's Mexico, by Eternal from Antipodes, and thus a half brother to the filly The Beasel, which won the stake in 1929, was declared the winner after 10 minutes deliberation on a claim of foul.

Makalu Is Sufferer.

The close riding was committed against Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt's Makalu, which finished second after being hemmed in on the rail from the furlong pole to the wire. Mack Garner appeared to rest Mexico on Makalu and force Mrs. Vanderbilt's horse to carry Mexico the last hundred yards.

Laverne Fator, a veteran who has a reputation for never claiming a foul, preferring to wait his chance for retaliation, wasted not a minute this afternoon but scampered up the stairs to the stewards. The stands bussed with conversation and there was considerable surprise expressed that so long was taken to reach a decision. Surprise changed to indignation when the order of finish was confirmed, but there was also scattering applause.

Backers Are Divided.

As in many other such instances, it is probable that the pros and cons were divided on the basis of the horses backed. Makalu was the 7 to 5 favorite, while Mexico was held at 7 to 2, largely on the basis of the good race he ran back of Larranaga last week.

Five others ran, making the value to the winner $4,300. George H. Bull, president of the Saratoga association, presented to Mr. Labrot the cup donated by the Fasig-Tilton company.

WEST PARKS TO HOLD FIELD DAY, PICNIC TODAY

Nearly 1,000 boys and girls under 15 years of age will participate today in the annual field day and picnic staged by the west park commissioners in Humboldt park, according to William J. H. Schuitz, superintendent of small parks and playgrounds. The program will include shoe races, three legged races, chariot races, target throwing, and standing broad jump events.

The boys and girls are those registered for supervised play in the sixteen parks and playgrounds of the west park system. Once a year they are brought together for a day of sport as guests of the park commissioners.

On Saturday junior and senior girls of west park playgrounds will compete at Douglas park in the finals of track and field events held during the summer. Miss Helen Filkey, holder of the world record for the 60 yard hurdles and the American record for 80 meters, will give a hurdling exhibition.

44 YEARLINGS BRING $36,550 AT SARATOGA

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—The sales of yearlings, an annual feature of the race meeting here, began tonight in a steady drizzle which, however, did not materially reduce attendance. A total of 44 head were sold for $36,550. They were from the Kink Levington stud of the late Richard T. Wilson, the Shandon stud of the late Gifford A. Cochran, and from the Swingalong stud.

The briskest buying was in the Shandon stud lot where 16 head brought a total of $23,550. The highest price was for a brown colt purchased by William Ziegler, Jr., for $7,000. The colt is a full brother to Flying Heels, winner of the Pimlico Futurity and of more than $100,000.

MATE AND SEVEN OTHERS START IN SARANAC TODAY

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Mate, owned by A. C. Bostwick, which was hailed as the 3 year old turf champion when he defeated Twenty Grand in the Arlington classic, tomorrow afternoon will go to the post in the Saranac handicap, feature of the day's card at the Saratoga race track.

Mate will carry 127 pounds over the mile route. Others in the race are Novelist, owned by J. E. Widener; Mrs. Payne Whitney's Surf Board; Halcyon, property of C. V. Whitney; Great Gun, A La Carte, Backgammon and Sir Ashley.

Bertazzola Barred in 26 States for Retzlaff Bout

I SAY took a short lead after going a quarter and, shaking off SIMPLE SINGER, withstood the challenge of BAND TIME to draw into a safe lead in the final furlong. THE WHIG came fast on the outside in the stretch and got up to be second in last stride. SIMPLE SINGER could not keep up with the early leaders but raced fairly well. BAND TIME quit in the long stretch run. CRYSTAL PRINCE and PLAYING appeared to dislike the going.

SECOND RACE—Six and a half furlongs. Purse $1,200, claiming, 3 year olds and up. Net value to winner, $850, second $200; third, $100; fourth, $50.

BARON KING, showing great improvement in the muddy going, was well placed in the early stages, and, coming strongly in the stretch to catch NUSAKAN, was slowly drawing away at the finish. NUSAKAN went to the front soon after the start and, responding gamely to the urging, could not resist winner. CROFTON, although not partial to the track, closed with courage on the outside. THE OKAH was tiring at the finish. ROMANY RAW was done after going six furlongs. AQUAPLANE and THOMAS SETH also tired. COMMON SENSE, FORAKER and FORTUNE'S FAVORITE were off slowly.

GUIDE RIGHT followed REVERBERATE under restraint in the early part and, going to the front when ready, approaching the stretch turn drew into a long lead in the run home and could accept command only to come in under restraint. CHIP, in the last quarter, and PORT O' PLAY also closed a gap and got up to be third in last stride. REVERBERATE weakened in the run home. The others were never dangerous.

GIVANNA followed the pace closely for a quarter, then moved up strongly to get to the front at stretch turn and hold away to the end. AT SUNRISE raced wide throughout and challenged gamely in the stretch but was not good enough to pass the winner. GALA FLIGHT, a factor throughout, PORTER'S DREAM and COLONIAL BELLE weakened in the final quarter.

PITTSBURGHER was outrun for half the distance, then came fast on the outside to wear down the early leaders in the stretch and win going away. MY DANDY, racing well, drew up and gained a head from KARL EITEL after going a furlong. KARL EITEL, after a short lead held the others. ESKIMO could never get to the leaders. DON LEON acted badly at the barrier but broke well and set the pace only to stop badly in the final furlong. HOT SHOT tired badly.

ED LARK followed DUELIST closely in the early running and took command at stretch turn but could not hold winner. CHILLY FLIGHT came from far back to take third money when DUELIST quit. DUELIST went to the front early but stopped badly in the last quarter and was doing little better than walking in the last sixteenth.

WOMEN BREAK 2 ARCHERY MARKS IN TITLE MEET

Canandaigua, N. Y., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Two world's records, one of 36 years standing and the other of 15, were broken today in the opening rounds of the 51st annual championship tournament of the National Archer association.

In the first Columbia round, Dorothy Duggan of Greenwich, Conn., had 72 hits for a score of 530, which gave her first place and beat the record made by Cynthia Wesson of Cotuit, Mass., in 1915. In the first national round Mrs. Dorothy Cummings of Newton Center, Mass., had 70 hits for a score of 426 and first place. This beat the 398 of Mrs. M. C. Howell of Cincinnati, shot in 1895.

Mrs. Cummings was in second place in the first Columbia with 71—517 and Miss Duggan was second in the first national with 69—383.

FETZ, CHAMPION, WINS 2D MATCH IN CITY TOURNEY

Defeats Wolf, 4 and 2, on Flooded Course.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Ben Fetz, the golf champion who needs a lesson, continued the defense of his Chicago amateur title yesterday by defeating Charley Wolf of Woodbridge, 4 and 2, as the field in the 27th annual tournament at Jackson park was reduced to 32. Fetz played a conservative game throughout to win. Today he meets Ernie Bones, a fellow player from Jackson park, who drew a bye yesterday.

BEN FETZ.

The championship and first flights resumed yesterday and today, a third flight for players with a handicap of 7 strokes or over will begin. Each of these will carry a consolation flight. Today's round will be at 18 holes, but tomorrow will see the first of the 36 hole matches.

Several Greens are Flooded.

Sunday night's rain turned a large part of the Jackson park course into a miniature lagoon, flooding the first, second and third fairways and greens, as did yesterday the fourth hole was to first, and the fourth, fifth and sixth served as the last three holes of the round.

The Pacific coast party which stopped in Monday on its way home from the national public parks tournament at St. Paul, Minn., evidently has settled to stay. Six of the seven California golfers, including Barney Lucas of Los Angeles, runner up to Fetz last year, advanced yesterday. J. L. Hunter of Long Beach being the only loser. He was eliminated, 6 and 5, by Dave Joseph of Bryn Mawr.

Former Western Champ Wins.

Among others who won their matches yesterday were Sam Alpert of Columbus park, former western junior champion; Charley Kinnucan of Grand, former city titleholder, and Al Anderegan of Jackson park and E. A. Mathison of Oak Hills, champion and runner up, respectively, in the recent midwest public parks tournament.

A dispute in the match between T. E. McInerny of Marquette park and Ted Lloyd of the home club caused the tournament committee to rule that they play an extra nine holes this morning.

HEINLEIN'S 140 WINS MEDAL IN INDIANA GOLF

French Lick, Ind., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Overcoming a stiff wind to add a 71 to his 69 yesterday, Bill Heinlein, young star from the Speedway club at Indianapolis, easily led the field of more than 90 to win medal honors with 140 in the state amateur golf tournament here this afternoon. Heinlein went out today in 35, one under par, and came in in par 36. His remarkable play was only two strokes higher than the qualifying record made in 1926 by George Lance. Heinlein is present state junior champion. Bobby Reasner, Kokomo, the former state champion, who won medal honors here last year with 149, went around in 82 today, giving him a total of 161.

Miss Standish, Bedford, outstanding southern Indiana entry, was forced to quit play today because of her father's sudden illness after a par 41 yesterday. The 1932 tournament will go to the Woodman Country club at Hammond.

Clarence Hackney Retains Philadelphia Open Crown

Garland, Pa., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Clarence Hackney, Atlantic City, N. J., retained his Philadelphia Open Golf championship title today by carding 147 over the 36 hole play to lead the field by three strokes. Big Ed Dudley, Western Open champion, who was struck by lightning yesterday while putting on the 36th hole, tied with three others at 150 for second place. Al Nelson of Dudley, Ralph Beach of Baltimore and Ralph Hutchinson of Concord.

Gary Boy's 73 Wins Medal in Western Junior Golf Meet

John H. Root, 19 years old, of Gary, Ind., shot a 72 over the rain soaked course of the Midlothian Country club yesterday to lead a field of 280 youths in the qualifying round of the 17th annual western junior golf tournament.

Root, who is a sophomore at the University of Michigan, steadied after a poor start and shot the last 12 holes in three under par. Only the sogginess of the greens, which caused him to three-putt on three of the first six holes, kept him from breaking par of 71.

Despite the waterlogged condition of the course, the qualifying scores were unusually low, the first 28 places going to boys who shot 79 or lower. Eight others tied for the last four places with 80s, four of them qualifying on the first extra hole. Three of the eight failed to appear for the playoff.

Bohnen Two Behind.

Robert G. Bohnen, champion of Midlothian in 1930 and 1931, trailed Root by two strokes to take second place with a 39—36—75, traversing the second nine holes in even par. He was one of the early starters and his score led for the greater part of the day, until Root turned in his card. Four were tied for third, one stroke behind Bohnen. They are Eugene Rappaport, Twin Orchards; Alfred Favelli, Lake Shore; Louis Goesel, Homewood, and Richard Bardwell, Madison, Wis.

The qualifying scores:

John C. Root, Gary, Ind.	73
Robert G. Bohnen, Midlothian	75
Eugene Rappaport, Twin Orchards	76
Alfred Favelli, Lake Shore	76
Louis Goesel, Homewood	76

John Graw, Illinois	79
Eugene W. Budd, Chicago	80
John Banks, LaGrange	80
George Schlapp, St. Louis	80
Carl Hoff, Chicago	80

Budd, Banks, Schlapp, and Hoff tied with Claude F. Myers, Kansas City; H. T. Wagner, Berwyn; T. W. Schacht, East Moline, and C. Grosse of Ridgemoor. When they started their playoff Myers, Wagner, and Schacht did not appear and only five went to the tee. Schlapp shot a par four on the first hole, while Banks, Budd, and Hoff took fives. Grosse's six eliminated him.

Among those who failed to qualify was Winfield Day Jr. of Elmhurst, whose consistent tournament play had established him as one of the favorites. Day, playing early in the morning before the sun had even begun to dry out the course, shot an 85.

Root, the medalist, although well known as a football and basketball player in Gary, has been playing golf only three years. This is the second time he has entered the western junior. He failed to qualify the first time. After his disastrous first six holes Root began laying his approach shots close to the pin, thereby eliminating the necessity of attempting long putts across the sodden greens. On the 533 yard par 5 seventh hole he garnered a birdie by dropping his approach shot eight feet from the pin and holing his putt. From there on he shot par on eight consecutive holes, followed by a birdie four on the 507 yard 16th. He shot par on the 17th and took a birdie three on the 18th.

His card:

Par—Out	434	444	543	35
Par—In	443	543	544	36—71
Root—Out	545	443	434	36
Root—In	443	543	443	34—73

John C. Root, Gary, and Bob Ascher, Idlewild.

Bob Cochrane, St. Louis, and J. M. Moore, Chicago.

Juniors Shade Scores Made in Amateur Trials

The national amateur qualifying round was played on July 29 at Onwentsia, a par 71 course. The qualifying round of the western junior tournament was played yesterday at Midlothian, also par 71. A comparison of the two fields shows that the boys took the honors—and without any age allowance.

Jack Westland of Sunset Ridge led the national trials with 76—74—150. John Root of Gary was the junior medalist with 73. The juniors played only 18 holes over a rain soaked course, but under conditions as favorable as those of the national qualifying round Root probably would have at least equaled Westland's score.

Thirty-four qualified for the national and of these 12 were over 160, the equivalent of two rounds of 80. The juniors qualified 32, all having 80 or better.

Yesterday's junior trials were played over a course where the rain had not yet been absorbed. The wind was the chief hazard in the national round at Onwentsia. Apparently the juniors played under at least as adverse conditions as their elders.

The national qualifiers are good golfers. Chicago has been questioned as having younger players to take the places of players like Bob Gardner and Chick Evans. The list of juniors bids well to answer the problem.

Milwaukee Ring Tourney Given N. B. A. Title Tag

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Thomas E. Donohue, chairman of the championships committee of the National Boxing association, today sanctioned the plan of the Wisconsin boxing commission for a world's middleweight championship tournament to select a successor to Mickey Walker, who recently relinquished the title.

Twenty middleweights, including Len Harvey of England, have been invited to compete in the tournament which will get under way at Milwaukee Aug. 25. Each entrant will be required to post a $200 forfeit.

APPROVES THREE DATES.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 11.—(AP)—The Wisconsin boxing commission today approved three dates for the beginning of an elimination tournament here to decide a successor to Mickey Walker, retired middleweight champion.

Promoters Tom Andrews and Billy Mitchell, who will stage the elimination fights weekly, said about 20 of the outstanding contenders were expected to enter the competition and entry blanks already have been sent the fighters.

EASTERN TURF COURT TENNIS IS RAINED OUT

Rye, N. Y., Aug. 11.—(AP)—There being little else to do but talk, play in the eastern turf court tennis championships being washed out by rain, Frederick J. Perry, rising young star of the English Davis cup team, was asked the best way to learn to play top flight tennis.

"Travel," said Perry, who started out as a ping pong player and then learned his tennis on the courts of London's public parks.

He said he thought competition against players from North and South American and European stars in the last two years—meeting all styles of play—had improved his own game beyond the point he would have attained in playing familiar English competitors.

Perry will meet his first real test of the tournament tomorrow in the third round when he meets Bryan Grant, Atlanta.

YOUTHS ACCUSE CYRIL WALKER, PRO, OF ASSAULT

New York, Aug. 11.—[Special.]—A warrant for the arrest of Cyril Walker, former United States open golf champion and now professional at the Saddle River Country club at Hackensack, N. J., on a charge of assault and battery, was obtained in Hackensack today by John Pagano, 15 years old, of Paterson, a caddy at the Ridgewood Country club.

Young Pagano told William Conley, the clerk of the first district criminal court, who issued the warrant, that on the afternoon of July 30 last, he and a friend, Dominick Perratto, were on their way home and were crossing the links of the Saddle River Country club when they were stopped by Walker, who took a number of golf balls from Perratto and struck Pagano.

Outside of This Mrs. Moody Is in Excellent Condition

New York, Aug. 11.—[Special.]—According to the various statements made by Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, she is likely to begin play in the women's national tennis championship next week aboard a pair of crutches. She defaulted in the eastern turf-court battle here, she explained, because she had a strained back, blistered heel, and severe case of fatigue. She also told officials she merely entered so she could play if she felt right.

Somerville Beats Guilford, 12-11, in Canadian Golf

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Three United States contenders, including Jesse Guilford of Boston, were eliminated in the first round of match play in the Canadian amateur golf championship today. Guilford, counted upon to furnish strenuous opposition for the defending champion, C. Ross Somerville of London, Ont., lost to Carroll Stuart of Montreal, 12 and 11.

In addition to Guilford, two other United States entrants, Jack McCarthy of Boston, Mass., and J. Van Northwick of Wheaton, Ill., were beaten today. Three others, however, advanced to the third round—Arthur [Ducky] Yates of Rochester, N. Y., William A. Ryan of Detroit, and his son, Francis W. Ryan, also of Detroit, and medalist in the qualifying round a year ago.

The thirteen Canadian survivors in addition to Somerville and Stuart included Phil Farley of Toronto, Ontario amateur champion; Fred Hobilitzel and Nicol Thompson of Toronto, F. J. Woods, Victoria; R. Morrison of Vancouver, and Jack Cameron, T. C. McAthey, R. Costello and H. B. Jacques, Edwin A. Innes, and Gordon Taylor, all of Montreal.

Yates, now considered the principal United States threat, eliminated J. W. Tuffe of Montreal, 11 and 10. Francis Ryan had little more trouble with Carson MacWilliams of Winnipeg, winning, 7 and 6. William Ryan put out the Ottawa player, Frank Corrigan, 4 and 3.

Billy Doeg Is Victorious in Junior Tennis

Culver, Ind., Aug. 11.—[Special.]—Play in the national boys' and junior tennis championships entered the third round today on the wind swept courts of Culver Military academy with favorites smashing their way to victory.

Other Seeded Stars Win.

Other seeded junior players, Ramey Donovan, Wilbur Hess, Jack Lynch, Nelson McIntosh and Jay Cohn, experienced little difficulty in reaching the third bracket.

Watwood made the first hit off Marberry when he started the fifth inning with a line single to center. Kerr then shot another hot single to right and although Rice had the ball when Johnny reached first, the young man kept running and was an easy victim far from second. Watwood had stopped at third and died there when Cissell fouled to Bluege and Grube was called out on strikes.

The Senators' third run was made in the sixth inning. Manush singled to right, went to second on Cronin's sacrifice, and tallied on West's single. The third and final Sox hit was made by Sullivan with two out in the Sox half of this inning. Reynolds ended the inning with his second strikeout.

The Sox are spirited young men and will go out today and try to use their bats on the offerings of Alvin Crowder. Victor Frasier will do the pitching for the Chicagoans.

If the Sox win today, it will be their fifth victory of the season, as compared with 11 losses. Even if they don't win, their showing to date against the Senators is better than against the other two so-called contenders, the A's and the Yanks.

RETZLAFF SIGNS TO BOX CAMPOLO ON SEPTEMBER 3

James J. Johnston, promoting at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, has announced a bout between Campolo and Ernie Schaaf, Elizabeth, N. J., heavyweight, for Aug. 27. Although the Madison Square Garden corporation is preparing to seek an injunction preventing the Schaaf match as a violation of a contract it claims to hold on Campolo's exclusive services, Johnston reiterated he is proceeding with plans for the Aug. 27 show.

Ben Jeby-Mueller Fight Postponed Until Tonight

A's Conquer Tigers; Grove Wins No. 23

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Lefty Grove won his 23d game of the season today as he pitched the Philadelphia Athletics to an 8 to 1 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Grove was touched for eight hits and walked four, but tightened up in the pinches and struck out six men. A pair of singles and an infield out accounted for the Tigers' sole run in the third inning.

Victor Sorrell, starting for the Tigers, was knocked off the mound with six hits in one and one-third innings, one of them being a home run by McNair. Sullivan finished. Score:

MUD, THREAT OF RAIN GIVE CUBS A DAY OF REST

Play Double Header with Phillies Today.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 11.—The Cubs weren't able to go through the formality of opening their final eastern tour this afternoon. There was a layer of mud on the field at rickety old Baker bowl and there were prospects of rain, so the management of the Phillies lost no time canceling the day's scheduled show and using it as part of a double header for tomorrow.

The Cubs themselves didn't object to being granted an afternoon of leisure. Two successive nights on bumpy sleepers combined with the loss of three out of four since leaving home sort of put a crimp in their enthusiasm for work. The fact that they are not gaining ground on the leading Cardinals also has had a depreciating effect on the ardor of the Chicagoans. Most of them now are concentrating on second place money and a city series split.

Acquire New Pitcher.

There was an addition to the Cub party today in the person of Pitcher Johnny Welch. The lad was delivered personally to Manager Hornsby by Clarence Rowland, who is owner, president, secretary, manager, and general utility man of the Reading club. Welch has been pitching for that team since the Cubs turned him loose after carrying him for a couple of seasons as an outstanding prospect. He has been a consistent winner this summer. Hornsby is buying the lad back merely to avoid a shortage of pitchers for the double header season which starts at Boston next Sunday. The Cubs must play five bargain bills in 12 days.

Hornsby also is conducting a quiet search for other help, mainly an outfielder and infielder. The club had an idea that a fly chaser good enough to be carried as a reserve man until the end of the season might be grubbed by waiver from some National league club, but that hasn't happened and probably won't. The only alternative is to buy some ex-major leaguer from one of the class AA minors. At present Hack Wilson is the only extra outfielder available.

GRAIN MARKETS FLUCTUATE IN RAPID MANNER

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The grain markets yesterday fluctuated rapidly and in a manner that was rather inclined to bewilder the average trader. A small dip early was followed by a sharp rally, with wheat advancing around 1c and corn 1¼@2c from the early low, but the advance brought in profit taking and selling by longs and corn turned decidedly weak toward the last, running into stop loss orders and all deliveries dropped to a new low on the crop.

September corn sold down to 48¾c after touching 51⅛c on the bulge, while the December brok to 53⅞@53c, the lowest figure at which that future has sold since December, 1909. It was the general impression of the trade that weather conditions since the government report was compiled had been sufficiently favorable to check deterioration over the greater part of the belt, and if conditions continue favorable a much larger crop would be secured than was indicated by the Aug. 1 returns.

Corn Closes at Bottom.

With the exception of a heavy rain locally, the weather map showed no precipitation overnight which had some effect on sentiment early, but toward the last there was general selling of corn which disclosed a weak technical position and the finish was at the bottom, with net losses of 1⅝c on the September and ⅝@1⅛c on the deferred futures. September closed at 48¾c to 49c; December, 39c, and May, 43½c to 43⅝c.

Rumors that the recent squeeze of the shorts in July corn by a leading local professional was to be investigated by the grain futures administration was regarded as having had some effect on the market during the day. Government officials, however, denied that they had taken any action in the matter.

Wheat Resists Pressure.

Foreign news as a whole was more favorable to holders of wheat than for some time past, and was a factor in causing an early upturn in the market, but the late weakness in corn led to commission house and local selling and the finish was ½@⅝c lower, with September, 49⅝c; December, 53¼c to 53⅜c, and May, 58c to 58⅛c.

Little attention was paid to the government crop report as the limited spring wheat yield offset the record breaking winter crop. Spreading operations between Chicago and Winnipeg furnished considerable business, with the latter market sold against purchases here and the reverse. Winnipeg was off ⅛@⅜c at the last, with October 56⅝c. Liverpool advanced 1⅛@1⅝d for the day, with October closing at 56⅝c.

Russians Offers Firmer.

Russia is still a big factor in the wheat market, and while primary cables indicated a crop there decidedly under that of last year, with reports from the spring grain area pessimistic, it was understood that so far around 4,500,000 bu. cash wheat has been sold to the United Kingdom, and around 750,000 bu were sold yesterday at 53⅝c, or ⅝c better than the previous day. Little was heard regarding Danubian offerings, although a price of 24¾c per bu, the lowest in over 100 years, was mentioned as prevailing at several of the leading ports for Rumanian grain.

Prospects that the orient would continue to be a heavy buyer of North American cash wheat gave the bulls hope of higher prices, and Winnipeg messages claimed there was a possibility of around 60,000,000 bu being taken between now and the end of the season. A shortage in the Burma rice crop was regarded as likely to have some effect on the demand for wheat.

German Crop Limited.

Owing to fact the German wheat crop is somewhat under home requirements there were claims that the quota of foreign grain would be increased to 30 per cent. Import needs were placed at around 12,000,000 bu. Aside from sales of 500,000 bu Manitobas in all positions there was little export business claimed during the day.

Oats prices had a range of around 1c, advancing early only to weaken later in sympathy with corn, and closed ⅝@⅞c lower. September was 22c; December, 23¾c, and May, 26⅝c at the last.

Russia was reported to have sold around 500,000 bu of rye to Rotterdam at 39⅝c c. i. f. yesterday for September-November shipment, but cables indicated that Germany would have no rye to spare this season, as the crop of 7,200,000 tons would be needed. Futures here closed ⅝@1c lower with wheat, the September being 32¾c; December, 37⅛c, and May, 41⅛c at the last.

CAR LOADINGS GIVE EVIDENCE OF TRADE GAIN

Business Emerging from Dullness.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Signs that business and industry are beginning to emerge from their midsummer lassitude appeared yesterday. Some pickup in general trade was indicated by the weekly summary of the railroad movement of commodities and estimates on steel production also pointed to improvement.

The car service division of the American Railway association reported that the loading of revenue freight for the week ended Aug. 1 totaled 757,-[illegible] cars, an increase of 15,541 over the preceding week, although still 162,-[illegible] cars below the figure for the corresponding week last year. Miscellaneous freight for the final week of July improved 2,516 cars over the preceding week, but was 71,939 below a year ago.

The next large decline compared with a year ago was in ore loadings, which totaled 25,196 cars as the result of abnormally low operations in the steel industry. Lesser declines were shown in merchandise, coal, forest products, coke, and grain and grain products. On the other hand, live stock showed a small increase.

Reports Steel Gain.

Slight improvement in the steel industry was reported by the American Iron and Steel Market, which estimated average steel ingot production at 33 per cent of capacity, which is the best rate established in the last month. A week ago the publication placed the average between 30 and 31 per cent, while for the preceding three weeks the estimate was steady around 32 per cent of capacity. The Pittsburgh district now is at 33 per cent, with the Youngstown district above and the Chicago district below the general average.

"The chances are that production will climb slightly during the remainder of the month, while a substantial increase is expected for September," the review continues. "The peak rate in the second half of this year may be guessed at between 45 and 50 per cent."

While the immediate outlook of most of the main steel consuming industries is not encouraging, the long-term outlook is not bad, it is pointed out by the Brookmire Economic Service, Inc., which calls attention to the fact that production has now been substantially under normal for an unusually long period and a large potential demand is unquestionably being created.

Declines 35.3 Per Cent.

"The total production of steel in the first six months of 1931 declined 35.3 per cent from the corresponding half of 1930," the survey continued. "The output for the initial six months of this year was the smallest for any corresponding period since 1921. Furthermore, operations continued to decline into the third quarter, reaching a new low level for the current decession in the early weeks of July. This means that the first month of the third quarter was the lowest for the present depression.

"While the production of steel during the first half of 1921 averaged almost 50 per cent greater than the production for the corresponding half of 1931, the mills of the country were able to operate at an average of only 35.4 per cent of capacity as compared with 40.6 per cent in the first half of 1931. Ingot capacity is now estimated at 35 per cent higher than the record production reached in 1929."

Heavy melting steel scrap in the Chicago territory is now quoted at $8 to $8.50, a decline of 50 cents a ton from previous levels.

OIL PRODUCTION SOARS

Petroleum production again turned sharply upward last week as the result of an upturn in east Texas which more than offset declines in most other fields. Daily average gross crude oil output totaled 2,555,550 barrels, an increase of 54,900 barrels a day over the preceding week, according to the American Petroleum Institute. Production in the east Texas field soared 58,-000 barrels a day to a new high level of 650,500 barrels daily.

However, refiners took more oil and expanded operations somewhat, while gasoline stocks continued to shrink. Refineries operated at 66.7 per cent of capacity last week, compared with 65.1 per cent in the previous week. Gasoline stocks declined 861,000 barrels to a total of 35,831,000 barrels.

Woodin, president, in his report to stockholders. "The net current assets on June 30, 1931, were $28,354-425. The company had no loans payable and had in its treasury $17,490,-562 in cash and marketable securities, of which $4,993,818 was in United States government obligations and $5,-292,964 was cash in hand and in banks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—Coal exporters and shippers of Virginia appealed to the interstate commerce commission today in the hearing on the petition of the railroads for a 15 per cent increase in freight rates to save them from additional transportation charges.

The Coal Exporters' Association of the United States through several witnesses presented by Arthur Hale, chairman, of Washington, D. C., said the foreign trade of the nation in coal would be eliminated if the rates on export coal were increased 15 per cent. Such an increase, they asserted, would be sufficient to give the British, Germans and Poles an advantage that could not be overcome by the American exporter.

Virginia is solidly opposed to granting the railroads an increase in rates, the commission was informed by a number of witnesses presented by the corporation commission of the state, which regulates the railroads and utilities.

Asks Emergency Rates.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—(AP)—The Missouri Pacific railroad today applied to the interstate commerce commission for permission to establish emergency drought freight rates on live stock from Nevada to points in Utah, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, and Colorado and return. The application said the drought made necessary the moving of live stock to places where feed is more plentiful.

ASKS PERMISSION TO PAY BANK OF U. S. DIVIDEND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 11.—Superintendent of Banks Joseph A. Broderick today asked permission of the Supreme court to pay a first dividend of 30 cents on the dollar to creditors and depositors of the defunct Chain Bank of the United States whose claims have been filed and accepted. This dividend will total $41,139,608, to be shared in by approximately 400,000 depositors, Mr. Broderick estimated.

Mr. Broderick's account of liquidation proceedings revealed that the liquidation has cost nearly $2,500,000 gross so far. It also revealed that the superintendent now has on hand the sum of $64,952,592.46, representing the amount in the bank at the time of its closing, together with the amounts collected and accrued since that time less the gross expenses and payments during liquidation.

Close Big Rumanian Bank; Deposits Total $42,000,000

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Aug. 11.—(AP)—The Bank of Berkowitz, which was considered one of the soundest institutions of its kind in Rumania, failed to open its doors today and police had to clear the streets of queues of anxious depositors.

The news of the closing of this bank, after the recent failure of the Banca Generala a Tarii Romanesti, was considered politically important for both were closely connected with the Liberal party which formerly controlled the nation's finance.

The Berkowitz bank is said to own important properties estimated to be valued at 1,000,000,000 lei [about $80,-000,000] and to have deposits amounting to 700,000,000 lei [about $42,000,-000].

BATTLE LOOMS ON CONTINENTAL SHARES CONTROL

Columbus, O., Aug. 11.—(AP)—A stockholders' battle to wrest control of Continental Shares Inc. from Cyrus S. Eaton of Cleveland and his financial associates who organized the huge investment concern is scheduled to open here tomorrow.

George L. Gugle, Columbus attorney, has called for the formation of a stockholders' protective committee on the allegation that Eaton, in the interest of himself and others of his companies has administered the affairs of Continental Shares in such a way as to endanger its financial structure.

Proxies were being assembled and checked at Gugle's office for a shareholders meeting tomorrow morning, when a vote on the organization of a protective committee will be taken. Eaton, himself, is not expected to be represented at the meeting except to obtain a transcript of the proceedings.

Gugle has prepared an exhaustive summary of an audit of the company's books.

FOUR FEDERATED STORE COMPANIES NOTE SALES GAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 11.—Since Jan. 31 the stores operated by the four companies composing the Federated Department Stores, Inc., group have reported for the five months ended June 30 number of sales transactions and profits both somewhat ahead of those for the same period in 1930. The operations of these stores, their capital structure and a description of the holding company are contained in a new booklet issued today by Lehman Bros., bankers for the group.

The increases in number of sales transactions and profits indicated the results of the spring and early summer season, the booklet sets forth. "The fall months and Christmas season, the outlook for which is as yet uncertain, are far more important factors in determining profits in the department store business," it adds.

SUGGESTION THAT U. S. SELL GERMANS COPPER ON CREDIT WINS FAVOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 11.—The suggestion that the United States sell copper to Germany on long term credits has been favorably received in copper circles, it was learned in the trade today. It is quite possible that a plan will be worked out, although to date the matter has not gone beyond the academic stage of discussion, it was said.

Proposals that copper be sold to Germany on deferred payment terms are understood to have emanated from the Germans. When the Washington administration some weeks ago offered to sell wheat and cotton to Germany on credit that country came back with a suggestion that copper also would be acceptable if terms could be arranged. When the German proposals were conveyed to copper producers they lent a willing ear.

How much copper the Germans would buy, the price and the terms of payment are all questions to be determined. It is well known that the surplus stocks of copper in this country are very large, the largest in fact on record. The latest statistical report by the American bureau of metal statistics showed stocks in North and South America at the end of June totaled 413,474 short tons. The report as of July 31, due tomorrow, is expected to reveal another big increase. Nearly all of that surplus copper is owned by the producers, although a portion of it has been sold for future delivery. The producers are anxious to get rid of the surplus or as much of it as possible.

The talk in the copper trade is that a three-year credit would be extended to Germany if that country should decide to purchase a substantial amount of the copper stocks.

Other posts for which smaller contracts were awarded for general construction work included Fairfield air depot, Fairfield, O.; Hatbox field, Okla.; Fort Sam Houston, Tex.; Jefferson Barracks, Mo.; March field, Cal.; Fort Wayne, Mich., and Wright field, Okla.

B. F. Goodrich Co. Reports $288,483 Half Year Loss

New York, Aug. 11.—(AP)—The B. F. Goodrich company today reported for the first half of this year net loss of $288,483, compared with net loss of $1,292,906 in the first half of 1930. Consolidated net sales for the first half this year were $59,878,000, as compared with $78,000,000 for the like period last year.

A statement said that in accordance with the usual midyear practice of the company, the material content of semi-finished and finished goods was valued at cost.

"The second quarter operations showed a marked improvement compared with the first quarter of the year," the statement said. The current position of the company is very satisfactory, the current ratio being approximately 3.6 to 1.

I. C. C. Approves Switching Rate Boost in Chicago Area

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—Increases in rail switching rates in the Chicago district were approved today by the interstate commerce commission.

The rates are to be increased from 2 to 3 cents a hundred pounds for one-line hauls, from 2½ to 3½ cents for two-line hauls, and from 3 to 4 cents for three-line hauls or more, minimum carloads of 60,000 pounds. Railway equipment on its own wheels is excepted from the increases, but the commisison said the carriers should establish a reasonable uniform charge on a per-car basis for application to all movements of railway equipment throughout the district.

Charges on Rental Basis.

In instances where it is necessary to utilize private equipment the commission said the shippers should be compensated for the use thereof by specific charges on a rental basis and not through a differential in the freight rates.

Between the Chicago switching district and the Chicago Heights district the commission approved for application a similar basis of switching rates to the extent they would not be in conflict with findings of the commission in a case brought by the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce against the railroads.

The decision of the commission is the culmination of years of effort on the part of the commission, the railroads and shippers to straighten out the switching charge situation in the Chicago area.

"The ascertainment of the cost of performing a particular service is always beset with serious difficulties, and this is particularly true in connection with switching costs within an area as congested as the Chicago switching district, which presents a complicated network of rail lines probably not equaled in any other section of the country," the commission said.

An Exhaustive Study.

The cost study in the case, it said, was perhaps more exhaustive than any heretofore undertaken in any proceeding involving switching charges.

"Considering these facts," it continued, "and the further fact that all of the parties, both shippers and carriers, were practically unanimous in contending for the establisament of an all-commodity basis to apply throughout the Chicago switching district, it appears that the rates proposed for the one, two and three or more line movements are not excessive."

SENATOR WANTS COTTON RECORD HELD FOR PROBE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—(AP)—William F. Callander, chairman of the agriculture department's crop reporting board, said today records and methods employed in computing last Saturday's cotton estimate were "open to those authorized to inspect them." The board estimated a crop of 15,-584,000 bales for the 1931 harvest. Private traders, who have expressed the opinion the government's forecast was too high, made estimates about 1,500,000 bales less.

As a result of the department's unexpectedly high forecast, cotton prices dropped to the lowest levels in a score of years on practically every exchange.

Senator Connally [Dem., Texas] has wired Secretary Hyde, requesting the records be preserved "for a thorough investigation." No other such requests have been received, Callander said, but he added he expected more.

Defending the estimates, Callander pointed out that the condition of cotton on Aug. 1 was 20 per cent higher than on the same date last year. Although acreage has been reduced ten per cent, he said a substantial increase in the final harvest was indicated. The indicated crop based on Aug. 1 conditions is 8.5 per cent higher than last year.

BARGE TRAFFIC ON MISSISSIPPI TO BE GIVEN I. C. C.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Barge line traffic between St. Louis and Cairo, Ill., will be diverted to the Illinois Central railroad because of low water in the Mississippi river, under an order today by the interstate commerce commission.

The order, effective until March 15, 1932, is for diversion between St. Louis and East St. Louis and Cairo when destined to and from New Orleans.

At the interstate commerce commission it was said that authorization for the diversion of traffic to the railroad was ordinarily given between October and March, but it was extended earlier this year because of reports of low water in the river. It was explained that the authorization was not mandatory and that traffic would be diverted between the points only when necessary because of river conditions.

TIDE WATER AND SINCLAIR MERGER PLAN IS DROPPED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 11.—Merger negotiations between the Tide Water Associated Oil company and the Sinclair Consolidated Oil company have been dropped definitely, it was learned today.

Indications that the merger was about to fail were seen several days ago in reports of expansion by Tide Water in the east Texas field. The company added about 24,000 acres to its proven lands there and in addition it was reported a pipe line was about to be built to the gulf coast.

Expansion in east Texas was undertaken to assure Tide Water a continuous flow to its refineries. It is now taking 25,000 barrels a day from the field through its subsidiary, Tidal Refining company, and 13,000 more from outside connections.

Dropping out of Tide Water leaves Sinclair interests still negotiating for merger with the Rio Grande Oil company and the Prairie Gas and Refining company. Tide Water refused to consider any except a share for share basis, while the Sinclair offer is understood to have been about one for two.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 11.—An impetuous drive against an over-extended short interest brought the stock market back into the public limelight with a bang today. Ratings on standard industrials jumped up anywhere from $1 to $7 a share, while some of the specialties performed even more spectacularly. It was the first really formidable rally the market has experienced in some time, and while regarded dubiously in most quarters, was generally welcomed as a relief from the relentless downward drift that has done so much to depress popular sentiment in the last month or more.

Sales crossed the million share mark for the first time in nearly two weeks, mounting to about 1,600,000.

Reason Is Explained.

Beyond the fact that the professional bull operators who engineered it were evidently tired to death of the monotony that has kept the market at such a stalemate since the so-called Hoover moratorium boom petered out, there was no apparent reason for the sudden display of enthusiasm. Certainly no stimulant sufficient to cause it could be found in the day's run of news.

Possibly the report that the terms of the proposed plan of American bankers to maintain present short term loans in Germany had been accepted had some influence, but since bigger developments in the situation in the recent past have failed to raise a ripple there was no disposition anywhere to over emphasize today's happenings as a factor in bringing about the sudden turn for the better. Observers were pretty generally agreed, indeed, that the only real basis for the day's advance was the oversold condition within the market itself.

Cattle featured the live stock market in another rise to a new high level yesterday. Fancy 866 lb yearlings to Swift headed the price list at $9.60, highest paid for cattle since early in May. Prime 1,260 lb averages reached $9.25, and $9.00 was a common price for well finished steers and yearlings.

Less than three months ago top yearlings were selling below the $8.00 line, and few cattle exceeding 1,300 lbs in weight were eligible to more than $7.00. Competition for choice grades of light weight steers and yearlings is unusually brisk, and baby heifers are selling in line with top steers.

Cooler weather has increased the demand for meats and the reported surplus of beef on the wholesale trade is seldom heard of lately. In fact, buyers seem more anxious than usual to get carcasses on the wholesale trade as quickly as possible. Outlet is broad only for best grades of cattle. Others move slowly and butcher stock showing "grass" have to be peddled on a "catch can" trade.

Lambs Bring $8.25.

Demand for choice fat lambs continued good and prices ruled strong to 25c higher, bulk of offerings showing the advance compared with the low time early Monday. Packers paid the advance readily, indicating the decided improvement in the wholesale market for fresh lamb lately. Quality of offerings is still below normal, but fewer culls are coming.

Aggregate receipts at leading markets are comparatively large, but demand is broad and the market in recent years has been accustomed to handling record supplies. Outsiders cary urgent orders for top grades and paid $8.25 for best rangers yesterday, while city butchers went up to $8.10 for their selections, and packers bought at $8.00 and below. Most natives were sorted at $7.75. Aged sheep and yearlings shared in the strength.

Broad eastern demand for hogs failed to block a cut in quotations yesterday, although there was some action at the decline late and most traders considered the "tone" better at the extreme close. The extreme top and general average prices showed 10c loss at $7.90 and $6.25, respectively, although there were instances of as much as 15@25c loss compared with the high point of Monday's market.

December Offers At $6.10.

Medium weight hogs for next December delivery were offered as low as $6.10 on the futures market yesterday without attract a buyer. Heavy for the same month were offered as low as $6.40. Light weights for the first half of next month were offered at $6.00, while offers for the last half of Septe ber were down to $7.75. Mediums for September were offe d at $8.00, while there were sellers willing to take $7.50 for September heavy.

LARD TRADE LIMITED

Business in lard futures was confined yesterday to a few trades in September and December, with a narrow range and a close unchanged to 2½c lower, the latter on December, September bellies lost 10c, with only a trade or two. There is nothing in the market to attract particular attention. Liverpool lard was unchanged to 5d higher, the latter on October.
